James Bullard, of Brooklyn, Pa., years old and so well and hearty that he looks to be at least ten years younger is in this city. In 1845 he taught school in what was then known as the Bell school house in Providence. He is an uncle of D. B. Atherton and is visiting Mr. Atherton at the latter's home on North Main avenue. Mr. Bullard has not resided in Scranton since more than fifty years ag and talks very entertainingly of the changes here during that time. He has been proprietor of Bullard's hotel, or correctly speaking, Bullard's "Tay ern," in Brooklyn for nearly half a cen tury, and is, in point of proprietorship, probably the oldest public house keeper in Susquehanna county which, on account of its early settlement, is yet dotted with quaint old taverns of former days. While he has personally kept in touch with the progression of the times he has not al-lowed any alterations to be made in his tavern; its many-paned windows, panels and general style of architecture still possess the attractiveness of years ago. The place is a favorite resort for travelers and summer guests in that locality which knows no railroads.

Many fear that the Gerald Coughlin, of that city. scheme is about to collapse before the contract is satisfactorily filled and considerable talk is heard regarding the pos-sibility of legal redress, if the articles declared to be provided for exchange are not immediately forthcoming.

PROVIDENCE IS WITH THE REPUBLICANS

Rousing Mass Meeting in Company H

Armory Last Night.

Ficitz and Lowry -- Candidates Were Given a Veritable Ovation. Attendance and Euthosiasm Surpassed All Expectations.

"This is evidently not an 'off year in Providence," is the way Milton W. Lowry, leader of the Republican husting hustlers, rounded up the speechmaking at the mass meeting in Company H armory, Providence, last night, The evidences which prompted this comment were of the most pronounced type. Despite the forbidding weather the auditorum of the immense building could not seat the crowd that turned out to greet the speakers and candidates, several hundred throughout the whole meeting, standing in the rear of the hall or occupying seats in the gallery, and it was a crowd that in the matter of enthusiasm was never equalled in the North End. Some of the outbursts of cheering were so proonged that the chairman felt himself called upon to check them, that the meeting might be proceeded with. This was particularly true when District Attorney John R. Jones, the only candidate who spoke, came to the front of the stage, and again when he finished his speech. In each instance he was compelled to raise his hands beseechingly to bring an end to the ap-

NO NEED TO TALK.

That no small part of it was meant for Mr. Jones, personally, was indicated by such remarks as "Don't bother alking, John, you're all right," "You don't need to ask us to vote for you,

They can't beat you, John.' These same outbursts of approval and encouragement marked the entire meeting. The mention of any candidate's name was the signal for an uproarious outbreak. It was far beand the expectations of even the most anguine promotors of the meeting, and the old campaigners among the speakers who came from other parts of the county were quite surprised at such a big and enthusiastic meeting in an "off year." Ex-City Assessor Walter B. Christnas was chairman, and the following acted as vice presidents: Alex T. Simpson, Hon. W. J. Lewis, Select Councilman Finley Ross, Andrew Smith, Select Councilman Wade M. Finn, Thomas Shotten, Common Councilman David H. Reese, Isaac S. Jones, Harry H. McKechan, J. W. Benjamin, John McCollough, John B. Van Bergen. Richard Walsh, Morris V. Morris, William Cowles, Samuel Davis, William Chappell, School Controller George Shires and Dr. W. D. Donne.

Mr. Christmas made a brief intro-ductory speech and then followed in the order named Attorney A. A. Vosourg, Hon. John R. Farr, District Atorney John R. Jones, Attorney John F. Scragg, Attorney Fred W. Fleitz and Attorney Milton W. Lowry, It was Mr. Scragg's first appearance on the political rostrum since Bryanism turned his political bark into Perulit can waters. #### LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT.

It was a large and representative audience which gathered in the Lyceum last evening to extend formal welcome home to John T. Watkins, after his studies at the Royal Academy of Music in London. It was an audience which gathered with the earnest curiosity of personal friend-ship touching the extent to which those studies had developed the popular bari-tone's voice and methods; and it was an audience that carried from the theater THE ENTHUSIASM WAS UNBOUNDED most agreeable feelings of surprise at the very distinct and evident progress which Senting Capacity of the Big Hall Was Mr. Watkins has made.

Inadequate to Accomedate the Big it is not unfair to say that ere he left for London Mr. Watkins, although pos-Crowd--Speeches by Messrs Christ-mas, Vosburg, Parr, Jones, Scragg, but here he returns displaying an ease and sureness in tene production and a confidence and self-poise hardly to be credited as the gain of only one year's tuition. Tu Patermo" and "Dio Possenti" from Faust, there was revealed a gracefulness and an elasticity of method estifying almost extravagant commen framatic baritones awaits Mr. Watkins if he can realize his purpose to complete his foreign training seems assured. Already Scranton has gained an artist of no mean rank.

