BEFORE BREAKFAST.
One of the members of the Thirteenth regiment had not been a soldier very long and was perhaps unfamiliar with the requirements necessary in an emergency. The other morning when he was aroused from peaceful slumbers at 3.30 o'clock and informed that he was to go to Hazelton instanter he flatly announced his intention to do nothing of the sort. He had contemplated no regimental service beyond the annual picnic of encampment and the weekly drill, and so to Hazelton to settle a strike he wouldn't. When his wife had matters explained to her she sat up in bed and howled, and also announced that he wouldn't or rather shouldn't—not if she could prevent it. The officer detailed to notify him explained that it wasn't a question of what he would, or she wouldn't, but a matter of must.
The wife howled some more and the husband looked distressed and advised her to "get up and go call the girls" meaning the help in his employer's house nearby. "The girls" were promptly summoned and added their contribution in the way of lamentation to the general protest, awakening the entire neighborhood by the vocalization as he went marching away.

Children certainly evolve some of the funniest theories about a very serious matter, namely, prayer. A Scranton boy of a religious turn of mind had the other night as a guest a small cousin accustomed to having his own way. About the time the children were supposed to be in bed a commotion was noted from their chamber. Soon the elder boy came down and after idling around a little remarked gravely to the assembled family, "Well, I don't know where Ned is. He wouldn't say his prayers and I tried to make him, and he's somewhere. I don't know where; he ran down here." A search revealed Ned far back under the remote corner of a bed, crying as if his heart would break. "I don't have to say my prayers when I'm away from home," he sobbed, "do I mamma? God doesn't live in Scranton."

Some Scranton people are complaining of a visitation of fleas, which like a plague of Egypt have come up into their houses. Many at the inquiry concerning a method of riddance. The remedy discovered by students at Cornell university may be recommended to housewives possessing obliging husbands and other masculine relatives.
The Cornell boys excused the Janitor to adorn the hems of his trousers with a freeze of sticky fly paper some inches in depth, and then he was told to walk to and fro through the infested apartments. The fleas jumped for his legs after the manner of fleas and found themselves engaged past extraction.
Another formula that may be used is to put a small piece of fresh meat in the centre of a section of fly paper and place one such trap in each room. The flea jump after the fresh meat and are caught. Of course you are apt to find yourself walking around attached to catch fleas yourself, but then you may catch them too. . . .

Nelson G. Teets, of this city, who has acted as local organizer and state secretary and deputy organizer at large for the state of Pennsylvania for the past two years for the retail clerks, has now been honored with the organizer at large for the Retail Clerks' National Protective association for the United States, and will have his office here in this city. Mr. Teets is also secretary of the Scranton Clerks' association.

PERSONAL.
Gilbert H. Cobb, of Altoona, was in the city Saturday.
Andrew Granahan, of Pittston, spent Saturday with friends in this city.
William M. Bunnell has registered as a student-at-law in the office of Warren & Knapp.
Miss Rhea Beckett, of Fifth avenue, is entertaining Miss Anna Kreis, of Wilkes-Barre.
Miss Orville Knapp, of Rebecca avenue, is spending her vacation with friends at Pen Argyl.
Miss Mary Finerty, of South Seventh street, has gone to Lock Haven and become a pupil at the normal school.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wideman and daughter, of East Market street, have returned from a week's outing at Elk Hill.
William J. Fitzgerald registered Saturday with Professor Henry at a student-at-law in the office of O'Brien & Kelly.
Mrs. L. H. Wint, of North Scranton, is entertaining Miss Agnes G. Howe, of San Francisco, who was formerly a resident of this city.
Charles Hess, teller of the Dime bank, has returned from a trip to Saranac and Ga. Mr. Hess was accompanied by his mother and sister, Amelia.
Miss Mary Klein, of the Scranton House, will sail from New York city Wednesday for Germany, where she will remain for a month visiting friends.

CONFERENCE OF GERMAN MINISTERS.
Opens This Morning in the Hickory Street Church.
The annual conference of the German Ministers' association of the eastern states will begin this evening at the Hickory Street Presbyterian church, South Side. The association numbers about eighty ministers, but that number is not expected for the present convention. Rev. Albert Wirth, secretary of the association, and Rev. Mr. Fisher, were the only arrivals yesterday.
At the meeting this evening Dr. Sel-bert, professor of theology at the Bloomsburg seminary, has consented to deliver a sermon. Dr. Selbert had not arrived last night. After the meeting the ladies of the church will give a dinner and reception to the visiting ministers.
The conference proper will begin Tuesday morning with an hour's devotional service. If the convention has concluded its business by that time Rev. William Nordt, pastor of the church, will treat the ministers to a tour of the sites of interest in this city.
At the session tomorrow the reports of the various officers will be submitted and officers elected.
Rev. John Schmidt, president of the association, will be at the conference and the election of a temporary office in his place will be the first work of the ministers.

