LOCKED COURT ROOM AMONG THE REASONS

Additional Arguments For a New Trial For Van Hora.

DIVORCE COURT'S BIG BUSINESS.

Twelve Separations Granted and Six More Applied For During the Week Just Ended .- Six Granted and One Applied For on Saturday .- Assailants of the Board of Control Win the Preliminary Battle .- Demuirer Was Overruled.

Additional arguments for the granting of a new trial in the Van Horn case were made Saturday morning before the three local judges by Attorney L. P. Wedeman

He held that court erred in refusing to permit the defendant to accompany the jury to the Wescott house; in locking the court room door during the progress of the trial and in the admission of certain portions of the testlmony of various witnesses.

Assistant District Attorney W. Gaylord Thomas appeared in opposition to the motion for a new trial. In the matter of the new found testimony of the Gairns girl, Mr. Thomas contended that it was of no consequence in the first place and even allowing that it was, it should have been produced at the trial and could have been, had the defense exercised due care and

The assailants of the school board have won first blood. On Saturday court handed down an order overruling the demurrer filed to the John Jermyn quo warranto proceedings and directing the board of control to file. within ten days, an answer to the writ, showing why the board of twenty-one presumes to administer the affairs of the school district.

THE DIVORCE RECORD.

Twelve divorces granted and six new divorce suits started is the record for the week just past. Saturday's record was six granted and one new one instituted.

George S. Atkins, of Green Ridge, was divorced from his wife Ann Athim and then deserted him. They were married in January, 1889, at Plantville, Conn., and came to live in this city a few years ago. Mrs. Atkins didn't like Scranton and wanted to not consent and she thereupon began to abuse him and after a time left him. Sarah Low secured a divorce from William Low on the grounds of unfaithfulness and desertion. They were married in Girardville, Schuylkill county, April 15, 1884.

Desertion was the grounds upor which the divorce of David E. Williams from his wife, Ella Williams. was granted. They were married March 27, 1877 and he left her in June Mary Ferris also succeeded by an allegation of desertion in securing a divorce from Howard Ferris. They were married Feb. 9, 1885 and lived together seven years.

Runaway wife was also Harry L. Walls complaint. He was married to Rose A. Wate, Nov. 20, 1890, and five years later she deserted him.

that of Ann Haggerty against Dr. Haggerty. She makes various charges upon which to base the application, among them cruelty. They were mayried Aug. 14, 1893, and on May 12, 1895. she was forced to leave his home, she

MRS. PECK'S DEPENDENCE.

What a Relative in Kingston Says with Reference to It. From the Wilker-Barre Record.

The articles sent out from Syracuse relative to the treatment of the widow of Bishop Peck, who, in her declining years, was forced to live upon the generosity of friends, after she and her husband gave every dollar they had to the institution, have caused widespread comment and an explanation from the officers of the institution is awaited.

Rev. J. K. Peck, of Kingston, a nephew of Bishop Peck, was sorry that the matter had been made public. He said he had been forced to believe that Mrs. Peck had passed the last three years of her life in dependence on her friends, Mr. Peck, of Kingston, has recently written the history of Luther Peck and his five sons, which is being published by the Methodist Book Concern. Less than a year ago he wrote to Mrs. Peck asking her if she desired to subscribe for the book, the principa! portion of which was devoted to the biography of her late husband. A reply was received from Mrs. Peck. through her agent, Rev. W. D. Rock well, in whose family she lived, stat ing that while Mrs. Peck accordethe book her most cordial support she

In connection with the gifts of the late bishop to Syracuse University, Ir. Peck stated that the first subscription was made at a convention held in Shakespeare hall, Syracuse, in 1871, and was for $25,000. As a guarantee for its payment the bishop gave an insurance pelicy on his life for $2,500 out of his own state. He accompanied this pay-ment by an additional subscription of $2.50), the payment of which drained is own means to a small sum. These inefactions established Syracuse University and Bishop Peck was its first hanceilor.

TWO STABBING AFFRAYS

One Took Place in a Boarding House on River Street, the Other on Remington Avenue.

Just before twelve o'clock last night murderously assaulted by a fellowcountrymen in a boarding house on River street during a drunken fight.

The assallant was captured and in his coat pocket was a large openbladed pocket knife with blood stains on it. He resisted viciously and it gave the officers all they could do to get him to the police station without being forced to the accessity of clubbing him. He was the surfly to give his name and the wounded man went off in search of a doctor without acquainting the patrolmen with his cognomen. A drunken melee in a house on itemingten avenue early vesterday morning resulted in a desperate knife slashing. Anthony Gurden took a knife from his pocket and drew it in a verkins on the grounds that she abused | ticle line down the back of Joe Okulsky. A gash five inches long and an

THE SCRANTON HOMING CLUB.

Its Object is the Breeding and Training of Homing Pigeons.

Since the adoption by the United States government of carrier or homing pigeons for the navy, public interest has been attracted to these re-markable birds. It is not generally known that there are many valuable homing pigeons in this city, some of which were imported from Belgium Flying matches are often held here and soveral fanciers frequently send their birds to New York city, where they are liberated. They return to Scranton in less than three hours.

A meeting was recently held by persons interested in the breeding and training of homing pigeons, and an organization effected to be known as the Scranton Homing club, Twenty members were enrolled, and the following officers elected: John Brale, president W. A. Roebling, treasurer; David J. Rutle, secretary. The club has for its object the breeding and training of homing pigeons, and the establishment of a club room, where the best methods of breeding and training birds can be discussed, matches arranged, etc.
