If anything goes wrong with the shoes we sell you tell us about it.

If you find equal grade shoes anywhere else at prices lower than ours, tell us about it.

HIS WOODEN LEG ESCAPED.

Peculiar Circumstance in the Death of Joe Bagnozia.

Cornerer S. P. Longstreet went to Peckville yesterday and viewed the body of Joe Bagnozia, who was struck and killed by a train on the Erie and Wyoming railroad Wednesday. It was decided not to hold an inquest.

Bagnozia once before met with injuries on the railroad and wore a wooden leg as a result. A curious fact is that in the accident Wednesday, though Bagnozia's body was horribly mangled, the wooden leg was not damaged even to the extent of a scratch.

THEY HAVE LITTLE RESPECT FOR OATHS

Judge Edwards Has Something to Say About Lying Witnesses.

PERJURY IS EXTREMELY COMMON

The Spectacle of Witnesses Going on the Stand Day After Day and Flatly Contradicting Each Other Calls Forth a Severe Arraignment from the Bench—Hate of Accused Perjurers Get Off Without a Trial. Other Doings of Criminal Court.

In his charge to the jury in the case of Charles MacElroy, of Winton, accused by John Shafer of pointing a pistol, Judge Edwards yesterday caused the parties and witnesses no little trouble and created somewhat of a general sensation by speaking in very plain and unmistakable terms of the evident perjury that had been committed in the box in this case and of the all too-common commission of this crime in the quarter sessions court. He said:

"This case is another illustration to the jury and the public as to how much perjury is committed in a court of justice. I believe that there is more perjury in the trial of cases in the quarter sessions than there is in our ordinary common affairs in every day life. A man will come upon the witness stand and testify to that which he knows is not true and commits perjury because he has a purpose in view, whereas the man in the everyday affairs of life has no purpose and will not lie and is more apt to tell the truth than a man under oath."

Just how the jury viewed the case at bar will not be known until this morning, no verdict having been reached up to adjourning time.

BATCH OF THEM.

A whole raft of prisoners accused of various kinds of thieving escaped through different loopholes, Daniel Fallon, Sylvester Fallon, Patrick McHale and Henry Messett, who were charged by Detective Martin Crippen with having broken into a Delaware and Hudson car and stolen the contents of a box of cigars, the case having been settled. Nicholas Oblis and Wasi Nufrook, who were charged with robbery by Abraham Josephs were liberated because of the non-appearance of the prosecutor, James Thomas, James Cassidy and John Howley, who have been in jail since last July on the charge of robbing the hotel of William F. Erbe in Prieberg, secured their liberty by the quashing of the indictment against them because there was no direct evidence to connect them with the crime. They were being in Prieberg the day before the burglary and the next day they were spending money like princes. Their attorney, T. P. Duffy, effected their escape.

Because we print invitations for less than half what they cost engraved. BEST PERFORMANCE OF THE SEASON.

The Knickerbockers Are a Very Entertaining Aggregation of Players.

In a musical way, as well as in many other ways, the performance given at David's theatre yesterday afternoon and evening were probably the best that have been seen on that stage this season. "A Night With the Knickerbockers" introduces some very talented people and contains a varied programme, ranging from grotesque comedy to grand opera. Miss Edna Auld, known as the American Auld, is one of the brightest and most supple young women in her particular line and made decided hit in her rendition of the French and American songs.

Emma Krause, a soprano, was also greeted with a storm of applause at each appearance. The trio from "Alila," which was rendered by Miss Krause, assisted by Margaret Rosa and M. S. Whallen, was the musical feature of the programme. Margaret Rosa gave several descriptive songs that were well received, and the old Scotch favorite, John W. Willis, and his talented daughter, Estelle Willis, created merriment in a funny sketch of their own creation.

The chief vein of humor throughout the performance was kept up by John Willis and the Burke brothers, who introduced a trick duet in the last act. M. S. Whallen, a dialect actor, and Misses Aleone and La Rue, acrobats without reserve, were also very entertaining. The excellent company who earned a share of the honors.

"The Knickerbockers" will be at David's theatre the balance of the week, afternoon and evening.

REV. DR. SWALLOW ON STATE ISSUES

Prohibition State Treasurer Candidate Is Heard in Scranton.

OTHER ADDRESSES IN Y. M. C. A. HALL

Dr. Swallow and Rev. Quincy Lee Morrow Did Not Spit Words in Upbraiding the State Administration. W. W. Lathrop, Candidate for Auditor-General, and Charles L. Hawley Also Addressed the Gathering.

