TWO NEW SCHOOLS ARE INSPECTED

Controllers Make a Formal Visit to Buildings Nos. 6 and 15.

APPROVED OF BOTH STRUCTURES

Special Meeting is Held and No. 6 is Regularly Accepted--It Will Be Opened Next Monday--The Buildings are Twins Being Made After the Same Plan and Completed About the Same Time--Detailed Description of the New Structures.

Two of the new school buildings—the twins Nos. 15 and 6—were yesterday formally inspected and one of them, No. 6, regularly accepted, a special meeting being convened on the premises for this purpose at the premises of Mr. Wurmser who wanted to open the school next Monday, No. 15 will be recommended for acceptance at the next regular meeting of the board. The inspection was made by Controllers Shires, Davis, Carson, Casey, DeWaney, Wurmser, Welsh, Notz and Gibbons. No. 15 in the Twentieth ward, was first visited, the controllers and builders assembling there about 2 o'clock p. m. Nearly two hours were spent on the premises. The first part of the building was the Washington avenue flats of the Eighth ward. Nothing was found in either building to call for unfavorable criticism and the consensus of opinion was that they are two well built, well equipped and inextricably constructed buildings. The buildings are virtually counterparts of each other, both being designed by Architect John A. Duckworth from the same plans. The principal difference is that No. 6 is heated by the steam-warm water system and No. 15 by the fan system put in by Hunt & Connell. No. 15 is located at the corner of Stone avenue and Leconte street. Two of the three lots which compose its site were purchased by Hunt & Connell during the first term of services as a controller, some ten or eleven years ago. The third lot was secured after the plans had been drawn and it was found that the building was a foot wider than the available ground. The two lots cost $1,200 and the third lot $1,800—an indication that the territory thereabouts has grown to such an extent as to demand a new school. The building, everything included, represents an outlay of $10,000 and there was no question in the mind of the controllers but that the district got its money's worth.

DESCRIPTION OF BUILDING. It is a plain brick-veneered building with no attempts at enrichment. The roof is of white pine shingles painted to match the walls, and finished with heavy copper flashings and valleys. The windows are large and each contains four panes of double-thick glass. Its general outward appearance is plain and substantial, and this effect is also carried out in the interior. The structure inside and out is totally devoid of "gingerbread". It is an eight-room building, 72x88, and 28 feet from water table to eaves; the ceilings on each of the two floors being 10 feet high. Each room is 24x36 and each has separable and well arranged cloak rooms for boys and girls. There are three sets of stairs leading to the second floor. Two open on the outside and the third is an interior double stairway with landing opposite the main entrance and connecting the two large and airy corridors on to which class rooms on either floor open. The interior finishing, in which is included a high wainscoting extending around both corridors and rooms, is of hard oak. The floors are of hard maple and the ceilings of sheet steel, tastefully figured. The plastering of the corridors is tinted in terra cotta and the rooms in buff. There is a large blackboard area in each room. The heat is regulated by a Johnson thermostat, which automatically insures an even temperature at all times. Owing to the fact that there are no sewers in that locality dry closets are used.

The building was constructed by Conrad Schroeder. The Green Ridge Lumber company did the carpenter work; Hunt & Connell, the heating and ventilating, and George Dougherty, the painting. The nearest appurtenances of the building is an hygienic drinking fountain, with which each corridor is provided. It is a novel arrangement to do away with the germ-scattering drinking cup. A neckie chalice, the size of an ordinary glass tumbler, stands in a porcelain bowl, about the size and shape of an ordinary wash basin. The rim of the chalice is only slightly higher than the rim of the bowl. A small pipe leads through the stem of the chalice to a supply of water from the bottom with a constant flow of water. To drink from it one bends over and sips from the bubbling and constantly filled cup.

HAS THREE BUILDINGS. When the new building is opened, which will be in the course of two or three weeks it will be used to accommodate the pupils of that neighborhood who are now attending No. 11 and its two annexes, which latter will be done away with. This gives the Twentieth ward three schools—Nos. 7, 11 and 15. No. 7 is within a short distance of the Minoka line; No. 15 alongside Roark street, in the northern limit of the ward, and No. 11 is midway between them. The distance from No. 15 to No. 7 is considerably over a mile. One of the three schools is to be given a Grammar A department. No. 7 is the one likely to be selected as the site of the new building, it is situated in a portion of the ward. The furniture is about all in place and it is intended to begin school there next Monday morning.

MR. PENNINGTON'S RECITAL.

Very Pleasing Programme Rendered in Elm Park Church. One of the finest musical programmes ever heard in Elm Park church was that of last evening when Mr. J. Alfred Pennington gave one of his beautiful organ recitals, assisted by Mr. John T. Watkins, in several vocal numbers. The early ringing of the chimes summoned a vast throng to the doors, and it was a great audience that listened to the music. Mr. Pennington gave an entirely new programme. He has not yet repeated a number in his various recitals and his splendid repertoire is well sustained in excellence. Last night his first number was "The Excursion" with organ accompaniment. No. 29, one of the six great sonatas of Mendelssohn. The exquisite sustained melody in the adagio was given with rare perfection. The effect in the sprightly allegro maestoso movement was especially pleasing while the noble theme in the fugue was a climax of harmony and feeling. He played a romanza by Parker, never before heard in this city which was fascinating in treatment as the rapid following of the right hand by the same chords with the left had a novel effect.

