FUNERAL OF J. PLUMMER ACKER.

Services Conducted in the Simpson

Methodist Episcopal Church. The funeral of the late J. Plummer Acker occurred yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large concourse of friends. The remains were viewed at the residence, 422 South Main avenue, in the morning and shortly after 2 o'clock were borne to the Simpson Methodist church where the funeral sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Sweet. The sermon was a beautiful and touching effort, coming as it did from one who had been more than simply a pastor to the deceased. Hardly a dry eye was seen as the speaker reviewed the honest, manly life of he, who was now still. Rev. L. Floyd. D. D., a former paster of the church, but now of Binghamton, attended and spoke his last tribute of respect for the dead and words of encouragement for the bereaved family. Several selections were rendered by the church quartette, Messrs. Jones, Abrams, Wrigley and Whitman. The remains reposed in the calm of death in a beautiful oaken casket almost concealed beneath the wreath of fragrant tributes from many friends. At the close of the service the remains were borne to the family plot in Forest Hill cemetery and laid at rest.

The pallbearers were: Dr. P. F. Struppler, W. W. Davis, W. H. Hagen, Alfred Twining, Charles W. Lull, and W. H. Rissinger. Flower-bearers: Evan S. Jones, Fred Weinss, Harry Randolph and Frank Shedd, Honorary pallbearers, John Randolph and embody every valuable improvement to be found in any other machine, no matter what its make or name may be. While we can safely say that they are the best machines that inventive genius, skilled labor and money combined can produce, and the only difference between Globe Machines and those sold at more than double our prices through special agents, lies in the price. We sell sewing machines for what they are actually worth; agents sell them at figures that allow them to pay immense profits to solicitors, collectors, etc., besides allowing for interest on outstanding accounts that run on for years, and providing a margin to cover the bills that are never paid.

These facts account for the fancy figures charged by manufactures who sell through soliciting agents while the prices charged by us represent the intrinsic value of the machines, or what they are actually worth in the regular line of legitimate

ARRESTED FOR COMPLICITY.

Gribilo Charged with Having a Hand in the Shooting of Celeberti.

Donato Gribilo was arrested last night for complicity in the shooting of Giovannia Celeberti at "Little England" Sunday night. He was lodged in the police station for a hearing a 4 o'clock this afternoon before Alderman Wright.

What occasioned Gribilo's arrest is not at hand. The warrant left at the police station couples his name with that of Guiseppe Luango, who fired the shot, and the charge is "maliciously assaulting Giovanni Celeberti with attempt at murder." Gribilo is the man who was proprietor of the house where Celeberti was denied admittance by Luango

He was arrested by Constable Bilefeldt, of Dunmore. Luango is still at large. Detective Moir stated yesterday that no trace had been secured of the fugitive but his arrest is only a matter of time. The West Side hospital attendants on Celeberti reported last night that his condition is unchanged.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE W. C. T. U.

The interesting report of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. M. Howell, was then given. Much efficient work was shown. Among the statistics were: Thirteen local unions; Carbondale, 22 active members; Dalton, 20; Moscow, 25; Madisonville, 20; Moosic, 14; Scranton, central, 50; Waverly, 24; Scranton colored union, 10; Dunmore, 22; Throop, 10. Mrs. Howell spoke of the work in Green Ridge and the need of more willing workers all over the county.

The treasurer, Mrs. Sickler, being ill at Colorado Springs, the report was postponed until today. The report of local unions was then heard. Among the most complete and encouraging given was that of Miss Frances Raub, of the Scranton W. C. T. U.

A feature of the afternoon was the fine address given by Mrs. Mabel Conklin, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Conklin is a young woman of striking personality and many graces. She is the national president of the White Cross legion and is a fascinating speaker. Yesterday afternoon her subject was mothers' meetings, giving many suggestions for practical work Among these was first heredity, premarital, prenatal, etc. She also gave advice regarding training of the child before and after the age of 8.

At the memorial service, memorials were presented by Mrs. J. R. Fordham, of this city: Mrs. Swartz. of Madisonville, and the name of Mrs. Sickler, the absent and suffering treasurer, was also remembered. Mrs. T. M. Furey offered prayer. The chair appointed the following committees: Courtesies, Mrs. Stoil, Mrs. Mershon; credentials, Mrs. Depue, Mrs. Case; resolutions, Mrs. Budd, Peckville, Mrs. Pierce Butler, Carbondale; Mrs. Tewksbury, Scranton; Miss Case,

EXERCISES THIS MORNING.

It was announced that Mrs. Reynolds rould conduct the devotional exercises this morning and the session adjourned with the benediction by the pastor. Mrs. Mabel L. Conklin gave the ad dress of the evening before a large audience made up of not only visiting delegates, but the representative people of that intelligent region. Her subject related to her life work social purity and was entitled, "The Young Man Absalom. Is he safe?" Conklin gave a brilliant and forcible exposition of the White Cross movement, of which she is the leader, and which has representatives in every state and territory in this country, besides in many foreign lands. work of the society is chiefly among men. It was organized in 1883. It is for the avowed purpose, as most people know, of sustaining social purity, and it is intended to reach young men especially. Probably the most earnest worker in the movement are found in the Young Men's Christian association in professional circles and colleges. Mrs. Conklin spoke earnestly on the crying need of the purity move ment among children in the schools. The universal growth and interest in the White Cross society is most en-It now numbers 40,600 members. Mrs. Conklin was invited to speak here by the county Women's Christian Temperance union because it is hoped that interest may be awakened in the movement in this region.
