pulled out of Western Junction for this city. As he was busy at work getting 294,790 shares, his consignment of Christmas presents ready for delivery he felt a tap on the LEN & CO., stock brokers, Mears buildhis consignment of Christmas presents

He jumped back with a start, think-ing it was another hold-up. When he looked he made up his mind it was corse. The tap on the shoulder come rom the larger of the two bears, which in some manner had loosed themselves rom the cage and was out for trouble.

The messenger was not looking for anything of the sort, and when bruin offered to try him one fall, catch-asatch-can, he declined with thanks, ard when the cinnamon colored monster insisted, Robee made a sprint for the door of the car. It was a pretty rare between the messenger and the bear, but the former won by a head, and got through the door and closed it behind him just in the face of bruin. There he remained dancing on the platform to keep warm until the train pulled into the Union depot.

In the meantime, having the car to himself. Mr. Bruin took his time in sampling anything that struck his fan-The first thing that drew his attention was a bag of excellent apples. which he had pulled down and devoued. Nothing else edible meeting his gaze after a tour of the ear, he made a descent on the bundle of way bills the essenger had dropped on the door when he entered the ten yard dash for the door.

When the train arrived here the em ployes of the company were notified that a bear was running the car on to capture him. This took some time and left one rallway policeman with a tora coat and a scratched face. Bu in the end the bear was dragged into his cage and made fast. The bear were for Ringling Brothers at Baraboo where they are now safe in iron cages

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Dec. 28.—The bears in the stock market showed somewhat more confidence today and had some success in reducing prices. The most potent factor in their favor was the continued firmness of the money market, but much was made at one time during the day of the reported willing-bess of the secretary of the treasury to resign his office. This report was exaggrated into a story that the resignation had actually been made and the effect was to precipitate a selling movement which was however, confined to the professional traders and which reached only moderate proportions. The market showed no change from its recent holiday character and its semulated. ushels; rye, 31,000 bushels; barley, 22,00
