ROBBERIES AT TUNKHANNOCK.

Unveiling of the Monument Brings a Large Number of Crooks There. Wilkes-Barre, Oct. 20,-The dedication of the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument in Tunkhannock yesterday attracted a large number of crooks to the town, and several of their tricks are reported. Two suspicious strangers were on the Lehigh Valley train going up in the morning and they managed to relieve Mr. St. John, of this city, father of George W. St. John, also of this city, of a pocketbook containing $15 and his ticket. The theft occurred as the passengers were leaving the car at Tunkhannock station, one of the crooks suddenly turning in the doorway and rushing back to get a satchel which he had forgotten. The men were jammed together in the narrow passage-way, and in a moment Mr. St. John's pocketbook had been taken out of his hip pocket. He discovered his loss as soon as he reached the platform, but by this time the crooks had disappeared.

At 6 o'clock in the evening a stranger appeared at the postoffice window and plied the young lady with questions, when his confederate opened a side door, entered the office, and had his band on the money drawer when the clerk turned her head. She promptly

Services Open the Final Sessions of the Luthunian Alliance at Philadetphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.-Solemn requiem mass for the repose of souls of the unfortunates who were killed at Lattimer during the recent riots, and those massacred at Croze, Russia, in 1893, opened the final sessions of the Lithunian National alliance today, Rev. B. Zindzuis, of Elizabeth, N. J., was celebrant, and the sermon was preached by Rev. J. Zibris, of Waterbury, Conn. The shooting of the Hazleton miners also formed the principal topic at the business meetings, and resolutions were adopted condemning Sheriff Martin and his deputies and all who had tried to justify the affair, and appropriating $1,000 for the relief of the widows and orphans of the dead miners. The Tevyne, a monthly magazine published at Shenandoah, was made the official organ, and a badge to be worn by all the members was adopted. The action of the Russian government, which prohibits papers published here in the interest of the alliance from entering that country, was denounced. It was said that at the present time there are one hundred men in for their efforts in circulating this kind of literature.

The following officers were elected: Rev. Joseph Zilinski, of Mount Carmel, president; George Muranckas, Pittsourg, secretary; Charles Radzevizius, Shenandoah, treasurer: Rev. V. Matulaitas, Minersville, and J. Milianski, Mahanoy City, auditors.

MADMAN GUNNING FOR IMPS.

Thought He Could Cast Out Evil Spirits by Shooting.

Stroudsburg, Oct. 20,-Becoming suddenly crazed at his work as boss carenter upon large ice houses at Stauffers, Joseph Hainbock, of White Haven, was possessed of the idea that his acquaintances at Long Pond were possessed of devlls, which he was specially commissioned to cast out.

The insane man visited the sick bed of Peter Knecht, and, taking some bottles of wine from his pockets, proceeded o wash Knecht's feet and legs in order to drive out the demons.

He then purchased a gun, began to shout and exclaimed that he had to kill many of the people in the town on account of "the devils." He shot promiscuously a dozen times. No one was hurt, however, and, releading his gun Heinbock threatened to shoot, and his would-be captors fled, terror-stricken. For some time the people hid in garret and cellars in order to be out of the madman's way. Heinbock then went about on undress parade, but was finally caught and sent to his home in White Haven.
