

CUT 'EM DEEP

The knife of reduction has been thrust to the hilt in the heart of prices. Such shoe selling is only made possible by price littleness. All the summer shoes and us must part company before fall. You need another pair to last the season out. We need shelf room for fall goods. These conditions make it easy to suit you.

SCHANK & SPENCER, 410 SPRUCE STREET.

WILLIAMS

Linen Slip Covers made for parlor furniture.

AND

Visit our Drapery Department, the largest and most complete in this part of the state.

McANULTY.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

In pursuance of a resolution of the Republican County Committee adopted at a regular meeting held on Saturday, August 21, 1937, the county convention will be held on Tuesday, the 7th day of September, A. D. 1937, at 10 a. m. in the Court House, Scranton, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices to be voted for at the next general election, on Tuesday, November 2, 1937, to wit: One candidate for Sheriff. One candidate for Prothonotary. One candidate for Treasurer. One candidate for Clerk of the Courts. One candidate for District Attorney. One candidate for Recorder of Deeds. One candidate for Register of Wills. One candidate for Jury Commissioner. JOHN H. THOMAS, Chairman. Attest: J. E. WATKINS, Secretary.

CITY NOTES.

There will be a meeting of managers of Florence mission today at 10 a. m. No meeting of the city masters' union was held yesterday owing to the failure to muster a quorum. A large attendance is desired at the Central Women's Christian Temperance union meeting this afternoon at 8 o'clock. Edward Roche, a 30-year-old lad living in Green's lane had his head and face badly cut by being run down by a wagon on Capous avenue yesterday morning. Frank Wagner yesterday caused the arrest of S. W. Carter, charging him with assault and battery and Alderman Wright for carrying under $300 bill to appear at court. The wife of John McAuskie, of the South Side, caused his arrest yesterday on a charge of desertion. In default of $300 M. Alderman Miller sent McAuskie to the city jail. At the recent meeting of the Catholic unit benefit association in Erie, T. P. Shan and T. J. Jennings were chosen representatives to the meeting of the unit body. Neither the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western nor Delaware and Hudson companies made any payments yesterday. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western will pay today at Storrs' mine. The funeral of the late James Harrison, of Gibson street, will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter's cathedral. Interment will be made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery. William O'Neill, of Piceburg, has brought suit against the city of Scranton, Lieutenant of Police John H. Davis and Detective John W. Moir to recover $300 for alleged false arrest and imprisonment on August 10 last. He is represented by Attorneys I. H. Burns and E. C. Newcomb. Opens Tomorrow. The Scranton Conservatory of Music opens in all departments of Music, Art and Languages tomorrow. Visitors and students are invited to inspect the splendid rooms of the institution, Adams avenue and Linden street, today. The director, J. Alfred Pennington, may be consulted at any time during the day. Sleeping car for New York, via Lehigh Valley railroad, may be occupied at Wilkes-Barre after 9:00 p. m. Arrives New York 8:23 a. m. Tickets at 309 Lackawanna avenue.

F

You want to see a fine display of fruit, you first want to go to THE SCRANTON CASH STORE. Fancy peaches, lovely plums, luscious cantelopes, big water melons, rosy apples, beautiful crab apples. But the best thing for you to do is to stop there, see the display and get prices.

INSTITUTE OF THE COUNTY TEACHERS

First Sessions of It Held Yesterday in the Court House.

THE INSTRUCTORS ENROLLED.

Officers and Committees That Are in Charge of the Institute—Dr. J. C. Bateson Read a Paper on "The Human Temperaments and Their Application to Teaching."—Dr. Benedict on the "Formation of Habits in Education."

The County Teachers' institute opened yesterday, and odd indeed did it seem to attend an institute in the excessive heat of summer. Institutes, sleighing, cutting ice and theatre-going seem to belong naturally to winter.

The court house was a lively place all the forenoon where enrollment of teachers took place. The Carbondale contingent was absent for the first time and no doubt feel blue indeed to think that they are not among their county colleagues, despite the highly dignified status of having an institute of their own. They have a right to a separate affair just as have the teachers of this city, but the other county teachers assert that the Carbondalians will scarcely have as good a time as in the years gone by. That there are a few left at the county institute is shown by the following:

ENROLLMENT OF TEACHERS.

