Social and PERSONAL

Already much attention is being given among society folk to plans for the gayest hollday season in the history of Scranton. The Yale Alumni banquet is to be one of the great events of that period and will be held in the assembly room of the board of trade, January 3. The dinner will be served by the Scranton club, It will be the most elaborate affair of the kind yet held in this city.

The main attraction of holiday week of course the great New Year ball which will surpass almost anything ever given in Scranton or indeed in region. This will be preceded by a large dance given by Mrs. Jermyn on the 27th. Another by Mrs. Henry Belin on the 25th, while on the 30th Colonel and Mrs. H. M. Boles will give a great coming out dance for their elder daughter, Miss Ethel. These, together with the New Year ball on the Mat the Vale dinner Jan. 3rd, the assembly dance at the Bicycle club on the 4th, and numerous informal teas and luncheons will make a merry week for the younger set and the holiday guests who will be in the

This afternoon, a rival to the Country club and in fact all outdoor attractions, will be the "Haknemann Hospital Chrysanthemum show" when Colonel and Mrs. H. M. Boies will throw open their splendid conservator-les to the public for the benefit of the furnishing fund of the operating rooms. This is a rare privilege as those he magnificent collecwho have etion wir __orm. The visiting hours will be from 2 to 6 in the afternoon and from 8 to 10 in the evening. Twenty-five cents admission will be charged.

orilliant social events at Pittsburg attendant upon the "Founders' Day" celebration gave opportunity for an exemplification of the enormous popularity of autumn's favorite, the chrysanthemum. The Pitcairn enter-tainments at "Cairnearque," perhaps of the finest private residences in the country, were almost exclusively chrysanthenium affairs in effect, although the dining room at the dinner on Wednesday evening was adorned with many hundreds of gorgeous American Beauty roses, where instead of dinner cards a lovely satin bound booklet stamped with the seals of the United States and Pennsylvania was laid at each of the thirty-six covers. The dinner service was of gold and Sherry of New York had the menu in charge. In every other part of the palatial home, chrysanthemums were seen. An avenue of palms, eight feet and more in height, led to the reception rooms where one of the notable features a wonderful bank of the famous pink chrysanthemums known as "Mrs Robert Pitcairn" and named for the hostess formed a magnificent back ground for Mrs. McKinley who seated in a gold and brocade chair in of a great pier glass in the Louis Quinze room greeted the throng of guests at the afternoon reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shryer entertained informally at cards Thursday

Miss Mabel Harding, of Binghamton, was the guest of Scrunton friends this week. A dinner was given in her honat the Nash, Thursday evening by Mrs. Katherine Wilcox.

Mr. T. H Watkins entertained a company of guests at his handsome offices in the board of trade building on election night where returns were heard with much interest. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Simpson, Miss Downs and Miss Wagner, of Germantown, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Simpson, Miss Welles, Miss Hunt, Miss Anderson, Miss Arch-Miss Elizabeth Howell, Miss Huntington, Messrs. F. P. Fuller, Bliss, Blair and Everett Hunt.

The November number of Form, the New York magazine which is devoted to chronicling the doings of the best society east of the Mississippi. contains a well executed portrait of Miss Augusta Archbald. The following notice accompanies the picture; Miss Augusta Archbald is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Archball and one of the most popular girls of Scranton. Reared in the midst of luxury, she has enjoyed many advantages, of which her mind gives ample proof. At present Miss Archbald is touring through Russia. She is much missed in the social functions of the J early autumn."

Miss Archbald and Mr. A. G. Hunt played a match against Miss Belin and Mr. J. M. Oakford at the golf links Thursday, winning by three holes.

Messrs, J. H. Brooks, Huntington Reynolds and Fuller will go to Binghamton today to play at the opening the links of the Broome County Country club. The club has recently re-organized with the following offl-President, Cyrus Strong; vice president, Ferdinand La Motte; secreary, F. J. Bayless; treasurer, Z. B Phelps: board of governors, Cyrus Strang, F. La Motte, F. J. Bayless Willis Sharpe Kilmer, M. J. Corbett, F. D. Weed and F. Percy Knapp.

