NATIONAL GRANGE SESSIONS TO CLOSE

Meeting Today. ADDRESS WILSON'S SECRETARY

The Grange Decides to Adopt a Cor-Farmer's Institute Work.

Grange teday decided to adjourn final-ly igmorrow, Encouraging reports The inous for the inving of corner stones of grange bulls. The proposition to send in delegate to the women's congress. The other usual symptoms incident the committee on foreign relations. ermon session of the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry. He congratu-lated the grange on the important position it occupies and the dignified man-ner in which the grangers discharged the responsibilities resting upon them.

You recognize the need for education You recognize the heed for education and object leasons in the sciences that re-late, to agriculture and asked for colleges, experiment stations and a department of agriculture that are all engaged in making phin the secrets of nature as they relate to climate and soll, plant and animal in their relation to mankind and his happiness, he added. These instrumentalities succeed and are helpful as you are inrold words and fireside talk of what cretofore has been an unknown tongue. The department of agriculture is trying to help the individual and the state where its arm is longer than theirs and its facilities greater. It is opening up now markets, introducing new plants, gataerabroad to the end that they may be bet-ter informed regarding their work and the operations of those the world over with whom they compete. The time is auspicious for pushing this work. Presi dent McKinley instructs me to make the department useful to every locality in our broad land, sympathizing as he does with the toilers in the field and the forest, factory and mine and with all home makers where woman reigns as mother, daughter and wife the only correct unit of society and the sure safeguard of the republic.

An adress was also made by John Hamilton, deputy secretary of agriculture, on farmer's institute work in Pennsylvania. A resolution was adopted against the grange taking any part in co-operative enterprises and against gambling in futures. The grange will close its session tomorrow.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.-A large numday and formed a temporary organzation, preliminary to selecting a candidate for mayor to succeed Mayor Warwick in 1899. Among those present one hundred, in its time a famous body, representatives of the municipal league, citizens' municipal association, national league of business men and members of the Republican and Demo-cratic parties, Charles M. Biddle pre-The advisability of naming a candidate was discussed, as was the recent campaign in New York, in connection with which it was stated that much could be learned from the systematic manner in which the Citizens' nion party of that city carried on its fight.

In adjourning, a committee was apcointed to prepare a platform of priniples and suggest the names of available candidates. The committee was made up of the following well-known W. W. Foulkrod, William Sellers, Mahlon N. Kline, John F. Lewis, Francis B. Reeves, Robert Dor-nan, James M. Beck, Clinton Rodgers Woodruff, James A. Devlin and Charles M. Biddle. The committee will name its own chairman.

INVENTOR OF A BELL INDICATOR.

Valuable Contrivance Perfected by Bernard Riley, of Wilkes-Barre,

Bernard Riley, an engineer employed y the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal npany at Wilkes-Barre, has invented "a bell indicator" which is intended to prevent accidents at shafts. It not infrequently happens that by some misunderstanding of signals the engineer at a shaft begins to hoist a carriage before the footman is ready and by doing so the footman, and perhaps

By the use of this contrivance this is impossible. Mr. Rileys apparatus consists of a dial not unlike that of the clock. On the two upper corner of this dial is an electric bell. When the footman touches the button to signal the engineer that all is ready to hoist, an indicator drops by gravity on the dial; so should anything occur to prevent the ringing of the bell in the engine room, the engineer knows, by the dropping of the indicator, that it is time to raise the carriage.

By a similar method the footman is mmunicated with and he and others ship, near the Susquehanna River can get out of the way in case the enabout eight miles northeast of York, gineer has occasion to hoist before all can get out of the way in case the enis ready below.
