Musical Gossip.

week illustrates the trials and tribulations of a musical critic in Scranton:

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 5, 1897,

Dear Sir: From a musical standpoint I consider the criticism in your paper yesterday morning pertaining to the concert given by Souga's band entirely unjust.

The reporter who wrote the article displayed a sad ignorance, and it is pain-fully evident that he knows nothing of music. Your reporter is an unfecting brute. In fact a man utterly devoid of soul and a man not possessed of a con-science. In all my professional career, I never heard such beautiful renditions as at Sousa's band concert, and I would of-fer as a suggestion that your reporter, who dared to criticize such a man as Sousa, clothe himself for the current month in sack cloth and ashes, as a penance for displaying his ignorance and for making an ass of himself before the gen-An Advertiser.

John T. Watkins, the well-known baritone, has been very successful in concert work in this vicinity since returning from England, where he pursued a course of study at the Royal Academy. Mr. Watkins intends to spend more time in England in study and will not pause at his present tri-umphs. He is undoubtedly one of the Prince of Wales Pet Club Institution. finest baritones in Pennsylvania and his many friends will rejoice at the success that has attended his efforts.

Willard Bunnell, who recently regisable addition to the musical coterie of the current season. Scranton. Mr. Bunnell has a strong tenor voice of marvelous sweetness, and was one of the most prominent members of the Bucknell Glee club last season. Mr. Bunnell was for some time solo tenor in St. Paul's Episcopal church at Montrose.

Victor Herbert's "Wigard of the Nile" was successful in Germany, but was a flat failure in London.

Mr. Beynon will sing a solo at the gospel meeting in the Young Men's Christian association Sunday afternoon at 3.45 o'clock.

It will no doubt be a delight to many to learn that the famous Kreutzer Sonata for violin and plano will be played by Messrs, Hemberger and Conant at one of the coming series of chamber concerts. These artists have been heard so few times in concert that this is only the realization of past wishes and requests of subscribers. At the request of many the Schubert quartette, which was so well received during the last series, will be repeated. Another quintet by Schuman will also be heard. Mr. Rippard, whose 'ceilo playing astonished so many at the Symphony orchestra concert, is rehearsing with Mr. Conant a duet for 'cello and plano, which they will play at one of the chamber concerts.

Valentine Abt, the mandolin virtuoso, who is to appear in this city on Oct. 27, is a composer whose name will go down in history, as r. other composer has ever written music so distinctively playable on the mandolin or so well adapted to bring out the longhidden charms of that instrument. Mr. Abt will play at the concert a fantasia of his own composition, which critics acknowledge, when played by him, to be the climax of all mandolin possi-

Arrangements have been completed by the committee having in charge the testimonal concert to be given John T. Watkins at the Lyceum, Oct. 21. Posters advertise the event as one of the musical treats of the coming season. Miss Kaiser, who has been winning great praise with Sousa's band, will no doubt be heard at the above concert to great advantage. Mr. J. Alfred Pennington will be the solo planist on this occasion. His numerous Scrantonians are taking great interest in the affair as it will be Mr. Watkins' first appearance before a Scranton audience since his return. Tickets for J. T. Watkins' concert aron sale at all the music stores. Some vigorous ticket selling will occur next week, as it is the committee's desire to fill the Lycoum to overflowing. Watkins may return to London after the New Year.

Jenny Lind's good nature is told in a story by a clerk in a Philadelphia music store. "One day a well dressed, quiet, little woman entered the store and asked me to show her some music of a classical nature. We struck up quite a conversation in the course of which I asked her if she heard the great Jenny Lind, who was then the talk of the town. She laughed and said: 'Oh, yes; I have heard her, have you?' I told her I had not had that pleasure and that I had very little prespect of hearing her, the price of admission was high. She laughed again and handed me a song she had picked out, and asked me to play the accompaniment for her while she tried it. She sang so beautifully that I played like one in a dream. When she had finished she thanked me, and, with a rare smil;, said: 'You cannot say now you have not heard Jenny Lind."
