FOOLHARDY MUST SUFFER

A Warning from a Returning Alaskan Official.

GOLD HUNTERS IN DANGER

A Mountain Pass That Leads to Death.

Shortage of Food in Dawson City Inevitable -- Death Awaiting the Rush Over the White Pass -- Not Deterred by Wintry Storms.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 23.-Burton F Bennett, who was sent North by President Cleveland to fill the office of United States District Attorney for Alaska, arrived here from the North yesterday on the steamship Queen. "From what I can learn," he said, "there is not enough and will not be enough food at Dawson City this winter. With favorable weather the trading companies may get more up the river than was anticipated, but it is not likely, It will be impossible under the most favorable circumstances to get sufficlent in to supply all those who are there. I feel sure of that, after careful inquiry and from letters I have received from Dawson City.

But, as I say, if Dawson City suffers think of the men on White Pass. The world may not realize it, but there are men up north who are walking right into death. I am satisfied that while the snow is coming down with all its fury on the pass and the wind is blowing awful gales this winter, you will see men on White Pass. It is a frightful thing to think of, but it is true, and these men should be stop-ped. I would not be suprised to learn of many deaths up there this winter. It is the most damnable rush I ever heard or read of. These men do not know anything about the horrors of White Pass in the winter time, yet they keep on, and just about the time that winter is at its worst some of them will be caught on White Pass. They will never escape.

"Those who remain at Skaguay this winter will be all right. Spring will soon be with them, and then they can start for the North. Once there they will all come back rich if they are willing to stay and work for a few years. There is gold in every body of water, big or little, in our country. Why. the people of the States, with all the newspaper talk, do not know what the will be in the coming spring. From the letters I have received from the States there will be 10,000 people in Alaska six weeks after the spring rush has commenced.

REPORTS EXAGGERATED.

"I think that the reports about so much crime in the vicinity of Skaguay have been exaggerated. We are doing what we can to see that order is pre served, and we have been fairly successful Of course there are some criminals there, but crime is very small, We have officers at Skaguay, They winter there, and I look for no trouble.

"One thing is certain, and that is that the United States Government will have to take steps at once to give Alaska new government. At preent it is one judicial district. I favor three, one for Southeastern Alaska, one for Western Alaska and one for the Yukon. In that way the country would be much better governed. If a murder is committed in the Yukon country in the winter time the murderer could not be brought to the south cost until spring. This is not the way to conduct Alaska. I have given the matter serious consideration and I think that there should be a commission appointed by our government to map out a code of laws for the country. At present we depend upon the Revised Statutes of the United States, and when we cannot find what we want in them we turn to the laws which governed Oregon up to 1884. The land laws should be extended. At present one cannot get title to land in Alaska. The point is very important in advancing the claim for new legislation for the Witnesses Brought to Prove the Murdered Woman Is Alive.

BARTENDER GETS

Uncertain as to the Weight of the Missing Mrs. Luctgert -- Other Witnesses Who Claim to liave Conversed with the Unfortunate Woman .- Emma Schimpke Gets Mad.

Chicago, Sept. 23 .- Today's proceedings in the Luetgert trial were the most remarkable that have occured within the three weeks. In the face of the sensational circumstantial evidence that has been produced to prove that Mrs. Luetgert met death in her husband's sausage factory on May 1, three witnesses testified today that they saw the woman alive on May 3rd and 4th. One of these witnesses talked to her and believed from a description and photograph of Mrs. Luetgert that the woman he saw was Mrs. Luetgert. This witness was Matt J. Sholey, a bar-keeper at the Hotel Maple, Kenosha, Wis. He said he saw a strange woman at the Hotel Maple on the evening of May 3rd He talked with her nearly ten minutes. Then he hesitatedhouses, several handsome residences said he had got mixed up—and remark-and the Methodist church was entirely ed that the woman weighed 115 to 118 pounds which was about Mrs. Luetgert's weight. This hesitation and correction was made much of by the prosecution which intimated that it indicated that Sholey had forgotten the veight that probably had been told him at first. Policeman Henry Feldshaw, of Kenosha, Wis., testified that he saw a strange woman in the police station of his town on Mny 3. The witness said he afterward saw voman at the Hotel Maple and the following day at the railway station, He described her as a blonde and said she wore a sailor hat and slippers. "I don't remember." "Did you not tell Rosa Cleich you did not see Mr. and Mrs. Luetgert the night of May 1?"

AMERICAN LABOR'S ADVANTAGE.

Comparison with English Conditions by an Engineer. London, Sept. 23 .- The Times today rives prominence to an account, occupying a column and a half, of a conversation between an English engineer and a member of a large firm of American manufacturing engineers on the conditions of work in England and the United States, The American dwells upon the superiority of the American workmen, "whose faculties are sharpned by an ambition which is unfettered by trades unionism." The American workmen, he continues, receive higher wages; but the ten-hour day and labor-saving machinery enables a profitable export trade. He thinks the British engineering industry bolstered up by government naval contracts, whereof the workmen take advantage to strike, and thus foreign markets are being lost. He predicts great depression and poverty in the engineering trade in England when the day arrives that the government needs fewer ships The Times in an editorial draws at #### tention to these criticisms, especially in view of the "present suicidal engineering struggle in England."

ALLEN'S

ADDRESS

New York, Sept. 23.—President Ethan Allen, of the Cuban league of the United States, today issued the following address to the members of the league:

'A year of patriotic work is about to end in grandest results. Last spring nearly every governor of this republic, at our request, backed by the legislature of his state, spoke for Cuban independence. Many hundreds of thousands of citizens, responding to the appeal of this league, have made it manifest that public opinion is on the side of the Cuban insurgents and hostile to their oppressors. Now the hour of emancipation for Cuba is at hand. The commending voice of the nation has at last reached the executive. Though the delay has been much too long, still the retribution at hand will excuse past delinquency. Our minister in Spain, with patriotic president behind him, will do that which shall soon end the murder, plunder and mediaeval tyranny in Cuba, preceding its certain entry into the list of free and sovereign states. This nation is ready with guns and men, if necessary. Every member of this league should be alert to uphold the president in such a policy, Let all, when the moment comes, say to him:"All divisions end at the water's