Archibald—W. A. Kelly, Mary A. Muller, James H. White, Mary A. Murphy, Mary Duffy, Sarah O'Connor, Katie Walsh, Katie Quinnan, Lizzie White, Alice Sweeney, Eliza Holmes, Marie E. Moran, Mary Corcoran, Michael F. O'Boyle, Mary A. Kieley, Katie Coyne, Elizabeth Kelly, Elizabeth A. Burke, Mary B. O'Boyle, Martha Stern. Benton—Simon B. Wago, Esther Van Fleet, Giles J. Miller, Fred W. Norton, Mary L. Zeiss, Floyd Colvin, Mrs. Miller, Ethel Carry, Cora A. Smith. Blakely—Carrie M. Kenyon, Nellie L. Peck, Mary C. Carter, Mrs. Williams, Mary N. Scott, Bertha G. Williams, Gwen Williams, Effie Curtis, Anna Gummel, Lillian Hicks, Jennie Benjamin, Miss Murphy, Katie E. Dodson, Grace Windell. Carbondale township—Mary C. Barrett, Margaret Higgins, Nellie R. Gordon, Sylvia Joyce, Helen White. Clifton—Mary Schinnerling. Covington—Nora J. Finch, S. Harris, S. McAndrew, Bessie Stern, Bessie Carter, Alice Tompfield, Lizzie Winship. Dalton—F. L. Thompson, Mabel Purdy, Ila Jennings, Lena Northrup. Dickson—M. E. Ryan, J. J. Richards, Mary Murphy, Cora Griffin, Clara Grier, Olive Murphy, Julia Langan, Lily Palmer, Julia Dolphin, Lizzie Smalle, Elmhurst—Bertha G. Wall, Estella M. Yost. Fell township—J. E. Brennan, Agnes Farrell, Maria Casey, Bridget Gethius, John E. Roche, Annie Toolan, E. A. DeLaney, Agnes Brennan, John J. Judge, Lizzie Sheehan, Minnie Gernon, Lizzie White, Maggie McDonald, Emma McLoughlin, Mary Lally. Glenburn—Clara Motte. Greenwood—M. Alice Foster, Della Snyder, Oscar Becker, Bertha Holzgates, Anna Crooks. Jefferson—Dustie Bell, Katie Neville, Laura D. Williams, Harvey Emery, May Swartz. Jermy—W. L. Rogers, Angela Birs, Ella Mulholland, Grace Vall, Belle Suchsman, Elizabeth Rymer, Margie Jones, May E. Shields, Maggie Mulhern, Eliza B. Osborne, Emma Roberts, Katie F. Mullen. Lackawanna township—Thomas P. Joyce, Celia Nallin, Mary Gibbons, Mary Langan, James Powell, Mary Eagen, Thomas A. Coyne, Jennie Loughney, Anna Fitzhenry, T. Osborne, Mrs. George Ellis, Mary A. Connolly, Lizzie A. McMurtrie, Hannah Thomas, John H. Dwyer, May Reinhardt, Katie Burke, Joseph Mulderig, Kate Jeffers, Sarah Stokes, Nettie Weir, Jennie Dick, Mary Coyne. LaPlume—Belle Hibbs. Lehigh—E. S. Briggs, Grace Gardner. Madison—R. H. Martin, Jessie Kern, Belle Hiel, Nettie Vall, Viola Gonzales, Elizabeth Miller, Lulu Dersheimer, Eva Meredith. Mayfield—W. M. Taggart, Francis S. McCarty, Louise