FUNERALS OF ONE DAY.

Three of Them Took Place Yesterday Afternoon.

remains of the late William Jenkins were borne to the Washburn street cemetery yesterday afternoon and laid at rest. Service had been held at the Tabernacle, Congregational church, and Rev. D. P. Jones, pastor of the church, preached the funeral sermon. The young man's death was surrounded by sad incidents. He died far from home, while visiting an aunt, Mrs. Daniel M. Jones, of 146 South Garfield avenue, in search of health. Though here but a short time he had made many friends and a large number attended the funeral out of respect and as a last sad tribute. The floral offerings were very beautiful.

SURPRISE PARTY.

The many, friends of Miss Viola Exans, of Twelfth street, gathered at her home Friday evening to assist in observing an anniversary of her birthday. The invitations had been sent out by the parents of Miss Evans and was a surprise to her. The evening was replete with pleasing and entertaining incidents, and during the festivities Miss Evans was presented with a beautiful gold watch, the gift of her parents. Refreshments were served. The guests were: Miss Mattie Davis, Budella Evans, Mary Daniels, Sarah Davis, Given Davis, Margaret Davis, Thee Samuel, Sarah Morgan, Norma Meredith, Cora Davis, Clara Jones, Anna Morgan, Martha Thomas, Alice Thomas, Edith Lloyd, Norma Andrews, Maggle James and the Walter Stallsmith, George Daniels, John Davis, J. EARLY MORNING FIRE.

At 2.23 o'clock Saturday morning an alarm of fire was sent in from box No. 323, corner of Fifteenth and Luzerne streets and was responded to by the Columbias and Franklins. The fire was located in a double frame dwelling house at the corner of Thirteenth street and Sadie place. It is owned by Alfred Becker, of Becker Brothers' cigar manufacturers, and was occupied by himself and Charles Reed and their families. Mr. Becker's family is away visiting and Mr. Becker had built a fire in the kitchen range to prepare himself some supper. This was the only fire in the house. Later he retired and had fallen asleep when

him. He does not know how long he had slept, but his escape by the stairs was cut off. Mr. Becker made his exit by way of the front porch roof and arousing Mr. Reede and family, all succeeding in escaping. Mr. Reed's side of the house is slightly damaged by water and smoke, but the other side, where the fire originated, is gutted. Becker carries $2,000 on the house and $700 on his furniture which does not cover his loss. When seen by a Tribune reporter, Mr. Becker was very reticent about assigning a cause, but t was rumored that It was of incendiary origin and that some person with whom Mr. Becker had trouble threatened vengeance. The fact that the family was away and that Mr Becker had expected to be away himself, seems to lend color to the rumor.

Little Disna Hilton, of Wayne avenue, had a miraculous escape from a horrible death yesterday afternoon. She was on her way to church along with her mother and father. When they reached Henwood's drug store on North Main avenue Mr. Hilton attempted to light a cigar. He struck the match, the top flying off and resting in the little girl's dress. Immeliately she was enveloped in flames, and her mother with great presence of mind wrapped a cloak about the child thus smothering the blaze. The child's side was burned slightly and her hair corched. She is also suffering severely from the shock. The burglar craze seems to be prevalent in this end at present. Early yesterday morning they attempted to effect an entrance in a house on West Market street, Their plans were only frustrated by the resence of neighbors, who were attractd to the place by the lusty cries of a woman. THE COLONEL CONGRATULATES.

He Tells His Boys in Blue How Proud He is of Them.

Col. Coursen has issued the following order, or rather congratulatory letter, to the men of his incomparable command:

Headquarters Thirteenth Regiment In fantry: Regimental Order No. 33:

It is with the greatest of satisfaction the colonel congratulates the rank and file of the Thirteenth on the success atthe of the Infreenth on the success attending our annual encampment for 1897.

Never before has the regiment received more praise, and deservedly so, for the signal victories won in drill, target practice. signal victories won in drill, target prac-tice, inspection—in fact all the duties they were called upon to perform. With but few exceptions, every member of the regiment was faithful in the perform-ance of the duties assigned them, which in no small degree helped to secure not only the success, but the good reputa-tion of the command, thus showing that when each member, whether a private when each member, whether a private, non-commissioned or commissioned of-ficer, realizes his responsibility to his company and regiment and faithfully performs the duties assigned to him, the high standing of the regiment is assured. The many friends of the Thirteenth are as much pleased as ourselves and expect a continuance of our good work. To that end great care in enlistments should be aken. Loafers and drinking men hav no place in the Thirteenth regiment, and will not be allowed there a day longer than their habits are made known. We must not forget that there is much yet to learn, and only by constant duty and application to details can we exp maintain our present proud position. By

Colonel Henry A. Coursen. L. T. Mattes, adjutant

The colonel refrains from saying anything regarding the befitting armory which the first regiment of the state should possess. This will probably receive attention in a future edict.
