New York, Nov. 29-The trial of Martin Thorn for the murder of Guldensuppe was closed to-day so far as the taking of evidence was concerned. To-morrow morning the lawyers for the defendant and the people will sum and it is expected that Justice Maddox will charge the jury early in the afternoon, Mr. Howe will begin his final appeal in Thorn's behalf at half past nine, and he expects to conclude before noon. District Attorney Young will then have his say for the prosecution, and he expects to finish within two hours, It is not expected that the charge of Justice Maddox will be very lengthy, so that by three o'clock in the afternoon the case may be with the jury, Opinions both lay and legal differ very materially as to the probable result. Many look for a conviction, but a greater number anticipate a disagreement. A few of Thorn's former employers were called by the defense today, and they all gave the accused barber an excellent character, dating back some ten years. Thorn himself the only other witness called for the beforse. IFAL OWES LIBERTY TO HIS SNORE. Milwaukee Man Freed in Court or Remarkable Testimony. Milwaukee, Nov. 29 .- Snoring, espe cially of that peculiar kind which is over noticeable, dominating everything n hearing and preventing others from sleeping, has ever been held to be a misfortune. But to a snore of this description, which could not be mistaken for any other snore. Robert Wagner, who has been on trial in the criminal court charged with firing his warehouse last summer, owes his discharge. In the testimony introduced by the defense were the staements of Wagner's two daughters, Freda and Olga They established a complete alibl for their father, and they did it by means of his snore. Both testified that they knew their father was at home all the night of July 3, on which it was charged he fired the warehouse. They were certain of this fact because when asleep he had a peculiar snore which was different from any musical production of that kind rendered by anyone else. They had heard him snoring before they went to sleep, and therefore they knew he was in the house at that time and not at the factory. If he had gone out during the night, they said, he would have to pass their door, and they would have heard him.

So convincing were their statements thap when the defense rested Judge Wallber said to the attorneys there was no use in their arguing the case, as it was his duty to direct the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty for the defendant. This he instructed the jury to do without leaving their seats, When the report was made the judge told Wagner that he was a free man. and with a sigh of relief he left the courtroom blessing what had formerly being looked upon as a misfortune.

in Colorado, have reported that on investigation of the affair by the interfor department Captain Wright secured a statement from the Indians of the affair, the sum of which is: "That a small party of them were camped on Snake river hunting deer, the majority of them in the hills, and but four bucks were in camp when a party of armed white men came into

The Indians refused and a struggle commenced. A squaw ran to their assistance when the police literally riddled two of the bucks with bullets. A warden on the outside of the party shot the squaw in the back of her head and in the arm. The two surviving bucks saw their chance to run for horses which they had in the brush and did so, making their escape. The Indians in-sist that neither at that time nor since have they fired a shot at a white man." At Thompson Ranch, Captain Wright found a corral and hay stacks burned by the Indians which they acknowledged to have done in their anger after their affair with the wardens. Lieutenant Cavanaugh in his report of his interview with them says: "The Indians stated that they could not see why the whites had treated them so. They were peaceable, wanted no trouble, and had made no resistance, but had been shot down in cold blood. They had still remained quiet and were waiting to see what Washington would do before they took any action themselves) They are anxious that an investigation be

China Will Express Willingness to Make Reparation for the Murder of the Missionaries and for the Damage Done to Mission Property. Russia is Not Helping China.

Pekin, Nov. 29 .- Inquiries made here Chinese official circles confirm the statements contained in despatches from Shanghai giving the substance of the demands made by Baron van Heykin, the German minister to China, as a result of the murder recently of German missionaries and the destruction of German mission property. Germany, through her minister, asks for the discovery and execution of the murderers of the misionaries. AUSTRIA'S NEW MINISTRY.

Modification of the Language Ordinances Proposed.

Vienna, Nov. 29 .- It is asserted here that so soon as the new cabinet is formed Baron von Gautsch von Frankenthurn, the former minister of public instruction and ecclesiastical affairs who has been entrusted with the task of forming a ministry to succeed that of Count Casimir Badeni, will enter into negotiations with the leaders of the Germans and Czechs, with the view of bringing about a modification of the language ordinances making the Czech language co-ordinate with the German. which have caused, or at lease server as a pretext for, the riotous scenes in the lower house of the Reichrath, lead

TERRIFIC GALE IN ENGLISH WATERS

The Worst Storm of Recent Years. Many Vessels Wrecked and Lives Lost.

London, Nov. 29 .- The gale which swept English waters yesterday and ast night and which had not abated its fury up to noon to-day, was one of the worst storms of recent years. The long list of disasters includes a large loss of life, many wrecks of large vessels and the loss of scores of hun-dreds of smaller craft, with serious damage to property ashore at many important towns, Many ships are known to have foundered, in many ases, it is feared; with all on board. Failure.