M. Walsh, May S. Hatley, M. O'Boyle, James J. Cuff. Newton—Lizzie Reinhardt, Eliza Ford, F. A. Whitlock, Cora Dersheimer, Mary DeLaney, William W. Smith, Nellie Harding, Lily Carpenter. North Abington—Junia Wall, Sallie Tees, Carrie J. Lloyd, S. J. Dickinson. Old Forge—Hon. F. R. Coyne, Kate Clark, Gertrude Simmons, Bertha Reese, Mary Quinn, Mary Connolly, Maggie Cosgrove, Elizabeth Froehnd, Elizabeth Dawson, Kate Cluman, Ella Heuser, William H. Gordon, Gertrude Reese, Ella Drake, Mary Broadhead. Olyphant—M. W. Cummings, Mary J. McHale, Mary A. McGinty, Katie Donnelly, Kate Nealon, Nellie Martin, Edith Evans, Hannah Henry, Nellie H. McAndrew, Kate Murphy, Mary Nealon, Kate Murray, Maggie Evans, Sarah Ruddy, Nellie Murphy, Katie Walsh, Evelyn Vessey, Mary F. Rogan, Ransom—Dora Huthmaker, D. A. Forsythe, P. J. Michaels, Frank Hildebrand, Josephine Boice. Spring Brook—Ida Cobb, Cassie McDade, Sarah McAndrew. South Abington—F. H. Green, Mary A. Cahill, Imogene Akery, A. Minnie Bartree, John Rundle, Lenora Borree, Frances Northrup. Spring Brook—Elizabeth James, Lenora Fickel. Scott—Emma Cure, Joanna Cure, Anna Cure, Edith Masters, Esther Lee, Alice A. Plummer, Eva Greene, Lacy E. Williams, Adeline Stanton, Gertrude Freeman, Reuben E. Lowrie. Taylor—James F. Foley, Edith Van Buskirk, Hattie McKenzie, Edith Atherton, Sarah Price, Jennie Nichols, Polly Davies, Libbie Jones, Janet Inglis, Lizzie Daniels, Samuel J. Phillips, Bessie James, Maggie Whitford, Edith Watkins, Mary Van Buskirk. Throop—John J. O'Hara, Mary J. McCormac, Nettie Birley, Mary Hanahan, Bridget Hanahan, Bridget O'Hara, John Mahony. Waverly—Fred C. Hansen, Flora Finkham, Fannie D. Reish, Mrs. Stella Clum, West Abington—Harriet E. Taylor, Edith A. Stone. Winton—Bridget A. Donnelly, John A. McGee, Ella L. Donnelly, Agnes Lawler, Mary E. McAndrew, Mary Flynn, Annie Lawler, Bridget T. Kelly, Ella Ruano, Ella McGurl, Alice Walsh. Dunsmuir—J. D. Boyars, superintendent; T. E. Boland, Charles Netemeyer, M. Murray, P. Pousier, the Misses M. Walsh, M. Moore, M. McDonnell, E. Flannely, M. Hastings, M. Golden, Black, L. Sweeney, Mrs. B. T. Lavelle, E. Swift, M. Rierdon, K. Morgan, N. O'Hara, W. Ward, M. Lennon, J. Rundle, E. Noone, M. Cawley, M. Duggan, L. Gallagher, A. Bishop, M. Murphy, B. Glnky, K. Sweeney, E. Scott, M. Hiale, K. Finney, M. Molane, M. Milligan, B. J. Walsh, M. Early, E. Farrell.

