Sewing Machine Agent Departs for Unknown Times.

Several creditors were pained last evening by intelligence to the effect that Edward Hawker, agent for the Singer Sewing Machine company, left the city a few days ago without giving his address or any information that he will return. Constable Edward Neary went to the Hawker home on Peach hill to serve a landlord's warrant, but he found the place deserted, the furniture having been removed. Mrs. Hawker and child were found at a neighbor's. She disclaims knowledge as to her husband's whereabouts. It is said her parents, who reside down the valley, are well to do, but they have no inclination to aid her husband. Hawker is a tall, slim fellow with a dark moustache and a light complexion. He has been drinking some of late and on several occasions within the past month has flashed large rolls of bills. The Singer Sewing machine men in the city are reticent regarding Hawker's disappearance, but local authorities say there are nineteen machines upon which he has not made full returns. The constable has thus far been unable to learn where the household effects were taken.

WASHINGTON WAS KILLED

Some Unpublished Facts About His Last Illness and the Lesson They Convey to Men and Women of the Present Day.

It is not generally known that General Washington was killed in a most cruel and barbarous manner, but it is, nevertheless, a fact. At the time of his death, Washington was in his sixty-eighth year, a strong, robust man. On December 12, 1799, he contracted a severe cold and pneumonia threatened. Two doctors were summoned, and in accordance with the usual custom of those days, they proceeded to bleed his patient. Nearly a quart of blood was taken from his veins, until at last he begged them to let him die in peace. He died that same day--not from disease, but actually from loss of blood. He was killed by ignorance!

In those days, any doctor who treated a patient as Washington was treated, would be indicted for manslaughter. The world was moved since then, and there has been a complete revolution in the practice of medicine. Instead of lowering the vital forces by thinning the blood, advanced physicians now endeavor to build up the strength of their patients. They employ only the latest and most scientific remedies.

And yet, in spite of this fact, we find thousands of people endeavoring to improve their health by taking old-fashioned medicines. They forget that chemists and scientists have made great discoveries in recent years, and do not go back to the antiquated remedies and concoctions that were used a hundred years ago. It will not do. What you, reader, need is your head, headache, dizziness, throb, worn-out and irritable feelings, constipation, and bearing-down sensations is some modern discovery based on scientific truths that will strike at the root of the trouble. You are sick because your kidneys and liver are out of order, and you should at once see that they are put in order. "Yes," you say, "this is easy to assert, but what shall I do?" Take the best and most scientific discovery for these troubles you can find. Ask any advanced scientist what this is and he will tell you, Warner's Safe Cure. This discovery stands alone, by itself, and far above all so-called medicines of the past or nostrums of the present. In speaking about it Dr. William Edward Robinson, of London, says: "I conscientiously and emphatically state that I have been able to give more relief and effect more cures by the use of Warner's Safe Cure than by any other medicine attainable to the profession." This is high praise, but no higher than the subject deserves as you will readily ascertain upon using this great, modern discovery.

Walker entertained a number of their friends at their home on North Lackawanna street, who died on Tuesday last. Mr. Mayfield, with an elaborate spread in honor of the occasion. While supper was being served an orchestra composed of members of their own family discoursed sweet strains of music. The following were present: Superintendent W. A. May, of Scranton; Messrs. and Mrs. James J. Lynch, John L. Moneys, James W. O'Brien, M. J. Holleran, Mrs. E. H. Martin and daughter Agnes, Mrs. C. M. Murray, William J. Moore, Hurl J. and Grace B. Lynch, of Olyphant; Messrs. and Mrs. James B. Gilhoel, James J. Walker, John P. Walker and W. J. Glennon, of Carbondale, and W. J. Hergen, of Mayfield.

WISE WOMEN.

Those Who Head the First Symptoms of Nervous Derangement.

A dull, aching pain at the lower part of the back and a sensation of little rills of heat, or chills running down the spine, are symptoms of general womb derangement.

If these symptoms are not accompanied by leucorrhoea, they are precursors of that weakness.

It is worse than folly to neglect these symptoms. Any woman of common sense will take steps to cure herself.

She will realize that her generative system is in need of help, and that a good restorative medicine is a positive necessity. It must be a medicine with specific virtues. As a friend, a woman friend, let me advise the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If your case has progressed so that a troublesome discharge is already established, do not delay, take the Vegetable Compound at once, so as to tone up your whole nervous system; you can get it at any reliable drug store.

You ought also to use a local application, or else the corrosive discharge will set up an inflammation and hardening of the parts. Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash is put up in packets at 25 cents each. To relieve this painful condition this Sanative Wash is worth its weight in gold.

Mrs. GEORGE W. SHEPARD, Waterliet, N. Y., says: "I am glad to state that I am cured from the worst form of female weakness. I was troubled very much with leucorrhoea, bearing-down pains and backache. Before using Mrs. Pinkham's Remedies it seemed that I had no strength at all. I was in pain all over. I began to feel better after taking the first dose of Vegetable Compound. I have used five bottles, and I feel like a new woman. I know if other suffering women would only try it, it would help them."
