ALLEGED SWINDLER ARRESTED.

Officer Moran was notified yesterday morning by Alderman Atkinson of the South Side, that a young man professing to be a student studying for the priesthood, was visiting family at the White bridge under the plea of getting money to pay for a scholarship in college. He thus sold prayer book and rosaries at a price far beyond the value, having appealed to the sympathy of those whom he visited. He was brought before the alderman when he gave his name as John Dewey, a resident of Philadelphia, seeking to earn money in order to enter a Catholic college and prepare for the priesthood; but after some questioning, he acknowledged the fraud and confessed his real motive. He claimed that he was only seeking money enough to buy a return ticket to Philadelphia, and had in two hours obtained about ten dollars. The money was returned to those who were very indignant at the swindler. He promised to leave the city at once and was discharged. He was a ready talker and had the ability to excite sympathy by his plausible story.

PURITAN DAMES.

We hear a great deal these days of the Puritan Dames, who are said to be the best of mothers, fathers, but little concerning the men of the Puritan faith. In our history, the Puritan Dames were a large part in our history. Elder Cushman wrote from Plymouth a hard contest will not advise anyone to come here who were not content to spend their time, labor and endeavors for the benefit of those who shall come after, quietly contenting themselves with such hardships and difficulties as shall fall upon them. What self-renunciation and heroic purpose of spirit is not to be seen in them, but that was no part of their puritanism. It is to the puritan women we owe so much for that spirit in our people which gives them the fortitude to endure hard and a stake life and fortune for their convictions.

BUNCOERS ABOARD: BEWARE!

It is the trick of the Bryansed Democracy this fall to make false charges against Republican methods, raise a big dust, hire Republican malcontents to organize Republican mobs and then coax individual Republicans to desert their party on the representation that "party ties needn't count for anything in an off-year." By this trick, if it shall work, the Bryansites will get a foothold for a hopeful fight in national campaigns, and make just so much more trouble for McKinley, the Republican congress and the cause of second money.

FALL WEATHER.

Why is it that the kidneys are so often affected in the fall of the year? This is a question that is often asked during the hot days of the summer, through perspiration, has thrown off from the body a great deal of excretory matter. As cold weather comes on the skin is less active because of little or no sweating, and the whole work of excretion is transferred to the kidneys. Often the kidneys fail to bear this increased strain; hence kidney diseases. A little invigoration at this critical period for the kidneys would save much sickness and many lives. Be-ry-n exactly means the requirement. Taken at the beginning of the cold season it guards the system against such accidents.

WILL THE CAT COME BACK.

This is a disturbing question among the Citizens of Denver. From the Denver News. Educated dogs, ponies, elephants, rats and innumerable other animals have exceeded long and a market, but an educated cat is something out of the ordinary. As is well known, the members of the feline species do not take kindly to performing tricks for the amusement of a gaping populace or even for their masters, preferring to pass their lives away in the pursuit of mice or in peaceful slumber. Mr. Lemuel Kingsbury, however, is the possessor of such an animal, or, rather, was, for the paragon of feline intelligence which he once owned has now disappeared. He is a resident of 2416 Sixteenth street. Mr. Kingsbury's cat was named "Rob Roy," but was generally saluted as "Robbie." He was a magnificent tom cat, tipping the scales at 12½ pounds, with a fine silky coat of fur which made his proud owner think that he could climb into a chair and put his paws over his eyes and pray devoutly, and never move until the last

DALTON.

Sunday, Oct. 24, will be the tenth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the Methodist Episcopal church. Special anniversary services will be held both morning and evening. All are invited. Don't Fail to Hear The Welsh Pipe Singers, Just Arrived from Wales, at the Lyceum Monday evening, Oct. 25th. GARBAGE AS FUEL. Description of the Process Employed in Shoreditch, England. From Self-Culture. Shoreditch, a suburb of London, has found a method of utilizing garbage for fuel in the production of electricity. Between fifty and sixty tons of refuse are brought to the dust destructor daily and tipped from the carts into the lifts. These are moved by electricity up to the tipping platform, run on rails, and emptied into bins from which the furnaces are fed. There are twelve destructor cells, or furnaces, with the large heating area of twenty-five square feet each, and also six water-tube boilers at the side, each with 1,300 square feet of heating surface. Now it is evident that dust and refuse will not burn as coal. To cook the refuse, there are motor-driven fans which cause a strong current of air to circulate. Each fan makes from 500 to 700 revolutions a minute. The hot air is drawn by suction from the top of the engine house, can be cut off, and the dust is blown and goes underneath the cells and boilers to compel the refuse to burn. The air supply is carefully regulated by valves, so that in case of coal or other easily-burned fuel being used it can be blown out of the furnace. The dust is collected and preferably burned in the daytime, whereas night is the great time for using electricity. Dust destruction continues day and night at Shoreditch, twelve men stoking in three shifts of eight hours each, four to a shift. The question was, how to save up the steam generated in the daytime for use at night. This has been achieved by the Druitt Halpin thermal storage system, by which steam passes into a cylinder and is heated to a small quantity of cold water from the boiler-pumps. This steam is supplied to the furnaces in connection with the dynamo, and by this arrangement the boiler evaporates one-third more steam than an ordinary boiler. The steam is connected with the water mains. There remains to consider the waste product of the refuse, which is reduced to about 30 per cent. of its original bulk. At present it is given away; but it will be used for making bricks, for making good sand for mortar of excellent quality for bricks, for artificial paving stone, concrete, and also for drainage and road-making before macadam is laid down. The Shoreditch works are at present considering the advisability of grinding the ash and using or selling it themselves as a subsidiary industry. There is absolutely no coal used in the destructor cells—nothing but refuse. The vestry clerk calculates that there will be an annual saving of $7,500.

amen had been said. At the word of command the intelligent Robbie would swoop on the floor and move nothing but his tail. When his master would remark to the wondering visitor that dead cats in reality never wagged their tails, Robbie's appendage would stiffen and amid the applause of the audience, Mr. Kingsbury would frequently take this wonderful creature out walking with him, and at such time the cat went in state in a grape basket, which Robbie could watch the approach of any boy or dog and make preparations for their reception. If there was anything that Rob Roy's cultured palate craved it was pancakes, and he would signal his master for them at all hours of the day by pawing at a table cloth and yawning melodiously. The creature was so tame and docile, however, when Robbie made his debut as an actor in a play at Elletts last summer. He did not run off the stage in fright, but calmly lay in a basket purring contentedly. Mr. Kingsbury is now scouting the city for his last post, whom he considers almost human.

A POLITICAL POINTER.

If you endorse the free trade and free-silver Chicago platform as the Lackawanna Democracy does, "fully and without reserve," then work and vote for Schadt, Horn, et al. If you believe in McKinley, protection and prosperity, turn these agents of Bryan down.