DR. LANSING'S FIRST SERMON.
Was Delivered in the Green Ridge Presbyterian Church.
Rev. Isaac J. Lansing, D. D., preacher of the first sermon at the Green Ridge Presbyterian church at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning. The audience was a large one. In the evening at 7.30 o'clock Dr. Lansing delivered a second stirring sermon to a still larger congregation.
Dr. Lansing has preached here several times before. The fact that he speaks extemporaneously adds noticeably to the force of his words.
Dr. Lansing is at present at the Jermyn. To a Tribune reporter he said that the past week has been a very weary one. He was most assiduously engaged in preparing for his removal to Scranton, and in the pulpit yesterday he became sensibly aware of the effects the fatigue of the week had on his system.

THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY.
Celebrated by Young People of Hickory Street Church.
The Young People's society of the Hickory Street Presbyterian church, South Side, last evening celebrated the tenth anniversary of the organization with a service at the church. Rev.
William Wirth, secretary of the German Ministers' association, preached an eloquent sermon. He directed his remarks mainly to the young people, laying down for their guidance many good rules. The church was crowded.
On the pulpit was a profusion of bright flowers. The South Side Mannerchor society, Professor Schmidt, leader, sang a selection.
The Young People's society has for its president, Rev. William Nordt, the popular pastor of the church.
August Ginter is vice-president; Fred Muckley, recording secretary; John Lewert, financial secretary; Miss Mary Went, treasurer. Prizes and souvenir badges were given out last night.

LARGER THAN WAS ANTICIPATED.
An Encouraging Prospect.
The registration list for the first three days of enrollment at the Scranton Conservatory of Music is much larger than was expected. Prominent people of the city are expressing enthusiastic encomiums of the Conservatory, its arrangement and plan of work, and very many have given practical evidence of their belief in registering their children. The cooler weather will naturally assist in a large enrollment this week.
Passengers for New York city should take Lehigh Valley railroad. Sleeping car placed on train at Wilkes-Barre 2.30 a. m., arriving New York 8.23 a. m.

JEALOUS MAN'S DESPERATE WORK

Giuseppe Luongo Stabs and Shoots Giovanni Celeberti.

IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

The Probabilities Are That the Wounded Man Will Die—After Wounding Celeberti, Luongo Succeeded in Making His Escape. Dunmore and Scranton Police Are Looking for Him—Injured Man Not Receiving Surgical Attention.

In dismal "Little England," at the foot of the east mountain, on a small bridge crossing the creek, Brook, Giovanni Celeberti, 18 years old, an Italian, was stabbed and shot at 9.15 o'clock last night. He will probably die. Giuseppe Luongo, the would-be murderer, escaped after his first wound and the police up to 1 o'clock this morning had not located him.

The shooting was brought on through a trivial quarrel. Celeberti and Filippo Biango, who was visiting him from Pittston, at 9 o'clock started from the former's boarding house on Donegal street and walked toward Petersburg.
Biango was on his way home to Pittston. Going down Ash street, which runs into the mountain at this place, the two men were passing the house of Dominico Rotondo. Biango suggested that they go in and bid Rotondo good-bye. Celeberti consented and both men entered the house. The building is a dingy little structure on Ash street.
In the house were a number of boarders, all of whom had spent the day in beer drinking. Among the men was Luongo. He and Celeberti have been rivals for the hand of a girl in the foreign settlement of Little England and Luongo, it seems, was waiting for a chance to vent his hate upon Celeberti.
The opportunity came.

ORIGIN OF QUARREL.
As soon as Luongo espied Celeberti he demanded what right he had in the house. Celeberti responded in kind.
In their quarrel the two men, with Tony Loreas, and one other, got outside of the house and Luongo was following Celeberti. When the western edge of the bridge was reached Celeberti said, in Italian, "I have just as much right in there as you." When he heard the words Luongo's patience broke and he drew a stiletto and viciously struck at Celeberti.
The long blade pierced the man's back.

The other two men sprang at Luongo and held his arms. Luongo threw them aside and with the words "If I can't kill you with the knife, I shoot," he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired a shot at Celeberti's body. The two men were within a foot of each other and Luongo fired three times. The bullet struck his arm but blazed away as the weapon got in range.
Celeberti fell to the bridge and quickly arose. Luongo made a lunge at him and pushed the wounded man over the side of the bridge and into the bed of the brook. He then walked away.

LUONGO ESCAPED.
Three men, Andrew Colter, William Colter and E. J. Milner, who were several hundred yards distant when the shot was fired tried to capture Luongo but he threw them off and walked rapidly down Ash street toward Petersburg. The other men, except Biango, who heard the shots from Rotondo's house, also walked toward the house and assisted him toward his boarding place.
In their journey the men passed over the spot on Ash street where Rocco Salvatore fell murdered several months ago.

