WINTER NIGHT DANGERS.

Subject of Rev. Thomas de Gruchy's Sermon in the Jackson Street Baptist Church Last Night.

'The Danger of Winter Nights" was the topic of the sermon preached by Rev. Thomas de Gruchy at last evening's service of the Jackson Street Baptist church. The congregation was unusually large. The sermon showed careful preparation and much forethought

He began by saying that it is our evenings that ruin morally and forever many of our young men and young women. He said, along the coast the life-saving stations are getting equipped with means for duty. They fear the midnight winds. Many ships will be driven on the rocks and ruined during the winter, but what are | for No. 14's team. Prof. J. R. Hughes these to the thousands of young men who make moral shipwrecks during the winter nights. Many a young man will men, and Jenkins kept time. They temptations are a thousand, and Satan's best harvest is the winter low

The saloon, the billiard hall, the pool room, the theatre fling wide their The receipts of most grog shops one winter's night are three times what they are in any night in sum-mer. Iniquity plies a more profitable We seek friendship during the long evenings and often fall a prey and victim of land pirates.

It takes only one night of dissipation to damn a young man. Temptations are rife on every side and many a young man who made out well the rest of the year is capsized in winter. Satan opens a thousand doors of enticement and he appeals always to the lowest passions of human nature. Not that I would throw a pall over any of your pleasures, but there is a difference between pleasure and folly.

Beware, lest you find yourself swept away from the moorings of integrity, virtue and uprightness. There are parties to be held, card parties, dancing parties, domination parties, and many a young man will be party-killed. There are clubs to be attended, and many will club themselves to death. Beware of the sociability that ends in dissipation. No man need go to the saloon for recreation, no man has to go to hell for pleasure. What a school of vice the saloon is!

Let me speak to you-the fathers and mothers-you who have families and homes, make your homes attractive; make your children feel that a smile and pleasure can find shelter in the home. A good many boys leave one hell to go to another. A boy told me one day that his father could not understand laughter. I really pity some young men. I find they are some young men. I find they are attendance of relatives and friends and an eloquent effort. The floral trib-

FOOT BALL GAME.

An eleven from St. Paul's Parochial school at Green Ridge met the eleven of No. 14 school on the Washburn street grounds Saturday afternoon and were triumphant to the extent of 10-0. To the uninitiated, the score means two touchdown, 4 points each, and one goal, 2 points, total, 10 points. Camp-bell, left half-back for St. Paul's, made one touchdown and O'Hara, right end for the same team, made the other touchdown and kicked a goal. The game was exciting, and the St. Paul's team proved too heavy in the rush line acted as referee, Prof. David Owens as umpire, Magovern and Elias were linesblasted ere spring dawns. PICKWICK'S OPENING SESSION. The Pickwick Literary club began its second year Friday evening at the nome of Miss Marion Hutchinson, of Lafayette street. An appropriate programme had been prepared and was rendered. It consisted of instrumental selections by Miss Hutchinson and the club string orchestra, Messrs. Cadwgan, Herbert and Harry Hall, and Da-vis; recitation by Miss Mabel Yost; essay by Miss Rahel Powell; a paper, entitled "Club Prophecy," by W. T. Burrall, and another on "Influence of Good Literature," by C. H. Hall. Later, refreshments were served by the lady members. This club was begun one year ago for the purpose of literary advancement along chosen lines. In addition to the educational feature, a social adjunct in the vocal and instrumental way was made and every session was well attended and proved both interesting and entertaining. The club meets twice a month at the residence of the different members. The officers for the ensuing term are: Miss Rahel Powell, president; C. H. Hall, secretary; John F. York, W. T. Burral, and Miss Kate Chase, programme com-
