West Side and City Suburban

LAST NIGHTS EVENTS.

Way New Year Was Ushered in by West Scranton People.

The members of St. Leo's Tourist club held a grand entertainment and ball at St. David's hall last evening, which was well attended. The first part of the evening was spent in enloying exercises which had been prepared by the committee of arrangements. Michael Hennigan acted as chairman and Miss Nellie Curran was accompanist. Miss Elizabeth O'Boyle sang a solo; the Misses Nellie Curran, Molly Jordan, Nellie McAndrew and Lauretta Fagan gave piano solos; Miss Molly Jordan played a violin solo and Miss Bertha Notz recited; the Misses Ross, Vockroth, Faust and Simmons a dainty repast. Mrs. Kellow was asgave an exhibition of club swinging. P. J. Noone, of Pittston; Walsh and Jessie. McDonough and the Dempsey brothers, of this city, and the McCormack brothers, of Olyphant, each gave a specialty the line of singing, dancing or reciting. The programme was completed by an original sketch by Ranhan, Aus-Jones and company, of this city. A ball followed the entertainment, for music. The hall was nicely decorated for the occasion. The young people of the Jackson Street Baptist church held a watchnight service at the church last evening, which was well attended. The service was opened at 10 o'clock and a social half-hour was spent. At 10.30 the literary part of the evening's enjoyment was carried out. The exercises consisted of vocal solos by Miss Martha Nicholls and Morris Thomas. recitations by the Misses Anna Thomas and Allie Williams, and a banjo solo by Frederick Cole. The watch-night part of the service began at 11.30 and lasted until the old year had died and the new year was born. The affair was then brought to a close by the serving of refreshments. E. R. Griffiths was chairman of the evening and was assisted by the committee of arrangements, comprising the Misses Norma Nichells, Mattle Thomas, Sadie Thomas, Elmer Davis, Peter Roberts, Albert Davis and Willie Thomas.

The members of the Sabbath school of the Scranton Street Baptist church held a little carnival in the lecture room of the church last evening. Superintendent Dr. B. G. Beddoe presided and little presents were distributed among the children.

The Christmas cantata, "St. Nicholas," which was given at the Simpson Methodist church on Christmas eve. was repeated last evening to a large audience. This performance was much better than at first.

The young people of the Bellevue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church held watch-night service at the church. The hours were spent socially and refreshments were served. The pastor, Rev. J. T. Morris, addressed the gathering with a few appropriate remarks. The congregation of the Hampton Street Methodist church commenced their watch-night service at 9 o'clock with prayer and praise service. The pastor, Rev. F. P. Doty, preached a short sermon, and a half-hour social tendance of friends of the bereft pasession followed. Prayer and praise service and a few short remarks by the pastor ushered in the new year and of the Washburn Street Presbyterian bid the old good-bye.

THEIR TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY. Important Event Celebrated by Alderman and Mrs. George T. Kellow. Alderman and Mrs. George T. Kellow invited a few intimate friends to their home, 407 Chestnut street, last evening to assist them in appropriately observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. A pleasant evening was spent. Charles Farnham and Harry Van Horn rendered vocal and instrumental selections and to recall the old event, Mr and Mrs. Kellow were remarried by Rev. J. B. Sweet, pastor of the Simpson Methodist church. At a seasonable moment the guests sat down to sisted in serving by her daughter, Miss Doyle, Charles Farnham, Harry Van Horn, Arthur Weinshenck, Harry and Bert Kellow.

INTERMENTS OF YESTERDAY.

The funeral services of the late John W. Griffiths were held yesterday afternoon at the residence, 1161 Eynon Despite the rough weather, there were many friends in attendance. Keystone lodge, No. 37, Loyal Knights of America, and the Dodge Mine Accidental fund, both of which the deceased was a member, were well represented. Rev. John T. Morris, pastor of the Believue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church, officiated and preached a funeral sermon. The floral tributes were beautiful. At the conclusion of the services, the remains viewed and then borne to the Washburn street cemetery, where interment was made. The pall-bearers ere selected from the lodge and fund. The funeral of the late Mrs. B. Elizabeth Merrin, of 517 Hampton street, was held yesterday morning from the residence. The remains were borne to the Holy Cross church, where a mass requiem was celebrated by Rev. W. P. O'Donnell, rector, at 10.15 o'clock, many friends attending. The delay was caused by waiting for the arrival of a brother of the deceased from Itah. The remains were borne to the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery, where interment was made.

The funeral services of Willie, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Evans, were held yesterday afternoon at the parental residence, 1505 Washburn street. There was a large atrents, and the floral offerings were very fine. Rev. J. P. Moffatt, pastor

Miss Mary Protheroe Davies will leave for Bucknell university the first of the week.

SOUTH SCRANTON.

The old year passed away with the usual din, of which the people of this part of the city, with so many factorbreakers, mills and workshops laying about, had more than their share. The vital moment when '98 came noisily along was passed in different ways. There were many places of amusement and almost every class of people had something to make merry over while waiting for Mr. New Year. The membership of the Scranton Saengerrunde assembled in Saengerrunde hall and sang away the time It was a happy occasion. At Hotel Best the jovial Fourteen Friends held forth. A supper was enjoyed. DUNMORE.

