a business proposition.

The writer is a stranger to me, and I judge from the tone of his remarks he must be a wood worker or planing mill hand, and as the information he seeks would, it seems to me, be of more gener-al interest I concluded to reply through The Tribune, and have so written him.

The gentleman must see this, have ob-served that according to rumor business is always more brisk and compensation more satisfactory in some other locality than his own. Thousands of men have followed this phantom clear across the continent, only to learn on the beach of the Pacific that the better conditions were still "a little further west," or "a little later on." There is no more co vincing proof that something is radically wrong in our political system, than the condition which makes it necessary for this mechanic to seek such information. However the spirit of unrest that prevails in Scranton applies with greater force here. Ours is largely a floating population. A man is here today and on his way to Butte or San Francisco tomorrow. A glance at the man will consider row. A glance at the map will convince an observer that a man must be doubly unfortunate who finds himself in Salt Lake City and "broke." We are an oash n Sahara; $25 from Denver and $35 from Montana or the coast. There is nothing intermediate; break beams must be un comfortable and it is a lonely walk.

It is a decided advantage to reside where business centers are close togeth-er, therefore easily and cheaply reached, specially so in times of abnormal con-ditions. I am certain I would be justified in saying there was more to occupy the attention of mechanics here during the past season than in the four preceding years combined, yet wages were but 29 and 25 cents per hour, and nine hours per day, and an abundance of skilled labor unemployed. What the coming season may produce is sheer speculation, and I would not be justified in writing hopefully as we shall be quite satisfied if we can care for our own. I would, in-deed, be pleased to assist my correspond-ent, but it would be criminal for me to advise mechanic, clerk or jaborer to seek that to improve his financial condition.

TWO LIVELY CAUCUSES.

They Were Held by the Democrats of the Sixth and Eighteenth Wards. The ballots have been cast, the smoke ward offices in the Sixth and Eighteenth wards on the Democratic ticket have been nominated. This is the result of yesterday's caucuses in the F. yet, at least so far as the select council nomination in the Sixth is con-

The lines in that ward were closely drawn, promises were made and the contest went merrily on. Now the period of reckoning is drawing nigh. The seeds of suspicion have been sown in the minds of the Clarke supporters, on account of the vote in the First Third districts. Repeating is hinted at in the First and the trouble in the Third grows out of the fact that eighty votes were cast for a Democrat where only twenty-three good, straight votes of that calibre are

WILL RUN INDEPENDENT.

Editor of The Tribune. I wish to announce to my friends that owing to a previous agreement I will run for select council. I believe that certain circumstances were taken advantage of as for instance, in the Third district, where it was supposed that only twenty-three Democratic votes were polled and at the election eighty were cast, consequently the agreement above mentioned leaves it open for me to conscientiously run independently. Other circumstances exist in the other two districts which strengthen my intention of running. M. E. Clarke. In the Eighteenth ward surprises of the most startling kind were in coder. Friends met as enemies and only one vote decided and under protest at that, Alderman John J. Kelly was judge of election and it was charged favored Mr. O'Boyle just as much as he dared. Mr. Hoban's friends got angry and a avenue. further tale may yet be recorded in the annals of the Democracy of this ward.

A burglary of the Clark company store at the corner of North Main avenue and Green Ridge street on Dec 23, was followed by another on the night of Dec. 30. On neither occasion was any great amount of goods taken, but the last lob was ferretted out by a simple process and the culprit was arrested and committed to jail yesterday.

Entrance to the store on the right of the 30th was gained through a rear wirdow. Six gold rings, a box of cigers and a turkey were taken. The employes were cautioned to say nothing about the case which was reported to lican, which was first published as the police and given in charge of Detective Moir. The detective found the rings in Davidow's pawnshop. The description furnished by Davidow tallied with that of Peter Rieber. latter was an employe of the West Ridge mine, which is under the same management as is the store. He was errested last evening and identified by Davidow. At a hearing before Alderman Fidler, Rieber admitted his guilt and was committed to jail in default of $300 bail.
