BEFORE BREAKFAST. A popular clergyman in this city was visited by an elderly woman the other day who urged him to go to a railway station and marry two young people who, in a freight car, were anxiously awaiting him coming. The minister was surprised and inquired as to the cause of such coyness. The old lady assured him that they were very bashful, and on the way cautiously inquired if he thought he could perform the ceremony for a dollar. He promptly stopped and announced his decision to the effect that a long tramp to the freight yard of the Erie and Wyoming was worth more than a dollar. It is needless to say that a compromise was effected and the knot was tied in an approved fashion.

There is not the wild and uncontrollable rush for the new long cars that has been noticed up to the present week. Any old car is good enough these days, for the fine, new ones have no heat therein, and are not sought. It is pretty cold weather to ride in a big barn of a car with no fire, and after waiting on a corner until thoroughly chilled it isn't particularly delightful to continue the freezing process while riding.

Mr. Pennington's recital tomorrow evening will be a welcome close to Thanksgiving Day. The programme is to be a charming one, as these recitals are always of a high order.

FUNERAL OF MR. DAVIS.

Services Conducted at the Residence by Rev. Dr. McLeod—Interment in Dunmore Cemetery.

The funeral of J. Alton Davis was held yesterday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock at the family residence on Linden street near Quincy avenue. The spacious dwelling was filled to the utmost to contain the large throng of members of the Lackawanna Bar association and other friends and relatives who gathered to participate in the simple services. The bar association met at the house of Judge Archibald from whence the members walked to the home of the deceased.

The casket containing the remains was covered and surrounded by a great quantity of floral tributes, it rested in a front parlor where the remains were viewed. The members of the bar association proceeded to the house in a body at 1:30 o'clock and passed in one long file alongside the casket before they occupied the seats reserved for them. It had evidently been Mr. Davis' request that the services over his body be of the very simplest kind and that no words be spoken in eulogy of him, for the only service was an address and prayer by Rev. Dr. James McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. His remarks were almost exclusively confined to praising qualities from the Scriptures and a comforting comment upon the lesson of death. In but a few sentences did he refer to the deceased and that was at the conclusion of his address which he stated that the esteem in which Mr. Davis was held and the position he occupied in the hearts of his fellowmen had been made known in the resolutions of the Bar association and published in the newspapers.

The pallbearers were the following: representatives of the Bar association: Hon. H. M. Edwards, Hon. H. A. Knapp, George S. Horn, Hon. John P. Kelly, Charles H. Welles and C. J. Burr. The flower bearers were members of Lackawanna council, Royal Arcanum: Prof. George Dixon, Dr. W. A. Faine, George F. Elyson, Charles Lanning and A. T. Heiser. Burial was made in Dunmore cemetery where a brief committal service was conducted by Dr. McLeod. There was no singing at either the house or the grave.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF LAST NIGHT

Thirtieth Annual Banquet and Ball of Excelsior Social Club. IT WAS A BRILLIANT FUNCTION. Fifty Couples Enjoyed a Delightful Subscription Dance in Stover's Hall on Penn Avenue—Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Beideman Celebrate the Fifth Anniversary of Their Wedding—Hawatha Council Daughters of Pochontas Entertain Their Friends.

Three decades have gone by since the Excelsior Social club was organized, and last night that well-known organization held its thirtieth annual banquet and ball. It was perhaps the most notable function in the history of the organization, and was conducted in the building on Wyoming avenue, occupied by the club. In the banquet hall, on the third floor, the decorations were beautiful and lavishly, but it was in the large hall in the floor above, where the members of the club and their guests danced, that the artistic work of the decorators was most noticeable. The committee in charge consisted of Walter Lauer and Herman E. Ries received the guests. In the banquet room 100 covers were laid. The menu was:

- Oysters—Shrewsbury
Caviar—Royal
Banquet Crackers
Roast Turkey
Crabapple Sauce
French Peas—Cold Tomatoes
Chicken Salad
Celery
Olives
Gherkins
Vienna Bread
Assorted Cakes
Rye Bread
Ice Cream, Brisk—Coffee—Whipped Cream
Fruit
Champagne—Milk
Rhone Wine—Nectarine
Cocktails—Manhattan, Martini
Creme de Menthe.

An interesting event in connection with the function was the debut of Miss Frances Moses, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moses. The ball room was a bower of silken drapery, in all colors, the red, white and blue predominating. Shields of colored silk and fanciful flags bore the white figured brocades on the walls. These with richest and varied colors, fully drooping in parts of the mass of silk and party lanterns swinging from the ceiling presented a magnificent picture. The orchestral platform at the end of the hall was screened from view by a bank of large-leaved palms. Dancing began at 10:30 o'clock and music was furnished by Bauer's orchestra. During the promenade, led by William Morris, chairman of the committee, selections from Herbert's serenades were played. The guests from out of town were: Miss Adler, of Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Flora Levy, of Wilkes-Barre; Miss Minnie Brown and Bella Hirschfeld, of Pittston; J. Gordon, of Rochester, N. Y.; L. Gompert, Edna Brown and M. F. Sacks, of Pittston; Fred Moses, Cosmer P. Long, Max Galland, Colonel Arthur Long and Morris Levy, of Wilkes-Barre, and I. Singer, of Carbonate.

