WORK OF THE MINERS. Scranton began to hit the ball in the third inning. With one man'out Maguire made a long three-base hit to center, Johnson, who followed him at the bat, reached first on four balls, and then Walters took a look at Keenan's curves and picked out one which he drove into the same territory as Maguire, Two hits with a total of four netted one run, and an earned one, too. The score was now tie and remained so until the ninth, when the Scranton boys gave an exhibition of what they can do when necessary, and when cheered on by the lusty voices of the faithful rooters on the bleachers. Barry was the first man up and hit a short fly to center, midway between

Shannon and Betts, the latter tried for it but over ran it after making a desperate reach for it, Barry was giving all this time an exhibition of hit the ball and run that would make the Baltimore's envious. He stopped at second long enough to allow Atherton to make a wild throw of Bonner's grounder and then sprinted home, but Massey's single would have earned the run.

Korwan the Hero of Springfield. Springfield, Mass., Aug. 19.-Korwan was all kinds of a hero today. He struck out eight visiters and would have shut them out but for Bannon's error, which tied the score in the ninth. In the last half of the ninth with the bases full, and two out, Korwan lined out the hit that won the game. Score:

The Police Believe They Were Plotting to Assassinate the Czar. London, Aug. 19 .- The panic caused by the recent doings of the Anarchists as spread to St. Petersburg. The correspondent in that city of the Daily Mail says that a score of Polish students at the university there were surprised by the police while they were discussing politics in a private house. The young men were all arrested and hurried to Siberia. A number of documents were seized, from which the police inferred that the students were engaged in a plot to assassinate the CZAF.

It was this plan of battle, up to the Time: 2:2014; 2:2114; 2:2014. eleventh round, which kept Dobbs fresh while his opponent was wasting steam, although McWinters' work did not fag him to the extent expected. In the twelfth round Dobbs began to work, and finished the round with several lefts on the face. He later continued his rushing, and in the constant clinches revealed his knowledge of how to worry and weaken his opponent. Time and again he was caustopped the racing. Summary: tioned by Referee Murphy about his elbow, head and knee. There was not a mark on either man .until the sev-

McWinters occupied more than half the alloted time to rise, after feeling Dobbs' right in the eighteenth. Clinches saved him from going out. He con-Directly tinued to clinch during the nineteenth and ducked himself out of the path of everal swings that might have ended the bout. In the twentieth round Mc-Winters was sent to his knees four times, but always on in-fighting and D. H. C. within reach of Dobbs' legs. When the last gong sounded the New Yorker Flirt was all but out.

LOCAL BICYCLE CHAT.

Some one of the local racing men wrote Chairman Mott, of the League of Amer-icna Wheelmen racing board, questioning the amateur status of Robert V White, the local racing crack. As is the usual result of such cases "Boby" re-ceived one of Mr. Mott's "love letters," suspending him, pending investigation, and incidentally inclosing some thous-and and one questions to be answered by the fair-haired boy. The affair doesn't worry White at all, inasmuch as he can prove his amateur standing. The com-lated was avidently made by some be-Take Bellevue car. Answer in the Tribplaint was evidently made by some jeal daint was competitor. . . .

If the local racing men would do less "knocking" at one another, it would be setter for all concerned. The general game of "roast" now being played by many of them is not only discreditable to themselves, but to the sport as well. Less talk and more speed would become them better hem better. . . .

Charles Coleman, the star member of the Electric City Wheelmen's racing team, is taking a week's rest. "Chick" has been doing much hard work of late and thinks a lay-off will greatly benefit him.
