THERE WAS A COLLISION.

Trolley Car and Coal Train Came Together with a Crash.

It was a tired and be-draggled, yet happy crew of men who reached here from Moosic at 4.20 o'clock yesterday The lone passenger, who morning. had early congratulated himself that he had succeeded in catching the last car from Moosic to Scranton, was also a sharer of the happiness of the others. The car ought to have reached the office on or about 1.20 o'clock vesterday morning. A rapidly moving coal train on the Susquehanna Connection Railroad at Greenwood was the cause of the delay.

Just as the car cleared the hill at Greenwood the power never seemed more powerful. No one seemed abroad lowing sub-committees were appointed: but suddenly there was a crash, quiver, twist and the car stood at right angles to the track, Its fender had disappeared, the headlight was crushed out of shape and very little of the front platform remained.

When the badly shaken and frightened men inside the car had recovered from the shock and got out of the car they began a search for the motorman. Several rods from the car they found him in an unconscious state, A little snow and a gentle chaping of his wrists soon revived him.

When the motorman recovered his power of speech he explained that as the car was approaching the crossing a coal train on the steam road came out of the woods a few yards below the crossing, and before he could stop the car there was a comsion.

SKELLY, OF BROOKLYN, HERE.

Arranging the Details for Wednesday's Judge-Ryan Contest.

Jack Skelly, of Brooklyn, manager of the American Sporting club, was in Scranton last night arranging for next Wednesday night's 20-round boxing contest in Music hall between Tommy Ryan, of Philadelphia, and Jim Judge. Skelly was met here by Judge and the latter's trainer, Bobby Dobbs, who came down from Carbondale for that Skelly, Judge, Dobbs and the local members of the club were in conference at the Conway house where it was announced that all the arrangements had been made for the bout and the disputed question of weight settled. Ryan, who is naturally heavier than the Scrantonian, had been insisting upon an agreement to weigh 143 pounds at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, while Judge stipulated that they should weigh in at the ringside. It was finally settled by Judge who said Ryan could weigh what he pleased.

Charley McKeever, of Philadelphia will be here to challenge the winner from the stage to a meeting before the Palace club, of Trenton, Pat Murphy, the ex-boxing instructor of the Scranton Athletic club, has been engaged to referee the bout. A good 8-round preliminary is promisbetween Jack Livingston and John Dunleavy, the pair who gave such a fast exhibition on the night of the American club's bouts in December and which was won by Livingston.

"To enter the store It is necessary to pass through two doors, between the two being a small vestibule. The burglars succeeded in gaining an entrance to the vestibule by boring a hole near the lock, then prying the double doors apart. Two small panes of glass had also been removed from the inner door but the latter was still tightly locked. "It is believed that it was while the thieves were endeavoring to open the inner door that they were frightened away. There is one clearly defined case that three doctors have passed upon and six or seven other cases in which the unmistakable symptoms have made themselves apparent. Dr. J. P. Waiker was called yester-day to attend Thomas Forkan, of 209 Fourth street, who was taken suddenly and violently ill during the morning. He found the patient afflicted with the dread disease and at once summoned Dr. S. P. Longstreet and Dr. Walter M. Reedy in consultation. They verified his diagnosis and agreed with him that the victim would not live through the Steps were taken to prevent conta-zion and the case reported to the board of health. Dr. Walker also reported that he has heard there are six or seven cases in Bellevue where the symptoms gave strong indications of the same disease.

The disease is known to medicine as erebro spinal meningitis and is an indammatory affectation of the base of the brain. Its most pronounced symptom is a paralysis, which causes the patient to rest only on the head and heels. Primary symptoms are vomiting, retching and delicium.

ARRANGING A BENEFIT.

The Friends of George E. Davis Are Preparing to Give Him a Testimonial of Their Regard.

The preliminary steps were taken ast night to arrange a benefit for George E. Davis, formerly propulator of Davis' theater on Linden street. When Mr. Davis was in the theatrical business his largeness of heart and charitable disposition were frequently shown. For three successive years he gave his theater, a company, attaches, etc., without cost and personally conducted an entertainment for the benefit of the board of associated charities, These entertainments netted the board ver $1,100.

