HOPEFUL FEELING CONTINUES.

Anthracite Trade Is Quiet but Firm Western Demand Retter.

Philadelphia, Aug. 36.—The anthracite coal trade is quiet and does not show much change from the condition heretofore reported. There is a little stirup among the dealers in this city, some of whom are said to be placing orders for September delivery, as the expectation is that before very long consumers will be preparing to buy winter supplies. All interests in the trade are now hoping for colder weather and the usual break-up of the summer vacation season, so that householders may come back from the watering places and think of filling up their coal bins. The fact that there was over-mining in July, when nearly 4,000,000 tons was sent to market by all the companies and July, 1896, exceeded by 225,000 tons, and that this output was demonstrated be in excess of actual demand, is having a somewhat adverse influence this month. It is not yet known whether an increase in prices will be ordered in September, the position of the managers of the companies on that subject not being developed.

The hopeful feeling in the wade continues and operators are anticipating a brisk demand as autumn advances, particularly, as so many industrial es-tablishments heretofore idle are resuming work. A somewhat better demand for anthracite is reported at Buffalo and Chicago and prices there are unchanged but firm. It is noted, however, both East and West, that there is a less demand for chestnut than for the larger domestic sizes. A fear is also expressed in some localities, and notably in the West, that the excessive use of cars to move the crops may serious. ly interfere with the transportation of coal when business gets brisker as winter approaches. This feeling is already prompting some dealers to or-

WYOMING COUNTERFEITERS.

The Circumstances That Led to the Arrest of Baker and the Buttons. Special to The Scranton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, Aug. 30.-A well or ganized band of counterfeiters have been at work near Springville, Susquehanna county, for some time. James Baker owns a sawmill near the highway between Springville and West holson and it was here that he, in gany with Elias Button and several rs, turned out the shining half doles which have brought them to grief. Thursday, Aug. 19, was Grangers' day at Lake Carcy and Baker, with two of the Buttons, came down. They had plenty of the money with them and used it freely. Eugene Martin, proprietor of the Fern Cliff hotel, caught them in the act of passing the counterfelt money and several others about the lake had the same money passed on them. One of the pieces found its way into the Wyoming National bank and Cashler John B. Fassett wrote to Washington, stating the case, and said that he thought the parties could be located. A secret service agent was sent on, but the gang had been captured before his arrival.

Wesley Stark and James Doyle are doing business at West Nicholson and through them the gang was ferreted out and taken to the Scranton jail. It is said that a complete kit of tools was found at their mint. Baker was the leader of the gang and is credited with having been connected with such work before. The money was a little short in weight, had a greasy feeling and had