Committee on Resolutions—T. G. Osborne, Carbondale township; Mary C. Barrett, Carbondale township; Clara Motte, Glen-burn; Emma Cure, Scott; Nora J. Finch, Covington; Katie Murphy, Olyphant; Mary Lennon, Olyphant. Committee on Professional Reading—M. W. Cummings, Olyphant; Ella M. O'Boyle, O. J. Forger, S. B. Wago, Benton; F. H. Green, South Abington; Amelia Foster, Greenwood; Elizabeth Froehnd, Spring Brook; treasurer, J. C. Taylor. Auditors—Frank Hildebrand, Ransom; Giles J. Miller, Benton.

County Superintendent Taylor opened the institute at 1:30 p. m. in the main court room. He stated in the beginning that there must be economy of time if the benefit of the instructions were to be gained and emphasized the necessity of punctuality and quiet. He recommended the programme, and happily expressed his hopes for the success of the week.

Professor Cogswell then made brief remarks and conducted singing with Miss Kenyon at the piano. Miss Anna Buckbee then took up the history of the institute which was presented in an interesting way.

Dr. J. C. Bateson gave an able paper on "The Human Temperaments and Their Application to Teaching." In beginning he spoke of the mystery of life and remarked upon the fact that how a man becomes living is yet to be solved scientifically. The mingling and combination of the physical elements is designated by the word temperament, which from the Latin signifies a mixture, arrangement of qualities or constituents.

WHAT MAN IS. We have learned that man is composed of bones, muscles, arterial and venous, blood, nerves, secretory, and excretory organs, nerve of sensation and motion, a brain to regulate and control every function. By the temperaments are understood the states of the body and mind with respect to the predominance of different qualities. It is essential that the teacher should have a knowledge of the temperaments as well as of anatomy or physiology. He then repeated the Fowler classification of vital or nutritive—and the mental, with their several distinct types of physique accompanying these.

The character of the motive organization shows love of action, muscular work, exercise, physical rest, capacity for severe and prolonged exertion of both mind and body. When the motive temperament is lacking—the small stock of energy should not be exhausted by over exertion. When the vital is largely lacking, the teacher will be fondness for fresh air and the luxuries of life a preference for play, a tendency to impulsiveness, enthusiasm and versatility. A tendency to fall into habits of intemperance, nervousness, and labor should be employed. When this element is deficient there is need of much rest and sleep. When the mental predominates there is refinement with quick and delicate perceptions.

The teacher should be able to recognize these temperaments and know how to handle the subjects. The parents should begin first, however, to teach the child to discriminate between right and wrong, lying and truthfulness, honesty and dishonesty, drunkenness and temperance, indolence and industry. When the teacher takes the child in hand to train mentally and physically with aid of a proper knowledge of the temperaments, the work of education will go on to successful completion.

FORMATION OF HABITS. Dr. Benedict, of State college, formerly of Edinboro Normal school, spoke on "The Formation of Habits in Education." His address was practical and interesting. In speaking of habit he said: "While we may not be able to define habit we know what it is. Habit has been called 'The Enormous Flywheel of Society.' It causes us to make the best of a purpose which we may not be adapted in mind and purpose; it makes us what we are and what we accomplish. "A mental habit depends upon a physical habit and a moral habit depends upon a physical habit. There can be no mental action without a corresponding physical action. That which is the foundation of habit depends upon the body—upon the nervous system. A high degree of nervous system shows a high order of intelligence. A good speaker then proceeded to give a detailed description of the nervous system and declared that no mortal can be educated unless the nerve centers receive their training in youth and in the presence of the present.

After making the announcement that today's institute will be held in Young Men's Christian association hall Superintendent Taylor announced the adjournment of the session. The programme for today is: Music.....Prof. Cogswell Main room—Section II. Reading.....Miss Buckbee Section I. How to Secure the Support of Patrons, Prof. F. C. Hansen and Miss C. A. Kenyon. Inspiration of the Teacher, Miss Nellie Peck Parlor—Section I. Penmanship.....Supt. Twitmyer Section II. Penmanship.....Supt. Twitmyer Main Room. Medicine for the Mind.....Prof. Green Music.....Prof. Cogswell The Formation of Habits in Education.....Dr. Benedict Drill and Development.....Miss Buckbee How to Study an Author's Life.....Prof. Green

Officers and Committees. The officers and committees are as follows: Executive Officers—J. C. Taylor, county superintendent of schools; E. D. Howard, superintendent of Duquesne schools; secretary, Joseph E. Brennan, fell; assistant secretary, Katie T. Mullen, Jermy. Committee on Enrollment—F. L. Thompson, Dalton; Charles A. Burke, Archibald; Frank A. Whitlock, Newton; F. S. McCarty, Mayfield; E. A. Delany, Fell; S. J. Phillips, Taylor; F. E. Colvin, North Abington. Committee on Resolutions—T. G. Osborne, Carbondale township; Mary C. Barrett, Carbondale township; Clara Motte, Glenturned, a half hour later, a crowd which blocked the street for fifty yards had assembled, all striving to get a glimpse at the dead man on the sidewalk. Dr. A. Kolb had telephoned for the Lackawanna hospital ambulance to take care of Russa, the injured man. The poor fellow for a quarter of an hour had been circulating in the crowd showing the wound in the abdomen. When the hall had entered, he finally sought his bed telling his friends that he was going to die. The ambulance arrived at 7:30 and Russa was taken to the hospital.

