UNION LABEL BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Although the board of trade has taken no definite action regarding the plan for the protection of its members against fake advertising, and which is now in the hands of the publication committee, the agitation of the matter has done little good. The plan when adopted will provide for certificates of endorsement from the board's secretary. Already the members are sending solicitors of doubtful responsibility to the secretary and asking him to pass judgment on their schemes. Some of the solicitors comply with the request, others do not. The latter class get no advertising from members of the board. The board's plan is approved by advertising agencies generally and bids fair to do away with considerable ineffective and, in consequence, costly advertising.

Mrs. Norvell, whose brilliant and earnest addresses are attracting so much attention in connection with the Young Women's Christian association, will speak this afternoon at 2:30 in Grace Reformed church. Ladies from other denominations are invited to be present at this service, which is certain to be one of great interest.

It is hoped that the new Home for the Friendless will be ready for occupancy Dec. 1. The plans for removal will be discussed at the board meeting this morning.

Probably one of the most beautiful of the new pictures this season is the famous Daguerrienne Madonna and child now to be had in exquisite bronze carbon copies at a reasonable price. The subject is unique in the treatment, the mother's face looking back over the shoulder and the lovely child with its deep, serious eyes leaning upon her arm. The total effect seems to bring out a wonderful depth of color in the background, that has a hint of the Pre-Raphaelite period.

Perhaps another picture which is destined to be among the most desired of the year is the beautiful colored copy, "Nature," after Sir Thomas Lawrence's famous painting of two children. Miss Browncombe's "Peace Hall" is as popular as last year, and is among the few really great picture studies that will remain in high favor. The exquisite "Poppy Memories," after Chautour's water color, is a dainty bit of color, while "Anticipation" is perhaps the figure subject in a carbon that will most appeal to the general taste.

Sadler's latest etching, "From London to York," is the fad among most society people just at present with its English composition, and its tribute to coaching. It is a pleasure to note that these are to be seen at the Griffin's studio this season, and represent not only the new subjects of the times, but those which are at the zenith of popularity in art centers.

Miss Margaret Hanley has added much to the interest in the evangelistic meetings this week at the Young Women's Christian association by her artistic violin music.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church will tomorrow evening give the first in the series of three suppers for the benefit of the Cuban mission. Miss Caro Dickson is in charge of the committee on this occasion. It is expected the affair will be very largely patronized. The supper of the First church are always noted for their excellence and for the expeditious service rendered by the ladies. The funds of the Cuban mission are low a special appeal is made to friends at this time to thus assist the good work.

Miss Clara Moran, of Dunmore, who leaves today for Vienna, to pursue her music studies under the famous Leschitzky, tendered a farewell reception at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Moran, Wednesday night. Those who attended the affair were: Mrs. E. C. Cannon, Mrs. James A. Manley, Misses Hoban, Shoemaker, O'Neil, Agnes Crossin, Lucy Carroll, Hortense Coyne, Elizabeth Leonard, Gene Smith, May O'Boyle, Mary Duffy, of Scranton; Anna Barrett, of Carbondale; Helen Merriman, Margaret Crowley, Nellie Moran, of Dunmore; Dr. W. M. Reedy, Dr. F. L. McGraw, Frank McAndrew, Jack Collins, Will and Leo Johnson, of Scranton; Mrs. S. H. Smith, Frank Leonard, of Scranton; Hart Lynch, of Olyphant; Edward Moran, Edward Kelly, John P. Manley, Dr. George C. Moring, John Moran and Ambrose Byrne, of Dunmore.

PERSONAL.

E. G. Courson is in New York city on business. Miss Clara Stephens, of Nicholson, visited friends in this city yesterday. Prothonotary Clarence E. Pryor has gone to Philadelphia on a business trip. Miss Jennie Browncombe, artist, of Honesdale, was a Scranton visitor yesterday. Mrs. Benjamin F. Kelley, Jr., of 516 Broadway, entertained her mother, Mrs. John N. Hummer, of Bloomsburg, Wednesday. DeWitt, the jeweler, gave a photograph exhibition to a large party Wednesday evening which was much enjoyed. George W. Johnson's laughing society was one of the pleasing features of the programme. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stansbury, of 1222 Broadway, left yesterday on a pleasure trip to the West, stopping at various places of interest until reaching Pasadena, California, where they expect to spend the winter. Mrs. William Kessler, of Seattle, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon on her way to Honesdale to visit friends. She was met at the Delaware and Hudson station by Dr. J. W. Kessler and her brother, Attorney Louis N. Gramba, of this city.

