DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Writing Pen in the Hand of Washington Jones Entered His Eye and Destroyed His Sight.

Ten-year-old Washington Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Jones, of Archbold street, will be blind in the right eye for life. This sad fact was brought about by a most peculiar accident on Friday afternoon. The lad attends No. 12 school and is a pupil in Miss Richards' room.

During the afternoon he had cause to use a pen. While holding the pen upside down, he turned his head to glance across the room. In turning back, he jabbed the pen into the ball of the eye.

The pen point penetrated the pupil and his sight was destroyed. His parents did not fully realize the true state of affairs until the boy complained that he could not see with that eye. A visit was made yesterday to Dr. C. L. Frey, who, after a full examination, made known the seriousness of this unlucky accident.

YESTERDAY'S FUNERALS.

The funeral services of the late Joseph A. Michaels, of 248 North Garfield avenue, were held yesterday afternoon at the residence. There were many friends in attendance, and Carpenters' Local union, No. 567, of which the deceased was a member, were well represented. The floral tributes were very beautiful and almost concealed the casket by their profusion. Rev. Jacob Schoettler, pastor of the Chestnut Street Presbyterian church, officiated and was assisted by Rev. A. L. Famer, Ph.D., pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church. A selected quartette sang some of the services the remains were borne to the Washburn street cemetery, where interment was made. The pallbearers were: L. Lewis, Frank Lutz, William Nyhart, Charles Schuster, William Gross and C. Allen.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jane Humphreys was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of Noah Lewis, 1322 Lafayette street. There was a large attendance of friends and the floral tributes were very beautiful. Rev. Edward Howell, licentiate, officiated and preached the sermon. At the conclusion of the services the remains were borne to the Forest Hill cemetery, where interment was made. The pallbearers were: John Davis, Noah Lewis, William Haskins and Edwin Williams.

PICKWICK CLUB MEETING.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Pickwick club was held Friday evening at the residence of Miss Grace H. Pack, of Price street. That these evenings are becoming attractive to lovers of the elevating was evidenced by the enrolling of four new members at this session. The programme was an excellent one and consisted of "Questions on the Literature of the Early Colonial Period," by John J. York; "Current Literature," by W. T. Burrall; sketch of the "Life of Jonathan Edwards," by Miss Mabel Voss; "Cotton Mather and Jonathan Ed-

ACCIDENTALLY SCALDED.

Marshall Anderson, residing with his parents on Luzerne street, was confined to his home for several days as a result of his being badly scalded Saturday afternoon. The young man is employed at Clarke Bros. as a delivery clerk. Having cause to visit the barn he sat down for a few moments near a stove which rested on four bricks. In rising he accidentally disturbed one of the bricks and the stove tumbled over. A large pall of boiling water which was setting on the stove, slid off and the scalding contents fell upon Anderson's head, neck and shoulders. He was removed to his home and cooling lotions applied to his burns. The stove, fortunately, did not tip entirely over and a fire was thus averted.

FUNERAL OF MISS FILAN.

The funeral of the late Miss Mary Ann Filan took place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of her brother-in-law, Prof. F. E. Durkin, of North Rebecca avenue, and at 3:30 were borne to St. Patrick's church. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated. Rev. J. B. Whelan was celebrant and Rev. D. A. Dunns and Rev. F. P. McNally assisted in the offices of deacon and sub-deacon, respectively. In the sanctuary were: Rev. James Higgins, of St. Charles, Philadelphia; Rev. Father Fitzmaurice and Rev. Father Flan, of St. Michael's, Philadelphia; Rev. St. Mannus, of St. Mary's, North Scranton; Rev. M. E. Crane, of Avoca; Rev. M. Shields, of Bentley Creek; Rev. Father Hurst, of Lovelton, and Rev. Father Walsh, of Moscow, Rev. James Higgins, rector of St. Charles' Catholic church, Philadelphia, preached the funeral sermon which was replete with frequent references to the many noble traits, the kind disposition and desire to assist humanity which characterized the deceased while in life. The floral tributes were very beautiful and in keeping with the life led by her whose casket they now rested upon. At the conclusion of the services the remains, accompanied by a large funeral cortege, were borne to the Hyde Park Catholic church where interment was made. The pallbearers were: J. Graham, F. P. Brown, Nicholas Durkin, Matthew Shields, Peter McCann and Martin Devanyan.