This was followed by an andante cantabile, beautiful and evanescent in its distant sweetness, from the Fourth symphony by Wagner; Duhey Buck's charming variations "The Last Rose of Summer"; variations of the well known "O Sanctissime"; and a tender and lively descriptive piece by Wilder, "A Pastoral." were played before the magnificent grand march from Gullman's cantata of Ariadne. This was given with the interpretation of an artist and brought with it all the contagious enthusiasm of the composition. Great interest was felt in Mr. J. T. Watkins' part of the programme. His fellow townsmen cannot hear too often their distinguished baritone, and the numbers last night were not a disappointment. He sang the sacred selection "Thou Art Passing Hence" with great feeling and intelligence. The solo "Lead Kindly Light," arranged by D. Pugh Evans, was finely rendered, while the great dramatic piece, "Blow Thou Winter Wind," by Sargeant clearly evinced the progress made in his art by Mr. Watkins. His enunciation is so flawless and his voice so well under control that too much praise cannot be given to his work of last evening. It is to be hoped that this programme will be repeated in the near future.

DEDICATED A CHURCH Interesting Ceremonies at the Church of the Holy Family, Capouse Ave. Bishop O'Hara yesterday dedicated the new church of the Holy Family, on Capouse avenue, of which the cornerstone was laid one year ago last summer. It is a pretty little temple and with the pastoral residence, which adjoins, cost $17,800. The congregation is made up in the main of Slavonian Catholics and the services were a lively faith it might be remarked that over $18,000 of the debt has already been paid. The dedicatory services were made unusually interesting through the participation of a large number of Polish and Slavonian societies and a band of little girls prettily arrayed in floral white and bedecked with purple wreaths. A short parade was held at 10 o'clock, in which the societies and parishioners participated. Joseph Milo was chief marshal and Joseph Kagnek, chief of staff. Guth's band, of Dunmore, furnished the music.

At 11 o'clock a solemn mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Jankota, of Pittston, assisted by Rev. B. Murga, of Wilkes-Barre, as deacon, and Rev. Father Dembinski, of Scranton, sub-deacon. Among the priests in the sanctuary were Rev. M. E. Lettice, Rev. Peter Christ, Scranton; Rev. Father Stass, Freeland; Rev. Father Manek, Hazleton, and Rev. Father Vlossak, of Philadelphia. The last named delivered the sermon.

WAS BRUTALLY ASSAULTED. Lay Unconscious and Badly Injured For Nearly Half the Night. E. A. Smith, of 1327 Monsey avenue, was found lying in Muldoon's store yard at daybreak yesterday morning in an unconscious condition and with a jaw broken, his head badly gashed and his foot sprained. He was taken to Dr. Jenkins' office, where his wounds were attended to and then, at the doctor's advice, he went to the Lackawanna hospital. Smith says that his injuries were inflicted by a man named John Coar with whom he had a law suit seven years ago. He was going through the store yard on his way home at 1 o'clock in the morning when Coar, who evidently had followed him, came up from behind and assaulted him with a coupling pin. Owing to the fact that it was impossible for Smith to talk very well with his broken jaw, the details of his story could not be learned.

ENTERTAINED HIS NEIGHBORS. Pleasant Evening Enjoyed at the Home of George Mitchell. At the home of George Mitchell, last evening, a number of Green Ridge neighbors and their friends gathered and enjoyed a pleasant Thanksgiving night. The guests were received by Mrs. E. H. Davis and the Misses Monica and Ballin.

There were present: Dr. and Mrs. George J. Berlinghof; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Davis; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Merrill; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunham; Misses Charlesworth, Hughes, Keller, Howe, Ely, Ballin, Monies, Mitchell and Wood (Honesdale); C. K. Knight, C. M. Carr, L. J. Rowson, E. T. Howe, J. F. Chalmers, R. U. White, B. W. Reynolds, Dr. Edson M. Green, Theodore Connell and George M. Howe.

Islands of the sea? Can we make the tie that will rightly relate us to these far off districts? Is a colony fever likely to set in as if the axe had an Alexander's grip and wanted more space to give our present territory more intense care, all eyes turned toward the flag? Can we cut out the material for a platform big and strong enough for Great Britain, Canada and the United States to be more than a shield and a target for the nations which represent the religion of the King of Peace? Arbitration must be established or that Gibraltar will not vex us. We be brothers shall we lengthen the handle of our axe so as to interfere in the affairs of foreign nations? Can we do this? Is it our duty? Can we make such disaster abroad? We have had a helm long enough to mind our own business. Are we to become meddlers, all eyes turned toward the flag?
