BINGHAMTONIANS CAPTURE A SHARK

Whitney Tells of a Remarkable Adventure Near Windsor.

SOME HIGHLY INTELLIGENT ANIMALS

Short Stories of Remarkable Instances of Brute Instinct—A Gulf Summit Young Man Marries a Hay Widow at Klondike—Various Items of Interest, Personal and Otherwise.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Susquehanna, Aug. 10.—Some Binghamton fishermen, who are encamped at South Windsor, seven miles north of Susquehanna, on Sunday evening, while running over their set lines, saw a large, dark object, plunging its way across the river, a short distance above them. They immediately gave chase and in a few moments had surrounded it. It was a shark, and was uttering a noise resembling the growl of a seal lion. The men in the boat attacked the creature with hatchets and revolvers, and soon a lively battle was in progress. The animal fought with its fins and tail, and soon had a hole in the boat and one of the oars smashed. One of the men stood upon the seat of the boat and sank the blade of his axe into the creature's neck, and with a final spurt of water and blood, it rolled over on its side and died. It was towed ashore and local naturalists pronounced it a species of shark, very seldom found in inland waters. It measured eleven feet in length, and when cut up two good-sized turtles, one of which was still living, were found in its stomach. The turtles measured eighteen inches across. Other things of a varied nature were also found in the stomach. The jawbones will be presented to Lehigh university. The jaws have seven rows of teeth and measure twenty-two inches when extended. The campers ate some of the steak of the fish and found it coarse but toothsome.

A GOOD THING TO CHECKMATE.

At the instance of one or two interested parties a petition has been sent from New Milford asking "the powers that be" in Washington, to have the county medical pension examining board meet in that village instead of in Susquehanna. There is no good reason for such a change. The turtles measured eight inches across. Other things of a varied nature were also found in the stomach. The jawbones will be presented to Lehigh university. The jaws have seven rows of teeth and measure twenty-two inches when extended. The campers ate some of the steak of the fish and found it coarse but toothsome.

MIXED MATTERS.

A series of sixteen games for the championship will be played between the Susquehanna and Green Hill clubs, eight in each place. Each club has already won two games, but they will not count in the new series. The advance agent of prosperity has invaded pretty little Brandt. His several industries are in operation on full time. "Let the good work go on." It is reported that James Carmalt, esq., of Montrose-Scranton, is about to purchase an interest in the Susquehanna Transcript-Leader. The concert of Carl Bondale, will be entertained today by the Athletic club of Susquehanna. In Beebe park that afternoon nine from the two clubs will play a game of ball. Mrs. William G. Leslie, formerly and for many years of Susquehanna, but now of Binghamton, will deliver an address in the evening. Subject, "The United States and the Kingdom of God."

TRUTHS TOLD ON TUESDAY.

Montrose is making elaborate arrangements for the entertainment of the coming grand picnic and reunion extraordinary of the grass widows and widowers of Susquehanna county. Editor Cruser, of the Democrat, will deliver an address of welcome and then Mr. Taylor, of the Republican, will read a original poem. September 31 will be a large day for Montrose. Hallstead, tired of kerosene lamps, tallow dips and tin lanterns, sorely tired of electric lights. All things to those who want. A Gulf Summit young man three weeks ago left home for the Klondike country. Late advice are to the effect that he has arrived as far west as Kirkwood, where he has married a hay widow and settled down to the stern realities of farm life. The Smith family reunion will be held at the home of Hiram Smith, in Franklin, August 27. A tourist said

RAILROAD RACKET.

The advance agent of prosperity has registered in Susquehanna. Ten hours is the order in the Erie shops. The Erie is having an immense freight traffic. There were 1,300 loaded cars in the Port Jervis yard on Friday last.

NEWS IN SLICES.

The Lackawanna team, of Scranton, will probably play a game in Susquehanna, with the home team, in the near future. The condition of Mrs. Rev. W. R. Cochrane, of the Oakland side, is somewhat improved.

HERE AND THEREABOUTS.

Down in Great Bend an editor and a tailor attempted to stop a dog fight, each grabbing a cur and pulling in opposite directions. The tailor was lacerated by the dog. The editor escaped unscathed. Another instance of the survival of the fittest.

WYOMING.

Rev. Robert H. Reddy preached in the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday morning. The evening service was conducted by the Young People's society. Men have been engaged during the past few days measuring the streets about the town and numbering the residences.

NICHOLSON.

Paul Gardner and Mr. Heft, of Honesdale, came over to Factoryville on their wheels Saturday night. They spent the night at that place with friends. Coming to this place Sunday morning they were the guests of Ralph Williams until 3 p. m., when they started home via Clifford and Carbondale, expecting to reach home by 7 o'clock that evening.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review. New York, Aug. 10.—The price of stocks this evening was distinctly higher than last evening, the gains extending to over a point in some of the most prominent stocks. The market opened with yesterday's disposition to take profits apparently still rampant. The offerings for this purpose were very heavy and the market soon fell sharply under the large transactions. The decline was accentuated by the pressure of short sales, professional operators being convinced that a reaction of considerable proportion were impending. The Grangers were subjected to the severest pressure, but few active stocks escaped a loss of one or two points. The total sales of stocks were $3,952,500.