TRAGEDY ON SOUTH SIDE

(Concluded from Page 1.)

The patrol wagon from the central city also arrived with Patrolmen Neuls, Perry and George Jones. These with Lieutenant Zang and his men, Haggerty, Quinnan, Boland and Sartor, attempted to control the crowd and when Constable Woelkers arrived with Abbate the handful of police had work of the talk kind.

TALK OF LYNCHING. Woelkers and the prisoner were in the buggy. The mistake was made when the constable in his triumphant spirit, drove close to the edge of the crowd and cried out "Here he is!" In an instant the crowd was the center of a surging, clamoring mob. "Lynch him! Lynch him," they cried, and the hind wheels of the carriage were lifted and the vehicle tossed and struck over the heads of the crowd and spilled out on the road. Before the crowd could secure Abbate Patrolman Charles Perry, who was the nearest of the officers, drew his club and struck one man who held the horse's head. The policeman jumped into the buggy, Woelkers dragging the prisoner with him.

Patrolman Perry yelled for the crowd to disperse and catching the reins in one hand, the whip in the other, he slashed the horse into a gallop. The crowd grew back and Cedar avenue was gained. The rest of the drive to the central police station was untroubled.

For several hours after this incident the crowd hung about the place. Coroner Longstreet arrived and empaneled as jurors on the Raimondi case, Charles Wirth, Gus Rempe, Ed. Coyle, Henry Walters, Jr., Gus Schmidt and Lieutenant Peter Zang. They will meet tomorrow night at Coroner Longstreet's office to take testimony. The body of Raimondi was removed to Undertaker Storrs' morgue on Cedar avenue.

Joseph Abbate and Sebastian Sparaco, the two other members of the party, were arrested and taken to the police station. They will be held as witnesses. Patrolman Gecheide found Joseph Abbate at his house in Schimpff's court, Spruce street, arrested by Special Officer Frank J. Egli on Ninth street, where he had fled after the shooting. He was identified from a photograph which Egli secured from his friends.

CAPTURE OF ABBATE. The capture of Abbate, the murderer, was exciting. When Constable Woelkers, after crossing the river by way of Schimpff's court, reached Goldson's hotel, on Luzerne street, he saw a crowd of people chasing Abbate, whose wet clothing caused suspicion. The man was running for dear life. Woelkers followed with his buggy. When near the Linden street bridge, reached Goldson's street, Abbate turned from the street and entered a yard, intending to escape by way of the rear.

As he got inside the gate the constable drove up, jumped from his carriage and followed the man. Abbate was cornered in the rear lot. Woelkers shouted "don't shoot him!" looking over Abbate's head. The time-flavored ruse worked to perfection. Abbate turned around his hand, seeking the pocket where the revolver was, and as he did so Woelkers and two young men, Rogan and Conway, pounced upon him and secured the weapon. The four then got into the carriage and rode to the South Side, where the reception was given as noted.

At the police station last night Patrolman Sartor learned from the prisoners the cause of the shooting. Abbate said that Raimondi made a motion as if to draw a revolver from his breast pocket. Then he shot him. Abbate when interviewed by a Tribune reporter made the same statement. "Did you shoot the man?" "Yes, I shot him; he going to shoot me," was the man's reply.