Mrs. C. D. Simpson entertained a luncheon yesterday. A number of the guests are interested in the Homocopathic hospital and a pleasant chat regarding the work to be carried on in that institution was enjoyed. Covers were laid for twelve. They were: Mrs. Pelin, Mrs. J. A. Scranton, Mrs. Willard, Mrs. A. M. Decker, Mrs. E. P. Kingsbury, Mrs. Richard Matthews, Mrs. E. S. Moffat, Mrs. James Archoald, Mrs. C. H. Welles, Mrs. J. P Dickson, Mrs. L. S. Oakford.

Miss Olive Mac Intosh entertained a number of friends with whist on Thursday evening.

The marriage of Miss Carolyn V. Wolfe to Mr. E. G. Worden was an event of much interest in Elm Park church Wednesday evening. The bride was given away by Mr. William Connell. The ceremony was performed by Dr C. M. Giffin, assisted by Dr. W. H. Pearce, of Wilkes-Barre. Miss Powers, of Washington, D. C., was maid of honor; Miss Olive Mac Intosh and Miss Goldacker, of Syracuse, were brides-maids; Mr. O. S. Parker, of Wilkeswas best man. The ushers were: Prof. G. H. Fisher, of Shelburn "alls, Mass.; Dr. A. D. Preston, of Holyoke, Mass.; Messrs. Henry and Hugh Wolfe, of Syracuse, N.Y.; W. R. Pryor. Wilkes-Barre; W. E. Davis, esq., Messrs Ezra Scott and A. L. Truax, of Scottaton. Mr. J. Alfred Pennington played the wedding music, Mr. Alfred Wooler sang "Oh Promise Me." At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at th future home of Mr. and Mrs. Worden, on Pine street.

The party of young ladies, chaperon-Miss McCartney, and in which are three fair Scrantonians, Miss Simpson, Miss Winton and Miss Augusta Archbald, sailed from Naples on the Ems yesterday. They are expected to reach New York on the 17. The tourists have been a long way from home and Huyler's for a long time, so a cablegram imploring their friends to remit ten pounds of Huyler's bon bons on the outgoing steamer which is to bear them homeward, met with the desired response and no doubt at this minute the delectable confectionery is being thoroughly enjoyed by the American party.

Miss Minnie B. Wademan, of Dalton. very pleasantly entertained her friends "Hallowe'en" party last Saturday evening. Those present were: Harry Watts and Harry Metzgar, of Scranton; Loura Woodward, Elsie Oakley, Clara Mott, Lena Northup, Homer Northup, Northup, Henry Griffin, Bert Griffin and Oscar Wolfe, of Glenburn; Elida Schoonover, Edith Carlton, Lizzie Smith, Ruth Ball, May Wells, W. H. Smith, Will Slade, D. C. Stevens, Clarence Finn.Ed. Carlton and Merton Purdy, of Dalton.

MUSICAL NOTES.

At the evening service in the Second Presbyterian church the following music will be used:

Organ Prelude, PastoraleWhitney
Anthen"God'sBountiful Kindness"
Full Choir. Offertory Selection for Men's Voice 'ostlude Whitney

It is said that Organist George H. Carter expects to give a recital in this town in the course of a few weeks. Mr. Carter has been shaking his genealogical tra and has discovered that the proper way to spell his name is "Cartier. Mr. Chance and Mr. Charles Doersam will go to New York on Thursday to hear Joseffy and Eraye.

Mr. Fred Widmayer will return from the New England Conservatory in the course of a few weeks, where he has been studying the violit

Messrs, Weelet and Thomas have b requested to sing the duet, "I Feel Thy Holy Spirit," before the Epworth league convention in Elm Park church on Mon-day evening. The duet was rendered on Sunday evening last by Messrs, Wooler and Thomas and was greatly admired.