FINAL ESTIMATE OF COST

Amount That Will Have to Be Paid for the Mulberry Street Asphalt Pavement.

The final estimate of the cost of paving Mulberry street has been finished by City Engineer Phillips and is ready to be presented at the next meeting of the joint auditing committee of council. The estimate involves the actual work performed by the contractors, the Columbia Construction company, and upon it will be based the final payment to that firm. A total cost of $35,554.22 is shown and is divided as follows: By paving assessment against property owners, $32,681.21; By paving assessment against Scranton Railway company, 450.24; Asphalt and gratings charged against Sixteenth ward, 51.69; For relaying curb, 1,960.25; Inspection and printing, 291.32.

Total, $35,554.22. The foregoing is the total cost to the city and property owners and is much less than the original estimate of the city engineer on account of narrowing the width of the street and the laying of double tracks by the Traction company on several blocks which contained only a single track when the original estimate of the city engineer was made.

An outlay of $56,754.22 was really made in laying the asphalt and in the incidental improvements. At cost the Scranton Railway company $4,896 to pave with vitrified brick between its tracks and at least $10,000 more for its grading and double track laying. This big sum of over $60,000 was a boon to the city and the individuals and firms who supplied the materials.

A comparatively small amount found its way outside the city. The labor was home labor, the brick used by the Traction company was purchased here, as was all the material used in construction by the contractors, excepting, of course, the asphalt and some of the mixing materials.

WORTH BEARING IN MIND.

A Suggestion Which Will Help You to Make Next Sunday Enjoyable. If you wish to thoroughly enjoy next Sunday, November 8, and every day does, you should begin the day by reading the great Philadelphia Sunday "Press." The smoke of the political battles will have cleared away by that time and the Sunday "Press" will be all the more entertaining in consequence. There will be special features of interest to everybody on every page, and these will all be the work of leaders in the line of public thought represented. The Philadelphia Sunday "Press" is always the greatest of home Sunday newspapers, and the issue of next Sunday will be greater than ever. You had better order next Sunday's "Press" today.

NEW HOSPITAL IS INSPECTED

Several Hundred Persons Visit the Hahnemann Institution.

TO RECEIVE PATIENTS NEXT WEEK

Its Doors Were Open to the Public Yesterday Afternoon and Evening. It is a Thoroughly Equipped and Modern Hospital and Can Accommodate from Twenty-Three to Thirty Patients—Visitors Received by the House Committee.

The new Hahnemann (homoeopathic) hospital, established in the Blair homestead property at the corner of Washington avenue and Mulberry street, which was described in detail in Wednesday's Tribune, was open for public inspection yesterday afternoon from 2 o'clock to 6 o'clock and in the evening from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock. Several hundred persons were shown through the establishment by the house committee of ladies and other ladies who assisted. Nothing of the purposes of the institution is indicated by an exterior view; the building and its surroundings look much the same as if it were occupied as a residence, but the interior offers ample evidence of its object. No detail has been overlooked in turning the place into a thoroughly equipped and modern hospital. It will be ready to receive patients next week. A large quantity of cut flowers and potted plants were used in beautifying the interior yesterday.

LADIES RECEIVED.

Visitors were received by the following house committee: Mrs. A. M. Decker, chairman; Mrs. William T. Smith, Mrs. Henry Bell, Mrs. Charles H. Welles, Mrs. T. H. Watkins, Mrs. M. H. Folgate, Mrs. F. P. Christian, Mrs. F. M. Peck, Mrs. Samuel Stevens, Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Mrs. George Keller, Mrs. W. H. Pierce. The committee was accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Boies, Mrs. C. D. Simpson, Mrs. Thomas E. Jones, Mrs. George B. Smith, Mrs. L. S. Oakford, Mrs. George Sanderson, Mrs. J. Atkins Robertson, Mrs. E. A. Clark, Miss Genevieve Richmond.

For the reception of patients early next week, it was announced that the hospital was ready. One department, the operating room, is, however, incomplete. The medical staff has arranged for the use of appliances and equipment absolutely necessary, but there are many things needed which only money can procure and the officers make an appeal to their homoeopathic friends for funds.

