His captors were armed with revolvers. At the campus a mob of 200 students were gathered, a majority of whom were armed. They seized Mr. Brann, pulled him about and threatened to shoot him. Finally a rope was produced, and cries of "hang him" arose on all sides.

Mr. Brann, under threats of death, was compelled to sign a statement declaring that an article appearing in the October number of the Iconoclast, and reflecting on Taylor University, was untrue, and further agreeing that he would leave

This article was the cause of the action of the students. Great excitement has been caused by the incident, and crowds are discussing it in the streets.