At a point on the road, one hundred yards from the bridge Celeberti fell unable to walk any further. Luongo left him and started for a doctor. Other Italians carried Celeberti to his house on a fence board.
The Dunmore police were notified and Chief P. J. Healey and Patrolmen Bulger, Dolan and Mace, were soon on the scene. Luongo could not be found.
Lieutenant John Davis, Detective John McFar and Patrolman Louis Geertz, all in citizens' clothes, arrived at 10.30 o'clock. Celeberti's lay abed in his boarding house, which was uncomfortably crowded with men. He gave his name as told by the police, with many cries of pain and appeals for a doctor.
No physician could be communicated with and up to midnight Celeberti had not been cared for.

LOOKING FOR LUONGO.
At a house on Ash street, where Luongo boarded for the past nine months, Patrolman Antonio Mace, of Dunmore, acting as interpreter for the Scranton officers, brought out the fact that Luongo was ordinarily a peaceable man. He has been in the country four years, and is 29 years of age.
He worked for the Scranton Gas and Water company. The police secured Luongo's hat, which he dropped during the scuffle on the bridge. It is a brown weather-stained felt hat. No hint was obtained as to Luongo's probable place of refuge. The police last night sent word to all the local precincts and to Pittston, Wilkes-Barre and other cities to keep a lookout for the man. He is described as being of medium height, light, 150 pounds, dark hair and eyes, mustache, dark clothing, white shirt.
Celeberti's chances for recovery are poor. The wound from the stiletto on the right side of the neck is an inch in width and as deep. The bullet entered the abdomen just above the right groin. A hole the size of a man's thumb was made. He suffered much from loss of blood, and at last reports no physician had attended him.

GRAND JURY MEETS TODAY.
Bills Against George Van Horn and Charles Abatte to Be Considered.
Today the grand jury will meet and receive instructions from the court and then proceed to consider the large

The party from here will consist of Company C, Fourth regiment Military rank, and the following delegates: M.
W. Anderson, of Scranton castle, No. 137; C. Wenzel, Petersburg castle, No. 68; J. E. Jenkins, Hyde Park castle, No. 38; J. H. Betton, Co. Providence, No. 43; G. E. Reynolds, Green Ridge castle, No. 196; W. C. Drake, Lackawanna castle, No. 115, Moose; S. Penny, Jermyn castle, No. 162, Jermyn; W. H. Griffiths, Pioneer City castle, No. 209, Car-trict Deputy Select Commander James Williamson and several members.

NEW BROKERAGE FIRM.
Has Opened Offices at 414 Spruce Street.

A new brokerage and commission office with guaranteed legitimate connections will be opened today at 414 Spruce street. The new brokers are Wills & Co., Providence, deal in stock bonds and cotton. Their place of business is located on the second floor front in the Christian block and consists of a suite of two rooms.
In the main room, which is the front office, are placed the exchange bulletin boards. The New York and Chicago markets and three small bulletin boards comprise the outfit, which is the most complete outside of the large cities. The company will use Lamson Brook & Co.'s wire, of Chicago, and will have New York connection through Purnell, Hagman & Co. These companies are thoroughly reliable and only transact a legitimate business.
The two men who will personally conduct the business, stated that the business will be conducted on a metropolitan basis.

CAPTURED A BURGLAR.
Former Scranton Man Wanted by the Harrisburg Police.

Floyd Grinner, alias F. H. Welles, formerly of this city, was arrested here Saturday by Detective John Moir on a charge of burglary. Word came to police headquarters from Harrisburg that Grinner had stolen two watches and some money from his boarding house in that city.
It was known that he formerly worked here, and a description accompanied the notice of the robbery. In less than an hour afterward Detective Moir found his man at Smith's hotel, West Lackawanna avenue.
At the police station the two watches were found on Grinner's person. He had no money.
The Harrisburg authorities were informed of the capture and will send for the prisoner.

PEOPLE PREFER TO LAUGH.
That's Why They Like the Rentz-Santley Novelty Company.

Everybody prefers to laugh rather than to cry; consequently the attractions that appear before the public of Scranton at the Feltz theater that are built upon light, wholesome lines, and sparkling with wit, humor and life, are naturally better patronized.
In the engagement of the Rentz-San-tley Novelty and Burlesque company for the next three days of this week, such a concoction is promised. The dual burlesques of "A World of Pleasure" and "Paradise in Hades" electrified by the "Carnival of Vaudeville" real burlesque certainly offer enough in the way of amusement to please any play-goer.

FITZSIMMONS IS CHAIRMAN.
Named by Democratic Candidates as Their Leader in Coming Fight.