The proprietors of the Union cash store gave a complimentary dance as Christmas favor to their clerks Thursday night in Washington hall. It was quite an elaborate affair, and so general were the acceptances of the invitations sent out by the clerks to their friends that the hall was on the verge of being uncomfortably crowd-ed. The hall was tastefully decorated with the national colors, and the colors of the clerks' club, white, blue and lemon. Flowers in profusion bedecked the stage, where Lawrence's orchestra discoursed the dance music. The grand march was led by Paul Carry, chairman of the committee of arrangements accompanied by Miss Mame Blanche Miss Catherine O'Hara was at the head of the reception committee.

Miss May Pethick and Edward S. Geary were married Thursday in the Methodist Episcopal parsonage by Rev C. H. Hayes.

OBITUARY.

In the death of John Broadbent at Bunker Hill, near Factoryville, this community and Wyoming county loses one of their respected residents and citizens. He was a devout Christian, of the Episcopalian faith, honest and upright in all his business transactions, a kind and loving father, and a charitable neighbor. He was an Englishman by birth, coming to this country from Oldham, Yorkshire, England, in 1848, and settled at Germantown, near Philadelphia, where he re-

YANK AND JOHNNY REB. One of the Pathetic Incidents of the

Ble dy Stilfe. From the Lexington Leader. William Wilkerson, who was for many years jailer of Fayette county, and who was noted for his fidelity to truth, related the following pathetic incident of heroism which he witnessed shortly after the battle of Richmond, Ky., in 1862;

"A son of my friend, Cassius M. Clay, was killed in the fight at Richmond, and it was my duty to visit the battlefield and identify the body and take it to his father's home. While riding slowly over the scene of the battle I heard groans, which I was sure came from a corn field near at hand. Looking down the corn rows I soon discovered two wounded soldiers lying about forty yards apart. One was a federal and the other a Confederate, A cannon ball had broken and terribly manbody and thigh.

federal say just as I discovered them. His words sounded as if they came a parched mouth. "I have some water in my canteen You are welcome to drink if you'll come here,' said the Confederate, who had feebly raised his head from the ground look at his late enemy when he heard his pitiful cry for water. 'I couldn't move to save my life, groaned the federal, as he dropped his head to the ground, while his whole body quivered with agony.

"Then I beheld an act of heroism which held me spellbound until it was too late for me to give the assistance I should have rendered. The Confederate lifted his head again and took another look at his wounded foe, and I saw an expression of tender pity come over his pain-distorted face as 'Hold out a little longer, Yank, and I'll try to come to you,' "Then the brave fellow, by digging his angers into the ground and holding on to the cornstalks, painfully dragged himself to the federal's side blood from his mangled legs making a red trail the entire distance. The tears ran down my cheeks like rain. and, out of sympathy for him, I groaned every time he moved, but I was lost to everything except the fellow's heroism, and did not once think of helping

"When the painful journey was finished he offered his canteen to the federal, who took it and drank eagerly, the water seemed to sizzle as it passed down his parched throat. Then, with a deep sigh of relief, he reached out to the Confederate, and it was plain to see as they clasped hands and looked into each other's eyes that whatever of hate may have rankled once in the hearts of these men had now given place to mutual sympathy and love. Even while I watched them I saw the Confederate's body quiver as if in a spasm of pain, and when his head dropped to the ground I knew that here had crossed the dark river. The federal kissed the dead hero's hand repeatedly, and cried like a child until I had him removed to the hospital, where he, too, died the next day."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

From the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, Rev. J. H. Leiper, D. D., of Philadelphia preached a timely sermon yestetday morning in the Union Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, Rev. M. J. Sleppey, pastor, on "The Signs of the Times," taking as his text, Isaiah, xxi., 11, 12, "Watchman, what of the night?" etc. The speaker first considered some of the "night" features of our own times and nation. Among them were: The refusal of our government and the indis-position of the people to acknowledge the apremacy of the Christ in all human affairs, including civil government; the general disregard of law and carelessness in the execution of its penalties, stating there had been 10,600 murders in the Unit-ed States in a year, and that one divorce was obtained for every eleven marriages olemnized; the linor traffic, which, said, had the nation by the throat and at the same time was causing the death of 100,000 persons annually, and causing the worse than useless expenditure of many millions of dollars; the threatened blotting out of the Sabbath as a day of "Pennsylvania," he said, "had stood in the foremost of the battle for the Sab-bath. Her loyal citizens, her supreme court and her governor have stood like a wall of fire against all assaults of its ene-wies. Not the least among its defenses was the official attitude of Senator Quay, who, in 1893, moved as a condition of granting a loan to the Columbian commission that the gates should be closed on the Sabbath, and supported his mo-tion by having the clerk of the senate read Exodus, xx., 18, declaring gentlemen of the senate, is the law. Honor to whom honor is due."

Dr. Leiper then discussed the coming morning. He said: 'God is gathering the forces and training them for the decisive battle which will turn the tide of evil backward. Among these forces are: An aroused and active woman elem in all branches of the church; the marvelous energy of the Women's Christian Temperance union; the successful work of their secretary, Mrs. Mary B. Hunt, in securing a law in more than forty states which give to 13,000,000 children of the public schools a knowledge of the evil effects of narcotics and stimulants; the weekly instruction given to 29,000,000 Sabbath school children and youth on the morals of civic as well as other phases of Christian life; the efforts of the Y. M. C. A. to rescue 12,000,000 of young mer from the clutches of vice and mammon; the weekly gathering together of 3,000,000 young people in the various church so-cieties to study the great principles that underlie all social and political stability; gled both of the Confederate's legs, the prospect of supplanting the sword while the federal was shot through the body and thigh.