NO REVOLVER FOUND. No revolver was found upon Raimondi's person when the body was searched by Coroner Longstreet. Nothing else was found except a piece of manila paper. Abbate seemed cool and unconcerned last night. He frequently inquired after the condition of the men. He did not know that Raimondi was dead. The revolver which is in the possession of the police is a

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

TRAGEDY ON SOUTH SIDE

(Concluded from Page 1.)

turned, a half hour later, a crowd which blocked the street for fifty yards had assembled, all striving to get a glimpse at the dead man on the sidewalk. Dr. A. Kolb had telephoned for the Lackawanna hospital ambulance to take care of Russa, the injured man. The poor fellow for a quarter of an hour had been circulating in the crowd showing the wound in the abdomen. When the hall had entered, he finally sought his bed telling his friends that he was going to die. The ambulance arrived at 7:30 and Russa was taken to the hospital.

The patrol wagon from the central city also arrived with Patrolmen Neuls, Perry and George Jones. These with Lieutenant Zang and his men, Haggerty, Quinnan, Boland and Sartor, attempted to control the crowd and when Constable Woelkers arrived with Abbate the handful of police had work of the talk kind.

TALK OF LYNCHING. Woelkers and the prisoner were in the buggy. The mistake was made when the constable in his triumphant spirit, drove close to the edge of the crowd and cried out "Here he is!" In an instant the crowd was the center of a surging, clamoring mob. "Lynch him! Lynch him," they cried, and the hind wheels of the carriage were lifted and the vehicle tossed and struck over the heads of the crowd and spilled out on the road. Before the crowd could secure Abbate Patrolman Charles Perry, who was the nearest of the officers, drew his club and struck one man who held the horse's head. The policeman jumped into the buggy, Woelkers dragging the prisoner with him.

Patrolman Perry yelled for the crowd to disperse and catching the reins in one hand, the whip in the other, he slashed the horse into a gallop. The crowd grew back and Cedar avenue was gained. The rest of the drive to the central police station was untroubled.

For several hours after this incident the crowd hung about the place. Coroner Longstreet arrived and empaneled as jurors on the Raimondi case, Charles Wirth, Gus Rempe, Ed. Coyle, Henry Walters, Jr., Gus Schmidt and Lieutenant Peter Zang. They will meet tomorrow night at Coroner Longstreet's office to take testimony. The body of Raimondi was removed to Undertaker Storrs' morgue on Cedar avenue.

Joseph Abbate and Sebastian Sparaco, the two other members of the party, were arrested and taken to the police station. They will be held as witnesses. Patrolman Gecheide found Joseph Abbate at his house in Schimpff's court, Spruce street, arrested by Special Officer Frank J. Egli on Ninth street, where he had fled after the shooting. He was identified from a photograph which Egli secured from his friends.

CAPTURE OF ABBATE. The capture of Abbate, the murderer, was exciting. When Constable Woelkers, after crossing the river by way of Schimpff's court, reached Goldson's hotel, on Luzerne street, he saw a crowd of people chasing Abbate, whose wet clothing caused suspicion. The man was running for dear life. Woelkers followed with his buggy. When near the Linden street bridge, reached Goldson's street, Abbate turned from the street and entered a yard, intending to escape by way of the rear.

As he got inside the gate the constable drove up, jumped from his carriage and followed the man. Abbate was cornered in the rear lot. Woelkers shouted "don't shoot him!" looking over Abbate's head. The time-flavored ruse worked to perfection. Abbate turned around his hand, seeking the pocket where the revolver was, and as he did so Woelkers and two young men, Rogan and Conway, pounced upon him and secured the weapon. The four then got into the carriage and rode to the South Side, where the reception was given as noted.

At the police station last night Patrolman Sartor learned from the prisoners the cause of the shooting. Abbate said that Raimondi made a motion as if to draw a revolver from his breast pocket. Then he shot him. Abbate when interviewed by a Tribune reporter made the same statement. "Did you shoot the man?" "Yes, I shot him; he going to shoot me," was the man's reply.

