Having attended several of the mu cales of the past season of '96, I am able to advance a criticism on that one which I considered to be most effective in ap-pealing to the cultured mind, as well as to the popular ear. This was undoubtily the last chamber concert. Scrantor should, and does feel proud of the masterly musicianly manner in which the ex-quisite numbers of that final programme were presented. Not only was the choice of selections a proof of the capabilities of the leader, our estcemed conductor of the Symphony orchestra, Mr. Theodore Hemberger, but the execution of the technical difficulties will certainly remain the minds of those lucky enough have heard that last concert. Having ubscribed again this year to the cham ber concerts has placed me in communi cation with the management, through which I have been apprised of the fac that at the first concert of this seasof quintet will be given, composed by Mozart, in which Mr. Schiffer, of Bauer orchestra, will play base. I have also received word, from the same source, that Scranton's own, original planist Mr. J. W. Conant, will be with the quartet this year. This alone is sufficie make the concerts the most valuable of the season's events. Mentioning valuable brings up the extremely low admissio which will be charged for these cor erts, which will be held at the You Men's Christian association hall. 至出 ubscription tickets entitle one to five dmissions to each concert, making total of twenty admissions at 25 cent each, From present indications the scrie of chamber concerts for this year will be the grandest success that the Scran-ton musical world has seen for years As an opportunity to those who hav not already subscribed, the diagram will be placed for the sale of tickets at Powell's on the 15th, Monday,