> tured naturally in Mr. Watkins, there was some disposition to re-estimate on second hearing the effects of foreign training on the staging of his Northeastern Penn-sylvania colleague at the Academy, Miss Kaiser. The numbers which she presented were calculated principally to exhibit her proficiency in colorature, notably so Pelennaise from "Mignon" Bishops "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark." With the latter was offered a flute ob igato, very daintily executed by Euge Ham, without the benefit of rehearsal, these numbers her exceptionally high oprano notes sounded clear, full and rue as the tones of a bell; and the most ifficult runs were achieved without fault r apparent effort. Miss Kaiser also in You Weber's "Ocean, Thou Mighty Mondisplayed dramatic power of a high order, but it seemed to be the opinion ast evening that her forte would be found ultimately in the decorative. It is certain that she has, as Mr. Sousa predicts, a promising future, and by Scrantonians er progress toward its realization will be ned with sympathetic interest.

> Of the remaining entertainers, Mr. Beynon and Miss Allen fully sustained their well-established reputations, and Miss Parker, the elecutionist, captured at once the enthusiastic favor of her auditors by work that was well-nigh the best in its line ever presented in Scranton. In fact, viewed from any standpoint, the concert as a gratifying success, and it is not out f place to conclude this hasty notice with he expression of a hope that it may be repeated ere the principals in it return to shotgun, one barrel of which sent its message of death to Cora Gress at Gouldsboro, Wednesday, cheated the gallows of her murderer, Achilles Felker, yesterday. At 7 o'clock his body was found in a barn adjacent to his brother's house, about six miles from Stroudsburg. The top of his head was blown off and the empty gun in the dead man's hand told a story of esperation and fear of punishment Such was the climax of a tragedy the like of which has seldom been surpassed anywhere. After struggling through swamp and woodland for twelve hours without food or rest, haggard and consciencevern, he reached the house of George Felker, his brother, shortly after nightall. The house is located in a lonely spot on the road between Sciota and Snydersville

George Felker and his wife were at upper at the time. The kitchen door suddenly swung open and the murderer walked in with his gun in his hand. His appearance frightened Mr. and Mrs. Felker. Felker sank into a hair at the table and in reply to questions the murderer explained that he had been out hunting and being near the house decided to stay for the night. The brother and his wife had not heard of the crime committed at Gouldsboro. Felker are ravenously of his supper and soon afterward went to bed. When Mrs. Felker arose yesterday norning she had occasion to go to the arn, about one hundred feet from the house. There she found Achilles Felker laying in a pool of blood on the floor. The top of his head had been blown off and the brain matter bespattered one side of the barn. The body was removed to the house and placed upon a bed. On taking off the shoes a small piece of discolored paper dropped upon the floor. Picking it up George Felker, the brother, read: If my aunt and her mother had not been so contrary I would not have killed the girl. Bury me as cheap as possible, I have sixteen dollars at Gouldsboro This was the first intimation they had of the death of Cora Gress. The body will be interred in the little cemetery at Snyderstown. The search for the fugitive was carried on during all of Wednesday night by the people of Gouldsboro. A posse of citizens heavily armed was organized and scoured the swamps and woods for miles about the settlement. County Detective Thomas Leyshon vesterday went to Gouldsboro and disovered that the murder was comnitted one hundred feet across the line dividing Wayne and Lackawanna ounties. The coroner of Wayne county, therefore, conducted an inquest. A verdict of "premeditated murder" was

CLOSING WORK OF REFORMED SYNOD

Officers Chosen and Place for Holding Next Meeting Decided Upon.

FREEMANTLE RESOLUTION

It Was Adopted After Being Revised So as to Provide for the Payment of Fifteen Cents by Each Communicant Into a Fund for the Support of the Bishop -- Report of the Committee on the Bassinger Home.

The seventeenth council of the Reformed Episcopal church of the New York and Philadelphia synod closed yesterday. The sessions have been of unusual interest, and under the expeditious direction of Bishop Nicholson but little time was lost in unnecessary discussions. The earnest devotion of the clergymen to their work of their churches was marked. Among the faces missed at the meetings was that of Rev. D. M. Stearns, the former pastor of the Grace Reformed church of this city. Rev. Sidney Usher offered the opening prayer yesterday morning. Secretary Rudolph read the minutes of the previous day's session. The committee on nominations presented the following report through Dr. Hoffman, which was adopted:

President, Bishop William R. Nichol-ion, D. D., ex-officio president of the council: vice president, D. I. Reynolds, New York; secretary, Rev. Robert L. Rudolph, New York; assistant secretary, George W. Douglas, Newark, N. J.; treasurer, Joseph Barton, Philadelphia. Standing committee—Bishop William R. Nicholson, Rev. J. Howard Smith, D. D. Philadelphia; Rev. G. W. Huntington. Newburgh, N. Y.; Rev. F. E. Rager, D. D., Philadelphia; William A. Staunton, Philadelphia; David H. Garrett, Philalelphia; Theodore R. Shear, New York. The terms of other committees and offiers do not expire until 1898. SETTLEMENT ASKED.