NO REVOLVER FOUND. No revolver was found upon Raimondi's person when the body was searched by Coroner Longstreet. Nothing else was found except a piece of manila paper. Abbate seemed cool and unconcerned last night. He frequently inquired after the condition of the men. He did not know that Raimondi was dead. The revolver which is in the possession of the police is a

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

TRAGEDY ON SOUTH SIDE

(Concluded from Page 1.)

turned, a half hour later, a crowd which blocked the street for fifty yards had assembled, all striving to get a glimpse at the dead man on the sidewalk. Dr. A. Kolb had telephoned for the Lackawanna hospital ambulance to take care of Russa, the injured man. The poor fellow for a quarter of an hour had been circulating in the crowd showing the wound in the abdomen. When the hall had entered, he finally sought his bed telling his friends that he was going to die. The ambulance arrived at 7:30 and Russa was taken to the hospital.

The patrol wagon from the central city also arrived with Patrolmen Neuls, Perry and George Jones. These with Lieutenant Zang and his men, Haggerty, Quinnan, Boland and Sartor, attempted to control the crowd and when Constable Woelkers arrived with Abbate the handful of police had work of the talk kind.

TALK OF LYNCHING. Woelkers and the prisoner were in the buggy. The mistake was made when the constable in his triumphant spirit, drove close to the edge of the crowd and cried out "Here he is!" In an instant the crowd was the center of a surging, clamoring mob. "Lynch him! Lynch him," they cried, and the hind wheels of the carriage were lifted and the vehicle tossed and struck over the heads of the crowd and spilled out on the road. Before the crowd could secure Abbate Patrolman Charles Perry, who was the nearest of the officers, drew his club and struck one man who held the horse's head. The policeman jumped into the buggy, Woelkers dragging the prisoner with him.

Patrolman Perry yelled for the crowd to disperse and catching the reins in one hand, the whip in the other, he slashed the horse into a gallop. The crowd grew back and Cedar avenue was gained. The rest of the drive to the central police station was untroubled.

For several hours after this incident the crowd hung about the place. Coroner Longstreet arrived and empaneled as jurors on the Raimondi case, Charles Wirth, Gus Rempe, Ed. Coyle, Henry Walters, Jr., Gus Schmidt and Lieutenant Peter Zang. They will meet tomorrow night at Coroner Longstreet's office to take testimony. The body of Raimondi was removed to Undertaker Storrs' morgue on Cedar avenue.

Joseph Abbate and Sebastian Sparaco, the two other members of the party, were arrested and taken to the police station. They will be held as witnesses. Patrolman Gecheide found Joseph Abbate at his house in Schimpff's court, Spruce street, arrested by Special Officer Frank J. Egli on Ninth street, where he had fled after the shooting. He was identified from a photograph which Egli secured from his friends.

CAPTURE OF ABBATE. The capture of Abbate, the murderer, was exciting. When Constable Woelkers, after crossing the river by way of Schimpff's court, reached Goldson's hotel, on Luzerne street, he saw a crowd of people chasing Abbate, whose wet clothing caused suspicion. The man was running for dear life. Woelkers followed with his buggy. When near the Linden street bridge, reached Goldson's street, Abbate turned from the street and entered a yard, intending to escape by way of the rear.

As he got inside the gate the constable drove up, jumped from his carriage and followed the man. Abbate was cornered in the rear lot. Woelkers shouted "don't shoot him!" looking over Abbate's head. The time-flavored ruse worked to perfection. Abbate turned around his hand, seeking the pocket where the revolver was, and as he did so Woelkers and two young men, Rogan and Conway, pounced upon him and secured the weapon. The four then got into the carriage and rode to the South Side, where the reception was given as noted.

At the police station last night Patrolman Sartor learned from the prisoners the cause of the shooting. Abbate said that Raimondi made a motion as if to draw a revolver from his breast pocket. Then he shot him. Abbate when interviewed by a Tribune reporter made the same statement. "Did you shoot the man?" "Yes, I shot him; he going to shoot me," was the man's reply.

