FORTUNE HID IN A COIN.

If You Have a Five-Franc Piece Cut It Open; It May Contain a Bill of Wenith. From the Washington Star.

If you happen to have in your possession the particular French coin known as five-franc piece you may, unwittingly, be a inillionaire. least is the belief shared by hundreds upon hundreds of credulous Frenchmen and Frenchwomen, many of whom spend most of their spare time destroving quantities of five-franc pieces in the hope of realizing a fortune.

Dr. Marco Leonardo Nardez, the well-known numismatist, and one of the recognized authorities on coin lore, speaking of this curious condition of affairs, said: "It is quite true that half of France still believes in the existence of great wealth hidden in fivefranc pieces, although many numis matists hold that the fortune in question was long ago discovered and appropriated by one of the Rothschild

"The story of the strange five-franc fortune legend may be briefly told. A five-franc piece, to begin with, is a silver coin, and is worth about $1. Napoleon I. was very anxious to make the coin a popular one, and with this end in view he caused it to be circulated everywhere throughout France that he had inserted in one of the silver pieces before it left the mint a bank note or order for 1,000,000 of these same five francs-i. e. for $1,000,600. Whether he really did this or not I cannot say for certain, but the weight of evidence would seem to show that it was done. In the manuscript memoirs of the Duc it is expressly stated that the emperor inclosed a note on the Bank of France, duly signed by the governors of that institution, in a split five-franc piece; that the halves were then welded together; partially reminted, and thrown in a heap of similar coins, which the emperor mixed with his own hands a bag when he went to Houlogne, and Mrs. Hird are popular and have a host distributed lavishly en route, even of well-wishing friends. Both were dropping some of them out of his car-remembered by their friends with riage windows. In this way it was im-many useful and costly presents. Lessible to keep track of the lucky

"The news of this odd lottery spread Maggie Hird, Miss Omia Seda Hird, far and wide, and the five-franc piece leaped into immediate favor. From that day to this mutilation of the coin Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shaw, Mr. has been common in France, Switzerand Mrs. W. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. J. land, Belgium and elsewhere. Every Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, Mr. year the Bank of France is requested and Mrs. Vetter, Eddle Vetter, Tom to make good scores of pieces split in a vain search for the five-millionfranc bank note. "There are many stories dealing with reputed finds of the fortune. Indeed, hen a man becomes suddenly rich in In Stirling, Miss Mary Smith, Mrs. France, it is common to hear people R. Wilkenson, Mrs. W. Balley, Mr. whisper: "Tiens! * * * He must whisper: John Teager, Mr. Bernard Conners, have found Napoleon's famous coin! Some assert that the emperor kept the coin himself, but this hardly agrees Mr. Vallon, Mr. Holsmaster, Mr. Da- with Napoleon's character. Still it is vis, Mr. G. Wilson, Joe Bailey, Mr. T. a current theory that some of the money which enabled Napoleon III. to patrick, Mr. J. Painter, Mr. W. Jack- reach the imperial throne was found in the lucky silver piece, which his mother, Queen Hortense, had wheedled out of her brother-in-law. It was also common talk that Gen. Boulanger had Misses Mamis and Kate Clark, of acquired the famous coin, until the Providence, are visiting Mrs. A. Dwyer, discovery that his money supplies came from the Duchess d'Uzes set that be-

"The most likely explanation as to C. D. Winter, returned to her home why the five-franc piece falls to turn yesterday. up is that Baron Ferdinand de Bothschild, a French member of the great and found sufficient proof of its truth. Attorney H. D. Carey attended deliberately set to work to locate the and collected every five-franc piece which reached them in Europe, Asia, Africa, or America. In his office the Baron kept three trusty men hard at work bisecting the coins. Some say that he had invented a plan for welding them together again, so as to defy Mrs. Freeland and son, Harold, of detection; others maintain that melted down the silver and told it to the government on bloc. The work Miss Ella Griffiths, of Scranton, is was colossal; but in the end th baron's system is said to have concuered. He found the note for $5,000,000 francs,

The order was duly presented at the Bank of France, and, says the tradition, cashed by that institution. "Plausible as the narration may eem, the great mass of Frenchmen refuse to credit it and go on, year afer year, splitting open their five-franc pieces to look for Napoleon's note. It is certainly a tantalizing thought that mowhere in the world a check for $1,000,000 is knocking about, hidden in an ordinary silver coin worth barely $1. By possessing and opening that coin the man worth just five francs

TREASURE-SEEKING IN PARIS.

Belief That Great Frensures Aro Hidden Somewhere in the City. From Chambers' Journal. Some Parislans are actually kent

may in a moment become a million-from wandering by conviction that there is hidden treasure behind the walls, or beneath the flooring, or in the chimney nook, or under the roof. You are told that during the numberless sieges to which Paris has been subjected, and the internal revolutions it has undergone, there exists not a ellar or a garret but has become the eceptacle of some part of the immense ciches accumulated in religious houses and old families. There is, perhaps, nothing irrational in the supposition that in the good old times when convents were made the depositories not only of the secrets of the aristocracy, but of the family jewels likewise, in stances must have occurred wherein these deposits were buried and remain undiscovered, together with the treasure of the confraternity. But human folly has of late years exalted this rational possibility into dazzling certainty. Every means is now resorted to, and more gold and precious time expended than the most valuable treasure could repay, in order to seize the secret which still resists discovery. While you of the matter-of-fact, plodding Anglo-Saxon race are toiling and broiling in Australia and California searching for gold, we gold-seckers of Paris find it here beneath our feet in the old quarters of the city round Notre Dame and the Hotel de Ville, where gold is teeming in greater plenty than amid the rocky boulders of California or beneath the soil of Ballarat,"

One Person in Every Four Suffers from Piles.

About one person in every four suffers from some form of rectal disease. The most common and annoying is itching piles, indicated by warmth, slight moisture and intense, uncontrol-lable itching in the parts affected.

The usual treatment has been some simple ointment or salve which sometimes give temporary relief, but nothing like a permanent cure can be expected from such superficial treatment. The only permanent cure for itching piles yet discovered is the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only for itching piles, but for every other form of piles, blind, bleeding or protruding. The first application gives instant relief and the continued use for a short time causes a permanent removal of the tumors or the small parasites which cause the intense itching and discomfort of itching Many physicians for a long time sup-

Token is vouchsafed of their real existence. From time to time, for instance, the tradition of the famous treasure buried by Napoleon's order, on his hurried departure from the Tulleries before Waterloo, is justified by the turning up in all parts of the palace garden of gold pieces and silver crowns. The boies of the elm trees down the middle alley of the garden were all marked with hieroglyphic signs, which, ceasing at certain points, began again on the lime trees of the Feuiliaus. But the elm tree where these signs began and the lime tree on which they have ended have been uproved and the soil all about them turned over without avail. Then, during the laying out of the Bois de Goulogne, great interest was excited by 46 fencing off of a portion of the wood close the Pre Catelan, and ransacking of this small spot for a month, under the superintendence of a government officer; while crowds waited anxiously outside the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents and the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents a confidently hellswal to have been seed to end of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents and the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents and the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents and the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents and the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the golden devents to end devents and the line to see one of the forty workmen strike upon the gold workmen strike upon the golden deposit confidently believed to have been buried there by Fouche, Duke of Otranto.