Washington, Nov. 29 .- By offering an macceptable scheme of antonomy to Juba, Spain has weakened, perhaps fatally, the administration in its efforts to keep congress from taking action as soon as it meets. In his mesage as it now stands, it is understood President McKinley urges congress to postpone any action in regard to Cuba n order to give the Spaniards a chance o prove that their reform on the sland is of value. Possibly this puri of the message will be changed before a week from today, when congress neets, for it is now plain that autonmy will not work at all, especially as the Cubans have given notice that they will shoot any man who enters their amp offering the kind of autonomy got up by the Sagasta ministry.

It is hinted here that the administration itself is losing what faith it ever had in Spain's ability to end the struggle, either by reforms or by the suppression of the rebellion, and that t will not offer very strong resistance to any rational action on the part of meress

There is a conservative faction in ooth the senate and the house that will idvise slow and careful procedure in dealing with the Cuban question: but the indications now are that the jingo blood is warming up.

DE LOME'S DESPATCHES.

Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister, has received long dispatches from Madrid, showing in detail the plan of autopomy, to which Spaln is about to apply to Cuba. They explain all important features and clear up doubts which had arisen from the unofficial reports which have come om Madric The said not be heard a few feet away, but Mr. Howe reminded the witness at those times that he should speak louder, and those admonitions always had the desired effect.

Thorn, in his story of the murder deliberately accused Mrs. Nack of having shot Guldensuppe, and declared that when he, Thorn, reached the Woodside cottage between 11 and 12 o'clock on Friday, June 25, the woman met him at the door and told him that Guidensuppe was lying dead up stairs and that she had shot and killed him. This, said Thorn, was the first intimation that he had of the purpose for which Mrs. Nack had rented the Woodside cottage. Up to that moment he had understood she was going to start a baby farm there, and that he was to live with her and share the profits. He described in detail how, after Mrs. Nack had begged of him to help her get rid of the body, he accompanied her to the room on the second floor where he found Guldensupper lying dead from a bullet wound in th right side of the head. Mrs. Nack thim she had carried the revolver her hand, covered by a handkerehlef, and that as Guldensuppe was looking into a closet she shot him in the side of the head. Thorn then said he went out and bought two pounds of plaster of paris, at Mrs. Nack's direction, and returned with it shortly afterward. This was about neon. When he got back to where the body lay, Mrs. Nack was still there, and he helped her undress the cornse.

A GRUESOME TASK.

Between them they carried the boly to the bath tub and Mrs. Nack cut it into five pieces. She first cut the head from the trunk with the aid of a krife and saw. Then she severed the trunk and boasted of her knowledge of anatomy while so doing. Then she severed the legs, using the knife and saw, The knife looked like a butcher's knife It was not a stilletto or dick knife, Mrs. Nack according to the witness remained there all that day until four o'clock in the afternoon, when she weat out to get some fresh air, as it was very warm and sultry in the house About five o'clock she returned and then she carried a bundle containing the murdered man's clothes and the pistol, saw and knife, and he with the head in a parcel under his arm left the house and took a trolley car to the 92nd street ferry to New York. From the rear of the boat he dropped the head into the East river, and when they reached New York she went to her rooms on Ninth avenue and burned the clothes in a cooking stove. The next day the rest of the body was made up in three parcels and disposed of it in the manner which Mrs. Nack | sion that to the best of his recollection stated at the last trial.

In rebuttal three witnesses swore that they had seen Mrs. Nack in her rooms in New York between half pist 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock on the afternoon on June 25, and Mrs. Walley said that she had seen Mrs. Nack leave the cottage about twenty minutes after she and the man with the light suit had entered.

The prosecution did not put Mrs. Nack on the stand, and the court rule! against Mr. Howe's attempt to introduce the testimony given by Mrs. Nack at the mistrial.

This closed the case for the people and the defense. The court adjourned at seven minutes to five o'clock until half past nine o'clock tomorrow morning.

volved in the present trouble and that it cannot yield to demonstrations of force by a powerful nation. The minister says that Haiti's ports are unfortified and that the country has no navy, but has an army of fair proportions. Naturally it could not expect to contend against one of the most powerful nations on the globe, but with the honor of the republic at stake, he declares, it would resist to the last, and would prefer to be crushed rather than to yield to what it regards an injustice. The Haitlan authorities consider that the Monroe doctrine applies to the present case and for that reason expect that the people of the United States will not approve the crushing of Haiti by a powerful European government or that the authorities here will not re-

San Francisco, Nov. 29 .- The British bark Cerdillera, which was reported lost off the coast of South America by a cable dispatch the early part of this month, foundered off Valparaiso and fourteen of her crew are supposed to have been drowned. A letter was received to-day from the city mentioned to the effect that the only survivors of the disaster were Carpenter C. F.Lynch and First and Second Officers Hamilton and Heather. The Cerdillera sailed from Liverpool for Port Natal, South Africa, nearly one year ago, From Port Natal she proceeded to New Castle, N. S. W., and from the lat-

Captain Everitt then put to sea with a new crew and when the ship was about 200 miles off shore she capsized in a squall and went down The first and second officers and the carpenter managed to cling to a capsized boat and succeeded later in right ing the craft.