Mr. J. T. Watkins will sing Taylor's "Beautiful Land on High," and "Stood Outside the Gate" tomorrow night

Mrs. M. J. Grambs, formerly Miss Bianche Kester, the talented vocalist of Honesdale, is expected to return from Scattle, Wash., this week.

The great demand for Alfred Wooler's beautiful sacred song, "Land So Fair," for tener and soprano, has caused the publishers, Oliver Ditson & Co., to issue it also in another key, for baritone or mezzo soprana. The edition in the key is just out. just out.

After three successful seasons of chamber concerts it would seem nardly necessary again to call the attention of our subscribers and the public to their quality or their aim. The hope that they might become a permanent factor in the winter's musical life has been fre-quently expressed. Acting, therefore, upon this desire we have planned a similar series for the present season. The programmes will have the same general structure as those o. ...e previous years. But in addition to the usual trio and quartette numbers, the performance of we or more quintettes, will, it is hoped add still further to their interest and enjoyment. The subscription price re-mains the same, $5 for five season telkets. This gives to each subscriber five re-served scats for each concert. No sub-scription can be received for less than five tickets, but any subscriber may dis-pose of such part of his ticket as he may not need in whatever manner he pleases. Subscriptions may be sent to Theodore Hemberger, 415 Adams avenue Willis Conant, 445 Quincy avenue, or R. W. Neubauer; business manager, 642

It will no doubt be a delight to many to learn that the famous Kreutzer son-ata for violin and plane will be played by Messrs. Hemberger and Conant at one of the coming series of chamber concerts. These artists have been heard so few times in concert that this is only the realization of past wishes and re-quests of subscribers. At the request of many the Schubert quintette, which was so well received during the last series, will be repeated. Another quintette by Schuman will also be heard. Mr. Rip pard, whose 'cello playing astonished se many at the Symphony orchestra concert, is rehearsing with Mr. Conant fuet for 'cello and plano, which they will play at one of the chamber concerts

Willard Bunnell, who has recently en engaged as a member of St. Luke's choir, is probably one of the finest tenors of Northeastern Pennsylvania, Mr. Bunell was born near Montrose, and was first engaged musically as solo tenor of St. Paul's Episcopal choir of that town, where he sang until entering Bucknell During his course at the university was leader of the Bucknell Glee club, and his voice and work as a leader aided materially in the success of the club. Mr. Bungell was Mr. Bunnell was also a prominent mem-ber of the foot ball club of the college, and has been engaged to coach the club this season. He possesses a voice that is powerful as well as remarkably sweet nd which is under fair cultivation. Mr. Bunnell came to Scranton a few weeks ago and entered the office of Warren & ago and entered the office of warren as Knapp as a law student. Since joining the choir at St. Luke's he has been at-flicted by a severe cold, and has been unable to do justice to himself. Before the winter is over, however, it is likely that Scranton musical people will hear more of the Susquehanna county tenor,

Many inquiries are being made by the friends of the Symphony society regard-ing its new pian for having concerts ased each season by subscription. As been published before, the subscription price is but $5. This gives to every subscriber two tickets for every concert in the season and also makes the sub-scriber is because. scriber an honorary member of the so-ciety. A city of the size and importance Scranton needs just such an organization as the Symphony society. The programme for the first concert presents a nost inviting number of compositions There is not a number which, even by the most unmusical, could be called un nteresting or too clastcal to be understood. NOT ON ALL BILL OF FARE. Dishes Odd to Us -- Elphants' Legs and Bombay Ducks.

From the New York Press. Some people go through life upon a diet of chops, steaks and roast beef, varied with mutton and ham. They don't know what good things there are in the world to eat, and, to tell the truth, they would not eat the things that many consider delicacies even if they did know about them.