NO REVOLVER FOUND. No revolver was found upon Raimondi's person when the body was searched by Coroner Longstreet. Nothing else was found except a piece of manila paper. Abbate seemed cool and unconcerned last night. He frequently inquired after the condition of the men. He did not know that Raimondi was dead. The revolver which is in the possession of the police is a

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

TRAGEDY ON SOUTH SIDE

(Concluded from Page 1.)

turned, a half hour later, a crowd which blocked the street for fifty yards had assembled, all striving to get a glimpse at the dead man on the sidewalk. Dr. A. Kolb had telephoned for the Lackawanna hospital ambulance to take care of Russa, the injured man. The poor fellow for a quarter of an hour had been circulating in the crowd showing the wound in the abdomen. When the hall had entered, he finally sought his bed telling his friends that he was going to die. The ambulance arrived at 7:30 and Russa was taken to the hospital.

The patrol wagon from the central city also arrived with Patrolmen Neuls, Perry and George Jones. These with Lieutenant Zang and his men, Haggerty, Quinnan, Boland and Sartor, attempted to control the crowd and when Constable Woelkers arrived with Abbate the handful of police had work of the talk kind.

TALK OF LYNCHING. Woelkers and the prisoner were in the buggy. The mistake was made when the constable in his triumphant spirit, drove close to the edge of the crowd and cried out "Here he is!" In an instant the crowd was the center of a surging, clamoring mob. "Lynch him! Lynch him," they cried, and the hind wheels of the carriage were lifted and the vehicle tossed and struck over the heads of the crowd and spilled out on the road. Before the crowd could secure Abbate Patrolman Charles Perry, who was the nearest of the officers, drew his club and struck one man who held the horse's head. The policeman jumped into the buggy, Woelkers dragging the prisoner with him.

Patrolman Perry yelled for the crowd to disperse and catching the reins in one hand, the whip in the other, he slashed the horse into a gallop. The crowd grew back and Cedar avenue was gained. The rest of the drive to the central police station was untroubled.

For several hours after this incident the crowd hung about the place. Coroner Longstreet arrived and empaneled as jurors on the Raimondi case, Charles Wirth, Gus Rempe, Ed. Coyle, Henry Walters, Jr., Gus Schmidt and Lieutenant Peter Zang. They will meet tomorrow night at Coroner Longstreet's office to take testimony. The body of Raimondi was removed to Undertaker Storrs' morgue on Cedar avenue.

Joseph Abbate and Sebastian Sparaco, the two other members of the party, were arrested and taken to the police station. They will be held as witnesses. Patrolman Gecheide found Joseph Abbate at his house in Schimpff's court, Spruce street, arrested by Special Officer Frank J. Egli on Ninth street, where he had fled after the shooting. He was identified from a photograph which Egli secured from his friends.

CAPTURE OF ABBATE. The capture of Abbate, the murderer, was exciting. When Constable Woelkers, after crossing the river by way of Schimpff's court, reached Goldson's hotel, on Luzerne street, he saw a crowd of people chasing Abbate, whose wet clothing caused suspicion. The man was running for dear life. Woelkers followed with his buggy. When near the Linden street bridge, reached Goldson's street, Abbate turned from the street and entered a yard, intending to escape by way of the rear.

As he got inside the gate the constable drove up, jumped from his carriage and followed the man. Abbate was cornered in the rear lot. Woelkers shouted "don't shoot him!" looking over Abbate's head. The time-flavored ruse worked to perfection. Abbate turned around his hand, seeking the pocket where the revolver was, and as he did so Woelkers and two young men, Rogan and Conway, pounced upon him and secured the weapon. The four then got into the carriage and rode to the South Side, where the reception was given as noted.

At the police station last night Patrolman Sartor learned from the prisoners the cause of the shooting. Abbate said that Raimondi made a motion as if to draw a revolver from his breast pocket. Then he shot him. Abbate when interviewed by a Tribune reporter made the same statement. "Did you shoot the man?" "Yes, I shot him; he going to shoot me," was the man's reply.

NO REVOLVER FOUND. No revolver was found upon Raimondi's person when the body was searched by Coroner Longstreet. Nothing else was found except a piece of manila paper. Abbate seemed cool and unconcerned last night. He frequently inquired after the condition of the men. He did not know that Raimondi was dead. The revolver which is in the possession of the police is a

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look around.

China Hall. Miller & Peck, 131 WYOMING AVENUE. Walk in and look