The choicest textile products of two continents await your inspection every day this week in our great Dress Goods Departments, and, as usual, you are heartily welcome to come and look over the most important that occurs in this state, Philadelphia excepted. Your presence on such an occasion does not signify your intention of buying. This is mutually understood, therefore ladies need have no hesitation whatever in coming in to see what they will undoubtedly wear later in the season

Im stred Fashions, as illustrated in the new weaves to hand are remarkable chiefly for the admirable manner in which high art, good taste and common sense thrift are combined. With one or two exceptions there is not a new weave that does not possess all the essentials of this peculiar and we might add happy triple alliance. The exceptions to this rule are found in what may be described as odd facis, their claims for attention resting chiefly on their extreme originality.

The Leading New Weaves

from abroad are two tone whip cords; changeable coverts in faint, dark mixtures; undressed twist tweeds and worsteds; velour, whip cord and twill briges; moscoviette cloth (an entirely new fabric, with moliskin finished back, fine twill face and storm proof); clay worsteds; solid shade granite cloths, etc. Also extreme novelties in Moire Broche and Velour effects; Metallic Ripps, Jacquard Ripps,

Popular Priced Importations

include Block, Fancy and Boucle Checks; Satarra Clothes, Scroll Weaves, Random tri-color Tweed Weaves, etc., etc.

The Domestic Productions

continue to show a marked improvement in both style and finish, and point clearly to the not far-distant time when imported novelties will be a thing of the past.

Knotted Weaves, new Pine Stripe and Brocade Creations, Crochet Weaves in many ways, Raw Silk Random Chevrons are the most notable things, while, of course, we've all the staples in Serges, Henriettas, Cashmeres, etc., etc.

Checks and Plaid Materials

are as popular as ever in their own special lines, and the new Basket Weaves, Repps, Twills, etc., bring them out to much advantage. It is impossible to say much about the immensity of this display in the limited space at our command, but when you look it over, you'll readily admit that it is the most complete exposition of the textile art that has ever taken place in this