It is highly probable, for instance that there are people in New York who have never even heard of that delicacy, roast elephant's leg. part of the elephant is such good eating as the first joint of the leg below the knee, when it is properly prepared. A hole three feet deep should be dug and filled with live coals. As soon as the sides of the hole are baked hard take out the coal ands put in the elephant's foot and the joint. Then cover with dirt, tightly packed, and build a blazing fire over it. The dish will be cooked in three hours, when it can be dug up. You will find a gelatinous mass, which is excellent eating. Few restaurants in this city keep it on the bill of fart, however, and it is difficult to prepare it properly at home.

Old Apicius of Rome has left us the recipe for a dish whch he invented and named a "tetrapharmacon." You take a gamy peacock, a freshly-killed pheasudder and hock of a wild sow a nightingale, some pieces of fat pork or other fat meat, the hearts of chick ons, and the livers of geese, some oysters, fruits to suit the taste, spices and two or three kinds of flavorings. These ingredients should be baked in a dish with a bread pudding spread over the top. Nightingales are a little scare at this season of the year, but any one wishing to have a "tetrapharmacon" for dinner can get most of the other ingredients at the market. The Huns of history were a people with ideas of their own regarding food and the way it should be prepared. They had no use for the dishes of the Romans, but used to eat their meat raw, merely heating it by carrying it for a while strapped on their horses' backs under the saddles. To this day the peasants on the Norwegian coast are fond of a meal of herring and sour

When Thackeray first ate an American oysfer he said it seemed like eat ing raw baby, and another distinguished Britisher, when introduced by Daniel Webster to that glorious dish, clam chowder, said: "I have eaten worse things, but not often, not often. Gastronomic likes and dislikes are after all, matters of place and time People who have been in the far East will never think a curry complete unless it is served with "Bombay duck." A Bembay duck is a little dried fish which adds mightily to the delights afforded by a curry. They can be bought generally at one of the big houses of New York. grocery This house first imported the "Bombay duck" to satisfy the appetites of naval officers who had been on duty at the China station and longed for "ducks" with curry.

Religious News.

The pasters and many of the conservative church people of the city do not look with especial favor on the action of the City union with regard to "manning" the street cars with young women on Thursday next in order to raise the Christian Endeavor debt. The sum of money needed, $200, is deemed scarcely sufficient to warrant such an innovation as is proposed, and while they do not wish to discourage any method of progress adopted by the Endeavorers, they still question this mode of securing money, and feel that it is scarcely in accord with the sentiments of the majority of the Scranton societies. Very few mothers sanction the plan of allowing their daughters to collect fares on street cars and the proposition to send young girls out to stand on street corners and solicit patronage for the car traffic seems to meet with much disapproval. The argument is made by many of those who raise objections that Scranton street car patronage is such in some directions that a young girl is decidedly out of place in attempting the work assigned her by the City union. Young men of all classes. are frank in stating that they would not permit their sisters to assume this role, and a number of central city societies have expressed their determination to not send representatives to promote the project. While none but the most praiseworthy motives can be imputed to those at the head of the movement it is believed by many that the same results could be attained by other methods.

The Rev. Horace Peckover, who has eccepted the pastorate of the Puritan Congregational church of North Scranton, arrived yesterday morning with his family from Toronto, Canada, and will make his home, for the present, on School street. Mr. Peckover was formerly a missionary in the West Indies and while there did vallant service for the cause of Christianity. While on a tour through this region he saw an opportunity to accomplish great work for the church, and decided to locate here. Mr. Peckover will assume charge of his new flock tomorrow, and will preach in the morning at 10,30 and 7. p. m. The church choir, comprising thirty voices, under the direction of Professor Isaac Jones, will render special music.

The following topics will be considred by Rev. J. B. Sweet on Sundays following tomorrow: Nov. 14, "His Name Shall be Called Wonderful;" Nov. 21, "Counsellor;" Nov. 28, "The Mighty God;" Dec. 5, "The Everlasting Father;" Dec. 12, "The Prince of Peace;" concluding Sunday evening. Dec. 19, with a sermon on "What Think Ye of Christ," Matthew 22: 42.

