West Side and City Suburban

NOTABLE IMPROVEMENTS.

They Are Now Under Way in Thi Part of the City.

Several much needed improvements in West Scranton have been completed or are nearing completion. Luzerne street, west of South Main avenue, is in first class condition. The tracks are at grade, gutters and sidewalks have been put in shape and soon flags will be laid by property owners, continuously along both sides of the street. South Main evenue at the intersection of Luzerne street and extending to Rock street has been brought to grade; new crosswalks laid; sidewalks graded and curbs are being set. West Linden street has been given particular attention at the hands of the Fourth ward councilmen, and presents as good a condition as such a narrow street with poor gutters can show.

All the side streets nearest the central portion of West Scranton are being looked after. In the Thirteenth sewer district, which lies north and west of Jackson street, a lateral sewer is nearing completion. The work is being done Contractor Vincent O'Hara, and the following streets are being used: Lonergan Place from Robinson street to Chestnut, from Jackson to a distance beyond Price, and Price from below Main to Farview. This will indeed be a blessing to the residents along the mentioned streets.

AN IDYLL IN COLORS.

During Sunday afternoon's severe storm, Willie Williams and Anna Alota, residents of Kelly's Scranton street community, got mixed up in a fracas. Yesterday afternoon a warrant was sworn out before Alderman Johns by Anna Alita, charging Nellie Williams with assault and battery and the theft of a purse containing $20. The purse Anna alleged was taken from the bosom of her dress while the Williams woman was fighting with her. During the hearing before the alderman, the interpreter, Mrs. Smith, and Nellie were on the verge of fighting. The Alota woman is a Sicilian and all her friends were present. Nellie is white, but lives with a colored man, and all her friends were there. Threats were hurled to and fro continually and a riot seemed imminent. The Williams woman was held in $500 bail, which was furnished by ex-Alderman Kelly, and thereby hangs a tale. Anna's friends brought Attorney Lewis, of Taylor, and Lewis upon the scene later and for reasons. The bail was withdrawn and Nellie was rearrested, and not being able to obtain a bondsman was committed. Meanwhile Nellie had sworn out a warrant before Alderman John P. Kelly, charging Anna Alota with assault and battery and perjury. Ball not being forthcoming in the sum of $300, Anna was committed, so both women are new in jail.

They had an enthusiastic session and will appear in full uniform. High hats, white ties and gloves and will attempt to carry off the $50 Casanovia, N. Y.

prize offered for the best marching and appearing lodge. Captain J. A. Lewis presided and after the routine business was finished some manoeuvres were gone through. They will meet again this evening in the hall and have a final drill.

PLEASANT EXCURSION.

The joint excursion conducted yesby the Plymouth and First terday Welsh Calvinistic Methodist churches was a success. It took twelve cars to carry the happy excursionists to Lake Ariel. Upon reaching the picnic grounds every one, both young and old, proceeded to enjoy themselves. No mishaps occurred, and all returned happy

WYOMING CAMP MEETING.

Interesting Services Held There During the Last Few Days.

On Wednesday evening a congregation of fully one hundred assembled in the auditorium for the first service of the season, at the Wyoming Camp ground. The Rev. J. G. Eckman, presiding elder, and Revs. J. L. Race, W. B. Westlake, Jonas Underwood, J. R. Wayner, and T. M. Furey were present on the preachers' stand.

Rev. W. B. Westlake preached, taking for his text the inspiring and ever helpful words found in Acts i: 8, "Ye shall receive power, etc." The sermor was exceedingly appropriate, and judging from the many references made to it by those who heard it, it was a source of strength and encouragement Special emphasis was brought to bear on the fact that the power promised is to be appropriated by all who de-sire to be witnesses for Christ. At the close of the sermon Rev. J. L. Race spoke, and the service ended.

Thursday morning at 9.30 a love feast was held, preparatory to the work of the day. At 10.30 Rev. F. M. Furey preached, his theme being "The Blessngs of Christian Fellowship," text, Numbers x: 29. "Moses, whilst leaning on God, did not ignore human aid prosecuting the work in which he was engaged, neither should we." The sermon was practical and timely, and was well sustained and amplified by Rev. J. R. Wagner, who followed it with an earnest exhortation. At 2.30 p. m. Mr. Manley S. Hard preached from II Peter 1: 8. Clearly and with apt illustrations he sought to show that certain elements must enter every life if success is to be attained. A profitable altar service concluded the afternoon meeting.

A sharp shower interferred somewhat with the evening meeting, but a fair audience listened to Rev. L. B. Weeks, of Sayre, N. Y., who preached from Revelations xxi: 24. Friday morning and a cloudless sky with at least six teen ministers in attendance, and nearly all the cottages occupied, gives promise of increasing interest.

MACK TAKES AN APPEAL.

He Says the Borough of Winton I His Debtor.

Thomas Mack, the treasurer of Winton borough, yesterday took an appeal from the report of the auditors of that borough which was filed with the clerk of the courts on July 30. The report was signed by two of the auditors, Michael Jennings and B. J. McGurl, and set forth that Mr. Mack was indebted to the borough in the sum of $8,224.10. In his appeal the treasurer sets forth that the auditors never examined his accounts, although repeatedly asked to do so, and that instead of he being indebted to the borough in the sum of $8,224.10, the borough is in his debt to the extent of over $100.

The appeal was filed for Mr. Mack by Attorneys O'Brien & Kelly. Accompanying it was a bond in the sum of $200 with John J. Sweeney and M. J. Barrett as sureties.