Those present from this city were: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Langfield, Mr. and Mrs. M. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Marks, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Corin, Dr. and Mrs. Chapman, and Mrs. Joseph King, the Misses Nettie Nye, Bertha Gallen, Tillie and Clara Lauer, Maud Stern, Nellie Kramer, Bessie and Julia Chapman, Martha, Bertha, Frances and Esther, Jennie Buchwald, Hannah and Frieda Harris, Minnie and Pauline Goldsmith, Messrs. Simon Lauer, William Morris, Isadore Goodman, Herman E. Ries, Jonas Lauer, I. Krotosky, Morris Goldsmith, D. Mendelssohn, B. Moses, An. Kramer, Sam Kramer, Henry Chapman, Levi Kramer, I. Brown, D. Lowenstein, Raphael Levy, Alfred Rice, William Moses, S. Lebeck, Dr. H. Halpert, E. Moses, Alfred Rice. Furman and Palmer were the decorators and Hanley the caterer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Howard Beideman entertained friends last evening at their home, 318 Webster avenue, in honor of the fifth anniversary of their wedding. Mrs. Beideman being assisted in receiving by Miss Mackay, Kingston; Mrs. T. A. Wagner and Miss Roney. Orchestral music by Professor Lievelyn Jones, pianist; Will Stanton, cornet; Alton, violin; Mr. Compas, clarinet, added to the pleasure of the evening. Hanley was caterer. The guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Beideman with many beautiful remembrances of the occasion. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Good-nough, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Whittemore, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Beideman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Roney, Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deacon, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Caswell, Mr. and Mrs. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Betts, Mrs. Dr. Long, Mrs. Aubrey Powell, Misses Beideman, Long, Deacon, Haycock and D. L. Wilson, Jesse Clark, Arja Powell, Dr. J. McDowell.

About fifty couples enjoyed a delightful subscription dance last night at Stover's new hall, 224 Penn avenue. It was given under the management of Will Hanley, Jr., J. A. Snover, Andrew M. Fine and Dr. W. C. Snover. The decorations, which were of a very elaborate character, were by McClintock. Hanley did the catering and Bauer furnished the music. This is the first time that the pretty and admirably arranged hall has been put to its intended uses. Hawatha Council, No. 26, Daughters of Pochontas, celebrated the fifth anniversary of their organization, last night with an entertainment in Finley's hall. The participants were: Lillian Moore and Edith Williams, piano duet; South Side Zither club; Nellie Thomas and Susan Fisher, vocal duet; Long's quartette; George Frenzel and Katie Owens. The committees in charge were: Kate Fadden, Mrs. Charlott Scott, Mrs. M. Roberts, Lizzie Doney, Alice Trumbair, Maggie Fadden, Mrs. McDonald and Edith Dunkle.

ALL SOULS CHURCH NOTES.

An unique entertainment was recently furnished in the form of a Silhouette party. Nearly a hundred more than life-sized silhouettes of members of the church and their friends were displayed upon the chapel walls. Miss Emma Eldridge secured the prizes for identifying the largest number. Mrs. Richards, a professional in the teaching of elocution and physical culture, is training some of the children of the Sunday school, together with mates of theirs, in hoop and wand drills for an exhibition some time in December. It has been decided to hold a Christmas sale and offering, during the week preceding the holidays. The sewing school, directed by Mrs. Rose Danner, is now well under way. The time for a course of lessons is from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. Saturdays. Any one desiring to join the school will be welcome. The pastor, Rev. F. W. Whipple, preached a sermon on Sunday morning appropriate to Thanksgiving season, setting forth the thanksgiving of the pilgrims during the first year and the celebration of the first Thanksgiving day, and from the need in our time of the integrity, high purpose, courage and faith of the pilgrims to make our nation really prosperous and strong.

AN APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT

Legal Status of Pittston School Board of Six to Be Decided. ACTION WAS TAKEN LAST NIGHT. Judge Bennett Decided Last May That the Small Board Was the Legal One, but the People of Pittston Are Anxious to Have the Matter Finally Passed Upon, and the Board Therefore Decided to Appeal at Expenses of the District.

At a meeting of the Pittston school board last night it was decided to have the supreme court pass upon the legality of the board of six controllers, which now manages the public schools of that city. At the municipal election last spring in addition to the school directors elected in wards, six were elected from the city at large, all of whom were also chosen as members of the regular board of twenty-two. In May Judge Bennett, of Luzerne county, granted a writ of ouster on the petition of one of the tax payers of Pittston, and filed an opinion in which he declared the board of six the legal body. The members of the board of twenty-two took the preliminary steps to have the case brought to the attention of the supreme court, and then allowed the matter to drop. There is a strong feeling in Pittston in favor of having the exact status of the board of six finally decided by the highest tribunal in the state, and in response to that feeling the board last night decided to have the school district hear the expense of an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Bennett's decision. M. M. Donnelly, attorney for the board of six, will argue the case for that body, and P. A. O'Boyle, attorney for the board of twenty-two, will make the argument against Judge Bennett's decision. An effort will be made to have the supreme court hear the arguments at an early day, that a decision may be reached before the spring session. The decision of the supreme court will be awaited with great interest in this city.