On Wednesday evening of next week Young People's society of Soul's church, on Pine street, will hold Silhouette social, which will prove a very instructive as well as amusing entertainment. The pastor, Rev. F. W. Whippen, with much difficulty and patience has secured a perfect profile of all the members of his congregation by means of a shadow thrown on paper tacked on the wall, which is traced with pencil, and afterward cut out with a knife. This profile will be placed on the walls of the church with black background and will be auctioned off by guess. Miss Miess, who is securing quite a local reputation as a palmist, will be present and give an exhibition of the art of palmistry. Rereshments of ice cream, cake and coffee will be served and every one is welcome.

Mrs. Norvell, who has been conductng a series of devotional meetings under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A during the past week, will continue hese services today and tomorrow. A noon meeting will be held today at the rooms and another at the same place at 7 o'clock this evening. Sunday wil! mark the final appearance of Mrs. Norvell. Two services will be held. The first in the Second Presbyterian church at 3.30; the second at 7.30, a farewell service, in the Elm Park Methodist church. Special music has been arranged for each of the above services. Mrs. Norvell is a decidedly interesting personality. She is intelligent, earnest and thoroughly spiritual. Her heart is in her work. During her stay in the city she has en- McLeod, D. D., pastor. THE MARGIN OF SAFETY. The Way to Make Elevators Absolutely Safe to Their Users. The margin of safety is naturally extremely generous in elevators, and there are various forms of safety clutches, many of them automatic in their action; but the experience of New York goes to show that none of these can be a full substitute for the aircushion in the pit. The action of this device in insuring safety is almost magical. In some experiments with such an elevator-well in a fomous and altitudinous store the car was taken to fall with the brake off. An eye-witness of the experiment says:

"It fell to the top of the pit with tremendous force, and struck the ushion of air with a sound as if it had struck soft earth; it seemed to stop suddenly at the top of the pit and slowly setled down to the bottom, and Death in the Ballot Box, but It was clear that the pit was too small at the top; that the slope of the sides was too slight; that if the escape of air had been freer at the impact the 12 m.; Epworth league, 6.15 p. m.; led by stopping would have been sensibly Nellie Young. Preaching at 11 a. m. and gradual. The stop was really gradual, as was shown by the fact that a half a dozen eggs in a paper bag (that I had put on the elevator floor for the trial) survived the fall without injury.

INTERVIEWING MR. EDISON.

From the New York Sun Mr. Edison is usually very ready to tell newspapermen about his new inven-tions at the proper time, but he expects that the men who are sent to interview him shall know something in a general way about the subject on which they ask him to talk. He dislikes to have the in terviewer make many notes. years ago a very green interviewer, who didn't know the difference between a voit and a dyname, asked Mr. Edison to give bim some information for a newspaper that was new and freakish. The interviewer pulled out a large new notebook that he had purchased for the occasion and asked Mr. Edison a leading question. The Wizard looked at him in surprise, and, instead of replying, he said: "Young man, you are inexperienced in this business, and my time is valuable. If I talked to you you would not be able to publish it straight. I discovered long ago that a man's standing on a paper might be judged inversely by the number of notes that he took during an interview. Your preparations frighten me and the size of your notebook appals me."

A LITTLE BOY'S LAMENT. . T. Worden in Sloux City Tribune 'm going back down to grandpa's, I won't come back no more To hear the remarks about my feet A-muddyin' up the floor. hey's too much said about my clothes, The scoldin's never done. I'm goin' back down to grandpa's, Where a boy kin hev, some fun

I due up ha'f his garden A-gittin' worms fer balt; He said he used to like it When I laid abed so late He said that pie was good fer boys, An' candy made 'em grow, Ef I can't go to grandpa's I'll turn pirate first you know.

He let me take his shotgun, An' loaded it fer me; The cats they hid out in the barn, The hens flow up a tree had a circus in the yard With twenty other boys-I'm goin' back to grandpa's

He didn't make me comb my hair But once or twice a week. He wasn't watchin' out fer words I didn't orter speak; He told me stories 'bout the war And Injums shot out west, Oh, I'm goin' down to grandpa's, I'or he knows wot boys like bost.