It was decided to notify the parishes holding unfulfilled pledges and ask for settlement. The secretary read memorials of Rev. Mason Gallagher and Dr. Brinckle, which were couched in beautiful diction. It was decided to add members to committees without a quorum in order to transact necessary

Rev. George W. Huntington, of Newburg, reported for Home Missions. He has been chairman of the committee on the Bassinger Home for five years and was re-elected despite protests on his part. His work has been greatly appreciated during this time. He made clever address, which was received with applause Rev. W. T. Sabine, D. D., for the finance committee, reported that the pledges certain and conditional, amount to $2,176, which will leave a deficit of $166. There are seven churches which have not given pledges. The financial report was taken up in detail. Among the proposed appropriations was an item for the Church of the Holy Spirit, Brooklyn. Rev. Dr. Magrath said the money would be as good as wasted unless it was donated to the pastor of church and his made long continued and strenuous efforts to make the mission successfu and have falled. The item was finally allowed. Nearly all the appropriations were scaled down by the committee, a policy which is being pursued year so as to make churches and missions eventually self-sustaining. RESOLUTION REVISED. The resolution offered by Rev. Mr. Freemantle Tuesday was reported with revision this morning by the finance committee requiring that each church pay fifteen cents for every communicant in its connection, such money to constitute a partial fund for the support of the bishop of the synod. The resolution was adopted. The finance committee recommended that the note of the synod for $500 be renewed until the next meeting of the synod or until the note can be liquidated. On motion of Rev. Dr. Hoffman this note and another of over $400 were referred to the synod trustees with power to act. The whole report was then adopted.

The special committee to whom the report of the chairman of the committee on the Bassinger Home was re ferred, presented the following report: After carefully considering the subject natter of the Bassinger Home in all its bearings, your committee respectfully suggest to the synod that in their opinion it would be wise to accept the proposition made by the owner of property adjoining the rectory at Murray Hill, N. J., and sell her our right, title and interest in the rectory provided the purposers in the rectory provided the purposers. interest in the rectory, provided the purchase price be the actual value of the property sold.

And further that in the event of such sale being consummated, the proceeds of sale be made the nucleus of an en-dowment fund for the future support of the Home, and that the standing com-mittee on the Bassinger Home make efforts to procure further contributions t such an endowment fund, and when sufficient moneys have been secured that said Home be opened to receive such of our aged and infirm clergy as actually need help.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Theodore Shear, Joseph Barton, H. Sin-neman, special committee. TRUSTEES EMPOWERED. The subject was referred to the trustees of the synod with power to act, Mr. George C. Miller was elected treasurer of the fund for aged and infirm clergy Rev. George W. Huntington made a motion that Bishop Campbell, rector of the Church of the Reconciliation. Brooklyn, be notified that an application for membership from him to the synod would be pleasing to the body. The resolution was approved. Invitations from Boston, Westchester and Philadelphia were presented to hold the next council, and it was unanimously decided to hold the next ession in Emanuel church, Philadelphia, after which the council adjourned.

The curtain is rung up on a reception given by the United States Yacht club at which a dozen comely young women and nearly as many men do something to entertain the audience Then comes the olio, the performance closing with a burlesque, "The Klondike Millionaires," in which all the women of the company appear in ***** ** ** ** * * * * * * * * * * * pretty costumes that suggest any place save the Klondike, if the hair that goes with the costumes be excepted. Among the clever specialty artists with the company are Valmore, the instrumental man, and James Dixon, who was heard to advantage in several character songs. The company will be seen at Davis' afternoons and evenings for the remainder of the week.

BUNCOERS ABROAD : BEWARE !

It is the trick of the Bryanized Demorracy this fall to make false charges against Republican methods, raise a big dust, hire Republican maicontents to organize Republican bolts and then coax individual Republicans to desert their party on the representation that "party ties needn't count for anything in an off year." By this trick. If it shall work, the Bevanites will get a foothold for a hopeful fight in national campuigns, and make just so much more trouble for McKinley. the Reguldican congress and the cause of sound nerey.

You now see through this trick. Are you going to let it work?