Miss Minnie Yardley, of Philadelphia, is the superintendent of nurses. During next week she will be joined at the institution by Miss Ewing, of Philadelphia, Miss White, of Green Ridge, and Miss Tiffany, of Nicholson, the other nurse. Miss Yardley was secured from the Hahnemann hospital in Philadelphia where she spent three years.

Mrs. George Sanderson and Mrs. M. L. Jackson of the latter of Philadelphia, furnished the private rooms for patients on the lower and second floors respectively. A white and gold coat in the children's ward was given by Mrs. Van der Vliet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Vandling. Other individual donations were made to several departments of the institution. A finely executed portrait of Hahnemann, the founder of homoeopathy, presented by Photographer Griffin, is hung in the hallway.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the hospital association: President, Mrs. H. M. Boies; first vice president, Mrs. C. D. Simpson; second vice president, Mrs. W. T. Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. H. Folgate; recording secretary, Miss Genevieve Richmond; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Bell. Dr. F. D. Browder has been the physician in charge of the preparatory work and will be considered the chief medical officer until Tuesday at least. On that day a meeting of the board of directors will be held in the morning in the board room. At that meeting a report will be made by the homoeopathic physicians who are to hold a meeting this evening in the office of Dr. H. B. Ware. The physicians will at this meeting come to a definite decision on the staff to be recommended to the directors.

STARTED FOR THE KLONDIKE.

Editor J. A. Lipinski Left This City Yesterday.

J. A. Lipinski, formerly editor and publisher of the Polish weekly, the "Tygodnik," of Scranton, has started for the Klondike gold fields. He takes the overland British northwest route, going on the Canadian Pacific to Calgary and thence to Edmonton, the terminus of the railroad, which is 1,600 miles from Dawson City. He will then follow the route traveled by the Hudson Bay company's employees for many years which is as follows: Edmonton to Peace River crossing Peace River to Fort Nelson, on Nelson river to the Laird and along the Laird to Fort Francis; thence forty miles through the mountains to Petty river to Fort Selkirk. From the latter point to Dawson City he will travel along the Lewis river. Mr. Lipinski will be the Tribune's representative in the gold fields and will furnish a series of letters for publication in this paper describing life along the Klondike as it actually exists and also giving a careful estimate of the amount of gold being mined and the advantages that region offers.

To my Friends. As I am unable to bid good bye to all I take this opportunity of extending you a farewell. Yours faithfully, J. A. Lipinski.

FOR FELLOWSHIP, NOT FOR GAIN.

Object the Scranton Christian Endeavor Union Has in View.

The new plan of the Scranton Christian Endeavor union to have young ladies take charge of the street cars and collect fares of the traveling public is not simply a money making affair. The prime object of this, as well as of all true Christian enterprise, is to interest the community at large in the work of the union for Christ and His church, and to promote interdenominational good fellowship and Christian unity. Consequently over a hundred young ladies, wearing caps and badges, showing their authority, will make headquarters at the Young Men's Christian association Thursday, Nov. 11, and will proceed thence in turn to the office of the Scranton Traction company, and be assigned to the various cars, which traverse the network of our populous city. At the same time other groups of young men and women will congregate at the prominent street corners of the city and its suburbs and there solicit passengers to ride upon the cars. The ladies will assist the regular conductors in collecting fares two or three hours in the forenoon and the same length of time in the afternoon, the conductors ringing up all fares and accounting for them at the office as usual.

In the evening there will be a grand Christmas Eve concert music meeting in the First Presbyterian church, on Washington avenue, which, of course, will attract large crowds to ride on the cars. The committee of three appointed by the executive board has completed the arrangements for the evening mass meeting. Rev. Isaac Lansing, D. D., pastor of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church, will deliver the address.

A CHINCHILLA MYSTERY.

Did Cateb Bates Fall or Was He Pushed?

Cateb Bates, whose two ankles are sprained, was brought from Chinchilla yesterday afternoon in the ambulance of the Lackawanna hospital. He was placed upon a cot in the accident room, where he will remain for some weeks. How he got his peculiar injuries is a mystery. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a telephone message received at the hospital called for an ambulance "right away" as a man had been seriously hurt. When Dr. Newbury reached Chinchilla he was directed to a house standing back in a quarry on a lonely part of the road. Dr. Newbury entered and was escorted by a woman to a room on the second floor. There Bates lay upon a bed. He was carried outside and on the way down told his story. He said that at about 11 o'clock yesterday morning while he was sleeping in his room on the second floor he was suddenly awakened by a woman. "It sounded to me as if someone was being hurt," he said, "I sprang out of bed and rushed in a half dazed way toward the direction of the sound."