Where they ain't afraid of noise,

But had to stop an' cough; He rode my bleycle and laughed Bec'us' he tumbled off; He knew the early apple trees Around within a mile Oh, grandpa was a dandy, An' was "in it" all the while.

bet you grandpa's lonesom I don't care what you say; seen him kinder cryin When you took me away. When you talk to me of heaven, Where all the good folks go, I guess I'll go to grandpa's, An' we'll have good times. I know,

A VALEDICTORY AS TO THE FACE

Men Who Wonder Why They Are So Beautiful.

OTHERS WHO WISH IMPROVEMENTS

Letter from a Man Who Wants a Rest -- A Wife Who Is Too Enthusinstic Over the Beautifying Process -- Independence the Result of Facial Massage.

A puzzling thing connected with this 'beautifying" subject is that men seem actually interested in the matter, Whether they disguise their own personal interest in apparent anxiety to renovate wives, daughters and sisters, is not easily determined, but at any rate they ask many questions concerning facial massage. It is my private opinion that a large number of men in this city might be found during their hours of solitude, carefully "making up" before the mirror, endeavoring to eradicate crows' smile prettily and rub out the first development of a double chin.

One man writes to ask if I know of anything that will reduce redness of the nose. With the exception of leaving off tippling, it is difficult to recommend a sure cure for this facial After some research I find that you-I mean a man-may soak his nose in a preparation of ichthyol, something or other with a consequent improvement.

Another wants to get a recipe for omething that will cause his beard to be silky and soft. Still another anxiously inquires whether I can recommend any of the people who profess to being able to reclaim hopeless noses and pare down superfluity of ear or chin. I really don't feel competent to give advice on this matter. In fact always supposed that men considered themselves so nearly perfect in feature and disposition that no radical steps were needed for a change, but it seems I was laboring under a hallucination. One of the letters received ran as follows:

My Dear Saucy Bess: Will you be so kind as to let up on this cauty business? We've had enough of t. In fact in one family we've had alogether too much. My wife always looks well enough. She isn't any great beauty and never was though 1 probably told her so when we were first married Anyhow she says I did, and maybe I did. All men are fools at some time in their ca-reer, but there's no call for her ta start in primping and fussing with her face at her time of life. Instead of going to bed like a respectable person she is possessed to sit up nights and maul her face and by the time she is done mauling, greas-ing, pulling and pinching her countenance she is a holy show. I never expected to live to see a wife of mine per-form in such a manner.

Since she has an idea that she's going to renew her youth, she's got very inde-pendent. When I remonstrated with her the other night about letting the gas flare in my eyes when I wanted to sleep she assured me that I was afraid my wife would look so fresh and young that I'd be taken for her father, and then went serenely on with her greasing operations until I felt like pitching a lot of stuff

she bought out of the window. This thing must be stopped. She's taken to setting before the glass most of the time and when I said something to this effect, she coolly remarked that it was in imitation of me, since I have a glass before me entirely too frequently— but of a different kind. If there's anything I can't stand it's insubordination to the top of the building and allowed in the family and for pity's sake give us a rest on the face question. Just as long as you persist in writing a lot of stuff about making homely folks beautiful she'll continue trying everything you recommend and I shall have to see her going round looking like a greased pig. Why don't you jump on the woman's rights business as you used to, and not get foolish women into the notion that it's any use to try to look fascinating after they're married? If you'll start on a new tack next week you'll Martyr Husband. Wenry Perhaps your faces are all tired after reading so much about the manipulation necessary to the contenance beauty. Perhaps they need a rest, and if a dissertation on care of the hands is taken up next it may be of interest. I know a sure cure for finger biting-that disgusting habit, which is almost as bad as chewing tobacco. By the way, I can now recommend an excellent skin food, if any one cares to know of such an article.