MUNOOKA.

Thomas Barrett, of Pittston, spent Sunday with friends on Davis street. Speculation is rife among the sporting fraternity as to the probability of the live bird shooting match which takes place on Thanksgiving Day between Martin Mangan and John Higgins, two rising stars of the club. The contest will be the third time the contestants have faced each other, and much interest is centered in the result. The Munooka club, which has been having an exciting experience while on his way home from a Taylor dance hall Saturday evening, is now on the bridge of the bridge which spans the Lackawanna and connects the borough with this place, he ran counter to a mysterious auto-car which occupied a peculiar position in the middle of the structure, and whose antics caused the driver to lose his equilibrium and fall an aspen leaf. At this juncture a gang of night hawks who had been holding carnival in Middown, chanced along and the enthusiastic enthusiast uttered a sigh of relief as he awoke from a dream of imaginative fancy to find himself a subject of the ridicule and mockery of his boisterous associates, who exploded the matter. The victim of the hold-up declared positively that the bridge has been haunted ever since its erection.

WELL KNOWN ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF NEW YORK.

Ivory, an American citizen, arrested in London on the charge of being a dynamiter. Ivory was released.

BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Speaking of delegates—we weren't speaking of them—but will now—once upon a time town was beset by a vast multitude of women delegates who were assigned to various hospitable homes. A prominent resident was to receive one of the visitors and soon her carriage with a friend to the station to meet the expected guest. The friend went according to intention but as the train came in, she suddenly realized that there might be some difficulty in recognizing her particular delegate, and contented her fears to an acquaintance, a young man who was acquainted about wearing a particularly ill-tempered and unhappy expression of countenance.

KELLY SPEECHLESS AGAIN

Strange Affliction Again Overtakes Him at Hartford, Conn.—Something About His Troubles in This City.

Fred Kelly's odd affliction is now mystifying medical circles in Hartford, Conn. Kelly, it will be recalled, went to sleep at the Grand Central hotel, in this city, one night last winter in perfect health and possessing all his senses, and woke up in the morning devoid of the power of speech. Dr. P. H. Kearney, first, and the Lackawanna hospital staff, later, made unsuccessful attempts to restore his lost faculty. While undergoing treatment in a Michigan hospital his speech suddenly returned to him and he went his way rejoicing. Word now comes from Hartford that he has again been suddenly rendered speechless.

PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

While here the doctors diagnosed Kelly's case as an affection of the nerves controlling the vocal organs. He was struck with a hammer in the throat a number of years ago and for some weeks was unable to make use of his power of speech. The organs themselves were not injured but in some way, not definitely understood, Kelly's nervous system, particularly that part controlling the organs of speech, was so affected that he at times is unable to direct its functions.

THE LACKAWANNA HOSPITAL PHYSICIANS

claimed that Kelly's affliction was virtually an hallucination. He simply thought he couldn't talk. While he was at the hospital the night before last, or at least he claimed it had. The doctors were satisfied from an examination of his organs of vision that he could see as well as anyone and proceeded to convince him that he could.

VARIOUS EXPERIMENTS WERE RESORTED TO

and finally one proved successful. He was given a slate and pencil and told to write. He groped for the pencil and wrote just like a blind man. His writing was in perfect alignment as good as he was ordinarily capable of. This and other like means were preserved in and after a day or so he could see again as well as ever. He could see the time by the dial, know it, it was necessary to convince him that he wasn't blind. His trouble with his speech is of the very same character. There is no suspicion of foxing. He is simply suffering from a strange affection of the will power.
