OLD ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

History of It is Among the Most Interesting Churches in the Country.

From the Nassau, N. H. Telegraph.

Historically, and in the relics of the past which it contains, few, if any, churches in America are more interesting than old St. John's at Portsmouth, N. H. The founding of the parish dates from 1628, but the present edifice is modern. It was built in 1806, and the good man who preached the dedication sermon described it as a work of stupendous magnitude. It is not, however, the building which attracts us, but its belongings. Here we see the old peweeer book with the prayer for the president pasted over that for the King, the "Vinegar" Bible, of which fifty copies were printed and distributed in 1789, and five of which are in the United States. The bell which calls the parish to prayers is a capture from Louisiana, and although twice melted, once by Paul Revere, since its voice was heard in the London dome, it is yet the same old bell. An arm chair, which stands behind the altar rail, was a gift from Queen Caroline, but is now known as the Washington chair, having been occupied by the first president of the United States when he attended services here on his last visit to the city.

Admiral Permynt was buried from St. John's, and the reading table is made of wood from his flagship. A strange bit of treasure-trove is the heavy porphyry font taken from an old church in Devonmouth and captured by the English from the French off the coast of Africa. Every Sunday twelve loaves of bread are placed upon this font and distributed to twelve old women, in accordance with the terms of the Testator's will and testament, and because of a gift by which the church is still heated with wood fires.

Egotism.

"I don't see why you should mister that Thomas is so egotistical. Have you never noticed that instead of saying that anything is so he is always modest enough to say 'I think so'?"

"That is not true but his egotism. He thinks that his 'I think so' means the statement that much more positive."—Indianapolis Journal.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Dec. 2.—The character of the trading on the last few days was disclosed by today's result on the stock exchange. The day opened with every appearance of yesterday's sharp demand for stock being still in force. The lower prices from London were ignored and large orders placed on special stocks caused sharp advances in the whole market. The amount of commission business being indicated a considerable awakening of outside interests. The buying of the Grangers, Sugar and Union Pacific was especially bold and confident, and by the close of the first hour the market had become very buoyant, and some sharp advances in prices had been obtained. Then without any diminution of activity it became evident that the advance in prices had come to a stop and that a heavy realizing movement was in progress. When Sugar fell a point and the Grangers declined, the market declined the market became dull, and efforts were made to rally it by pushing up the prices of special stocks. But this was not of much avail, and the result was a decline of the market for the remainder of the day. The bears added the pressure of short sales, and before long had succeeded in wiping out almost every gain on the list. Not losses were not large, but an important case, but the fall in prices from the high point was marked, extending to three points in Sugar, 4 points in Consolidated Gas, about 2 points in many of the specialties and over a point in the Grangers and many leading active stocks. The total sales were 48,300 shares.