It appears that there are two doors, one in the rear of the house, another on the second floor opening into Bates' room. This latter door was formerly approached by a ladder which was removed a few days ago. Bates, according to his story, upon hearing the cry for help rushed blindly out of the open door in his room. He dropped 15 feet to the ground.

FUNERAL OF MISS JENNIE WEHRUM.

Simple but Impressive Services at the Home of Her Sister.

The funeral of Miss Jennie Wehrum, whose death occurred on Wednesday morning, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of Miss Wehrum's sister, Mrs. Alfred Ernst, on Webster avenue. The services were beautifully simple and impressive, consisting of two songs by a quartette comprising Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Atchey, Mr. Wooler and Mr. Watkins, and a brief sermon and prayer by Rev. Dr. C. M. Griffin. The pallbearers were: Prof. Will Schmitt, Wallace Tuth, August Piehl, Frank McGrath, Charles Kiesel and Wesley Maycock. At Dunmore cemetery a band of school children who had been Miss Wehrum's pupils in No. 3 school, arranged the exquisite and abundant floral offerings and as the casket was lowered, individually placed flowers upon it.

SAW CUT HER NOSE

Painful Injury to a Young Daughter of James Campbell.

A saw in the hands of James Campbell, of Pittston avenue, was the means of severely injuring his four-year-old daughter Wednesday night. Not knowing of her presence in the room, the preparatory work and will be considered the chief medical officer until Tuesday at least. On that day a meeting of the board of directors will be held in the morning in the board room. At that meeting a report will be made by the homoeopathic physicians who are to hold a meeting this evening in the office of Dr. H. B. Ware. The physicians will at this meeting come to a definite decision on the staff to be recommended to the directors.

SERIOUS STABBING IN THE NORTH END

Quarrel Over Dominoes Leads to a Possible Murder.

VICTIM IN A CRITICAL STATE

John Orgill, Ex-Constable of the First Ward, Plunges the Blade of a Wicked Looking Knife into the Abdomen of Robert Elliott—Both Men Are Over 50 Years of Age—Quarrel in Davis' Saloon.

In a North End saloon row last night Robert Elliott, a miner, was stabbed in the abdomen, perhaps fatally, by John Orgill, another miner. The latter is under arrest and the victim is lying in a precarious condition at his home on North Main avenue. The incident is a story of liquor, a game of dominoes, a quarrel and a jab with a long bladed knife.

The stabbing occurred in Davis' saloon on North Main avenue. The men in company with others had been drinking and playing dominoes during the evening. At 10:30 o'clock the two principals in the affair were slightly intoxicated and began to quarrel. High words led to a challenge to fight out the dispute today and the party stood up alongside the bar while wrangling over a deposit of money to bind Elliott and Orgill to the match. Elliott made some shuffling remark and Orgill, who stood behind him, slapped his face. Elliott turned quickly about. As he did so Orgill gave a lunge against him and Elliott sank with a groan to the floor. He clasped his hands against his stomach and exclaimed: "I'm done for, boys."

A DEADLY WEAPON.

Orgill stood above the prostrate man and held in his hand a wicked looking knife containing two blades, the larger of which was opened and bloody. The blade was three inches and a half long, pointed and sharp, a deadly instrument if used by a man of Orgill's strength.

Eyewitnesses rushed upon Orgill and disarmed him. Messengers were dispatched for medical aid and the police. Lieutenant of Police Spelman responded and Orgill was locked in the North End station house. No other arrests were made.

Dr. W. D. Donne came to attend the injured man. It was found that the cut had passed through the outer walls of the abdomen and had possibly penetrated the stomach. He was taken to his home at 279 North Main avenue. He is 51 years of age and married.

Orgill is 67 years of age, married and lives on Throop street near the Delaware and Hudson railroad tracks. He is an ex-constable of the First ward. Dr. Donne and Dr. John J. Sullivan were at Elliott's bedside until 1:30 o'clock this morning. They consider the wounded man's chances for recovery very doubtful. The cut was found to be two inches deep.