Rev. Dr. S. C. Swallow, of Harrisburg, and W. W. Lathrop, of Scranton, Prohibition candidates for state treasurer and auditor general respectively; Rev. Dr. Quincy Lee Morrow, of Baltimore, engaged as speaker to boom the Prohibition Good-Government campaign, and Charles L. Hawley, of this city, addressed a gathering in Young Men's Christian association hall last evening. A. G. Thomason, of this city, presided. The crowd was large and occupied nearly all the seats in the hall.

Rev. A. F. Chaffee, Leroy Wheeler, Dr. Bateson and other local Prohibitionists occupied the platform with the speakers. The meeting began with the singing of "America" by the audience, prayer by Mr. Chaffee and a Prohibition song by a quartette.

Dr. Swallow was the last speaker. He is a man of commanding presence and an easy, graceful speaker. After announcing that he represented a platform with good government as its only plank and which had nothing to do with Prohibition, the tariff or similar issues of the former campaigners, he sailed into the present administration. A portion of an outline of Dr. Swallow's address follows. It is an excerpt from a manuscript furnished The Tribune by the speaker. The entire manuscript did not contain the speaker's radical criticism of the state administration:

One of the causes of the hard times is the perversion of the law of supply and demand. Through the efforts of the monopolists and trusts of the country they employ the bosses to secure legislation in their interests, and the bosses pay them liberally for hoodwinking the people. They go farther and say that laws shall and shall not be enacted. They determine who shall and shall not be candidates for public office, from the lowest precinct to the presidency of the United States. This is so because the people love to have it so. The bosses depend largely on the fortunes of the people.

RELIGION AND POLITICS.

We must learn that in securing a permanent riddance of "boss rule," eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. It will be a long and arduous task to rid our country and neglect the most. We must look after municipal, state and national government. It is a heritage worth caring for. We must not let it go. We must look after municipal, state and national government. It is a heritage worth caring for. We must not let it go. We must look after municipal, state and national government. It is a heritage worth caring for. We must not let it go.

AROUND THE WORLD IN A DAY.

The Wildest Dreams of the Globe-Trotters More Than Realized.

When the circuit of the Earth was accomplished in eighty days the feat was considered remarkable. Next Sunday, October 17, the great Philadelphia Sunday Press proposes to take its readers on the same journey in a day.

Beginning at home, a woman who wants to be President of the United States discussed her chances; then you are transferred to Borneo and your sides will ache at the story of how a chief of that island bought a "little Sun" and made his people howl; a peep into Russia shows that the Bear is growing because Uncle Sam tricked him out of Alaska, and a hurried run through India reveals the fact that an English Savant, finding nothing else he could take, has captured an Earthquake. In the same manner the wonders of all other lands will be spread before you.

Remember these features are to be found only in next Sunday's Philadelphia Press, and that in addition will be given the other pages that have made this paper famous. Not the least will be the exclusive foot ball articles.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

Convention Opens at Buffalo--Bishop Walker's Address.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew opened at St. Paul's today. The Rev. William D. Walker, bishop of Western New York, delivered his charge to the brotherhood, in the course of which he said:

"I cannot help recognizing the possibility of peril in the brotherhood, through the brotherhood, if it ever as an organization or in any of its parochial chapters undertakes to depart from the sound law which God has given, and which lies at the foundations of its continued existence."

The bishop spoke of the benefits of organization to laymen. Striking the problems of society, he said:

"Who of us look abroad at the strange contrasts in state and estate between the wide abysses between masses and classes, without noting that the majority of the world are in solemn, grave trouble?"

Speaking of the desire of the mass, he said:

"Utopias dazzle, Bellamy's regenerated social system, or a man's altruistic strike the fancy, and the pleasing visions the brilliant fiction breed discontent. It is not the direct truth which they accept or want. It is some distorted view of life and duty. To help to the higher plane, you, my brothers, have offered yourselves. It is a serious responsibility. You are undertaking to handle that strange, sensitive thing—a human soul."

The convention was called to order at 2 1/2 o'clock this afternoon. The internal committee's report was read. It told of the work and condition of the brotherhood, and says, in part:

"In the United States there are 125 chapters, with 12,000 members; in the Dominion of Canada, 212 chapters with 1,500 members; in Scotland, 12 chapters with 100 members; in Australia, 40 chapters with 500 members; in the West Indies and South America, 16 chapters with 200 members. In the church of England, where the movement has but recently taken organized form, 20 chapters with 250 members."

James L. Houghstetter, of Chicago, has been appointed president of the brotherhood in the United States.

Branswick, Ga., Oct. 14.—Eight prisoners escaped from the county jail here about 12 o'clock last night. All of them were misdemeanors convicted and had served portions of their terms in jail. How they got the lock of their cages is a mystery. After getting out of the cage they removed bricks from the outer wall, making an opening large enough to escape. A post is still on their trail with bloodhounds.
