YESTERDAY'S FUNERALS

The funeral of the late David R. Williams took place yesterday afternoon. The remains were viewed at the residence on South Hyde Park avenue, earlier in the day, and at 2.30 they were borne to the Plymouth Congregational church, where the services were held. The auditorium was crowded by those in attendance and the handsome broadcloth casket was nearly concealed by the profusion of beautiful floral tributes. The quartette selected from the church choir sang several selections. Rev. R. R. Davies, of Meadville, conducted the service and preached an elequent funeral sermon At the conclusion of the services, the remains were borne to the Washburn street cometery and laid at rest. The members of Liteutenant Ezra Griffin Post, No. 139, Grand Army of the Republic, conducted the services at the grave and a burial salute was fired across the open grave.

The remains of Charles E. Jones, son f Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Evans, arrived here vesterday afternoon via the 55 Central Railroad of New Jersey. Funeral Director William Price took charge and accompanied by a large funeral cortege of friends of the parents, the remains were borne to the Washburn street cemetery, where interment was made. Rev. Thomas De Gruchy officiated at the grave,

Short prayer services were conducted at the residence at the Sibley over the remains of the late Mrs. Edward Robahan at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains were then borne to Peckville, where services were held in the Haptist church. At the conclusion of the church services, interment was recently purchased a property at 511 made in the family plot at the Peck-
