VALUABLE LAW COMBINATION.

It Wipes Out a Questionable Resort on West Linden Street.

A radical reform in an indirect way was the result of a combination of a landlord's warrant, constable's sale and a capable constable.

The dwelling house at 908 West Linden street is owned by T. J. Luce and occupied by Mrs. Bundy. The rent having become long overdue a landlord's warrant was issued by Alderman Johns and yesterday afternoon Constable Timothy E. Jones completed the issue by holding a constable's sale. proceedings were ordinary enough in themselves, but the results were of considerable consequence. For some time past the residents in that vicinity have been commenting upon the character and doings of the occupants of the house. Boisterous conduct, loud noises and other deteriorating influences were apparent. At last three women became residents of the place and many visitors were noticed. A feeling of relief now pervades the community and a great benefit has been conferred.

West Scranton was well represented in Thursday evening's parade of the total abstainers. St. Leo's battalion and Hyde Park Father Mathew soclety were headed by Lawrence's band, St. Paul's Pioneer corps and the cadets followed, and were lead by the drum corps. There were about 700 men in line, and their uniforms and good marching-order excited much favorable comment. St. Leo's won, to their glory. the beautiful banner presented to the society, having secured the largest of new members during the past year. Last evening St. Leo's hall was thrown open and the above societies entertained a large number of the out-of-town delegates, an account of which appears elsewhere in this

Prof. Vernon Hughes, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was tendered an informal reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkin T. Reese, of North Hyde Park avenue. The evening was delightfully spent. Edward James sang a bass solo with good effect. Prof. John Jones sang, as also did Harry Wrigley. Miss Norma Jones recited. Prof. Hughes rendered some engaging selections. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Reese was assisted in receiving by Misses Mary and Martha Jones, and the guests were: Frank Hagen, Bert Meyers, John Phillips, Henry Hance, Mr. Walker, William Long, Edward James, Harry Wrigley, Professor William Jones, Prof. Vernon Hughes, Alfred Twining, John J. F. York

TO CALL A PASTOR.

A committee has been selected to arrange for the filling of the First Welsh Baptist church pulpit. The committee will correspond with the leading divines of Wales and after choosing one from the list of eligible ministers, will request the one chosen to preach a series of sermons here. It is probable that such a course will be carried from a visit at Corning, N. Y., yes out immediately, as the church is very much in need of a pastor. The gentle-

The loctor, together with some friends vere spending a few days at Lake Inderwood, Wednesday afternoon he and a friend were out rowing several times. About 4 o'clock the doctor retired from the company and at about was found dead. For thirty years he had practiced medicine in the Lackawanna valley. He assisted in organ-izing the Lackawanna County Medical society, of which he was an honored member. During his long professional life he continued at his labors without rest or vacation. Some times when there was much sickness he would travel for days up and down the valley without rest or sleep, except the little he could snatch in going from one patient to another in his buggy. The strain upon his nervous system and the overwork underminded his vigorous constitution, and in October, 1895, he was taken ill, and since then has lived in retirement, his

The doctor learned the blacksmith ing trade when a young man, but having a great desire to attain a higher mark he entered Wyoming seminary. After graduating from that institution he taught school for three years. He then followed surveying in northern Iowa for seven years. In 1859 he began the study of medicine in the office of Dr. French, of Hyde Park. In 1861 he entered the medical department of the university of the city of New York, graduating from that university two years later. Shortly af-ter this the doctor was commissioned by Governor Curtin as assistant surgeon of the One Hundred and Thirteenth Pennsylvania infantry. After