Another meeting of the Democratic county candidates was held Saturday afternoon at which the following officers for the county committee were decided upon: Chairman, Colonel F. J.
Fitzsimmons; treasurer, Edmund J.
Robinson, city controller; secretaries, Attorney M. F. Sando and Attorney D. J.
Reedy.
The county committee has not yet been completed. Some little difficulty is being experienced in getting just the kind of men the candidates want to represent the various election districts of the county.

CADDEN'S LITTLE JOKE.
Played It with Results on an Inoffensive Italian.

Patrick Cadden is laughing himself to death in a cell in the police station.
Cadden stopped an Italian in front of the city hall at 1 o'clock Saturday night and, somewhat bombastically placed him under arrest.
Cadden had no such authority and the Italian objected, making a loud noise in doing so.
Patrolman Rease Jones heard the racket and approached the men. Cadden said he was only playing a joke on the foreigner. He will be given a hearing this morning.

AT THE LYCEUM.
"The Wedding Day," to be produced at the Lyceum tonight is said to be the cleverest and most sumptuous production seen in this country for years. The light and beautiful Miss Russell was never more at home in a part as in "The Wedding Day." The petite and charming actress never seemed to such advantage and Jefferson De Angelo could scarcely have been better suited in a new role. The fair Lillian's voice was never in such superb condition and the pert and piquant Della is in the trimmest of condition.

Thursday evening "McPadden's Row of Flats" will be the attraction at the Lyceum.

SPECIAL SALE
Of Oriental Rugs and Carpets.
We have received the choicest and largest collection of Rugs and Carpets.
As the new tariff will make a considerable difference in prices, this will be just the occasion to buy your rugs; most who are in importation has been under the old tariff.

DIED.
WILLIAMS—In Scranton, Sept. 12, 1897, Mrs. William E. Williams, aged 39 years and four months, at the residence, 39 Corbett avenue, yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Bellevue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church at 2.30 p. m. Interment will be made at the Washburn street cemtery.

ACKER—In Scranton, Sept. 12, 1897, J.
Plummer Acker, aged 35 years, at his residence, 422 South Main avenue, at 6.15 o'clock yesterday morning. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot at Forest Hill.

PROMINENT WEST SIDE MAN DIES

J. Plummer Acker Passed Away Early Yesterday Morning.

SUFFERED FROM RHEUMATISM

Death Was Due to Acute Rheumatic Fever—Mr. Acker Was Thirty-three Years of Age and Had Been a Resident of the West Side All His Life.
Held a Responsible Position with the D., L. and W. Co.

Probably no death for some time has occurred in West Scranton which has caused greater expressions of sorrow and sympathy than that of J. Plummer Acker, of 422 South Main avenue.
Though troubled for years by chronic attacks of rheumatism, yet no complaint was heard. Death was due to acute rheumatic fever.
During the past six months Mr. Acker has had attacks of his old enemy recurring more frequently and a month or so ago he sought relief by a trip to the White mountains and the Maine coast. While in the White mountains another attack came and he immediately returned home and took to his bed.
Though unknown to him he was a stricken man and after nearly two weeks of severe illness, he at last succumbed and early yesterday morning at the first break of dawn, he answered the gentle summons.
In the prime of manhood, surrounded by a loved wife and his three beautiful children, with the same noble fortitude which has characterized the man throughout life he bade them adieu with words of encouragement and advice.
Thirty-three years ago, when Hyde Park was a borough, J. Plummer Acker was born. He is the third oldest son of the late John M. Acker. He attended the city schools and Cann's academy.
After his graduation he held several minor positions in the coal department of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company until about ten years ago, when he succeeded the late James Ruthven as cashier of the coal department. This position he held up to the day of his decease. No employee was more respected or trusted and a gap is left which will be difficult to fill with a man as thoroughly versed in the intricacies of this department.
He was a man of domestic tastes, and beloved to no society, but was a faithful member of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, being secretary-treasurer of the board of trustees, a position he has held during the last seven years. He is survived by his wife and three children, Ruth, Elsie and Harriet.
The funeral services will occur Wednesday afternoon at the Simpson church at 2 p. m. Interment will be made in the family plot at Forest Hill cemetery.

BROKEN AXLE DID IT.
Caused a Wreck on the E. and W. V.
Railroad Near Beech Street.

A wreck, which resulted in considerable loss of property, but no fatalities, occurred Saturday morning on the Erie and Wyoming Valley railroad at a point just north of Beech street crossing. An empty coal train, going south, was approaching the crossing, when one of the gondolas, having a broken axle, jumped the tracks and went down the embankment.
Three more cars followed the runaway and all were badly smashed.
Six of the other cars in the train piled up on the tracks, effectually blocking traffic for several hours. A wrecking party were soon at the scene and the wreckage was cleared up and the blocked trains went through.