These annual benefits were only one ray in which Mr. Davis demonstrated his practical charity. Recently dull business compelled him to close the doors of his theater and instead of a modest competency which most people imagined he had acquired in the theatrical business it was ascertained by those closest to him that he was pracically without resources.

Many of his admirers were enxious a show their appreciation of his worth and a testimonial benefit was suggest-

SPECIAL OFFICER UNDER ARREST

His Name is Patrick Morris and He Is Charged with Extorting Money.

THE TESTIMONY AT THE HEARING

Charles H. Keller Alleges That Morris Was Taking Him and Marie Stewart to the County Jail on a Committment Issued by Alderman Kelly and Released Them for a Consideration -- Morris Entered

Patrick Morris, a special officer, was The prosecutor, Charles H. Keller, of part of a certain sum of money demanded by Morris for the release of Keller and Marie Stewart, both of whom were being taken to the county jail in default of ball on a criminal The commitment for Keller and Marie Stewart was made out by Alderman Kelly.

The Stewart woman and Keller were given a hearing by Alderman Kelley Wednesday on the charge of assault and battery, and in default of ball they were both committed. Morris was the officer entrusted to take the prisoners to the county jail.

STARTED FOR THE JAIL.

In the early hours of Thursday morning he started on his trip from Alderman Kelley's office, in the Eighteenth ward, to the fail, on North Washington avenue. According to the information sworn out by Keller the special officer on the way to the jail made a proposition.

He proposed that on payment of $11 he would release both Keller and the woman. Keller had but $7 with him, He offered this to Morris, promising to pay the remaining $4 when he could Morris, it is alleged, accepted the $7 and released the prisoners. What Morris did with the money Alderman Kelley does not know. He made no returns to the office of the alderman of the Eighteenth ward.

Yesterday Keller appeared before Alderman Millar and had a warrant issued for Morris' arrest, charging extortion, Morris was arrested and waived a hearing. The bail was fixed at $300, for which he furnished security and was released.

THE TROUBLE STARTS.

The trouble which caused the arrest of Keller and the Stewart woman occurred early in the week in a house Center street. George Archbald, who was a third person in the affair; was arrested on a warrant sworn out before Alderman John T. Howe by the Stewart woman, and held under $200 bail to answer at court the charge of assault and battery.

He, it seems, then went before Alderman Kelley and caused the arrest of Keller and the Stewart woman on a counter charge.

The following executive strations of the features for which the exhibits at the various booths are famed.

Some of the goods that will be exhibited are teas, coffees, chocolate cocoa, soups, canned goods, cereals, pickles, beef tea, junket and an instantaneous jelly, which is coming into great favor with thrifty housewives. One of the novelties that will be shown and given away is "Kofeko," a substitute for coffee, which is healthful and delicious. The young ladies at the booths will brew tea, etc., prepare soups and give those who visit the exhibit an accurate idea of the manner in which the particular article they have in charge should be prepared in order to secure the best results. All of the young women are experienced demonstrators, who are sent on for the occasion by the manufacturer of the particular article they have in charge, Samples of the articles on exhibition will be given away. Besides this very interesting exhibit there will be music by Bauer's orchestra and miscellaneous selections from graphaphones. The fifteen booths are now in place. They are of handsome design, pure white in color, and each is ornament with bunting of a distinctive color, no two being exactly alike. The exhibit will continue for three of four weeks.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

An Old Photograph Shows What the Site of This City Looked Like in the Year 1857.

John McGuire, of Green Ridge, has a photograph of Scranton in 1857, for which he has declined a cash offer of $100. The picture was "taken" from a on what is now Ninth street, and shows stretches of woodland, pastures and dusty wagon roads, calculated to make even an old resident wonder at the difference between the then and the now. It is not known what photographer made the picture, but that fact is ov-erlooked in what the picture reveals, or does not reveal according to the thought of the beholder. From Ninth street to the river is a stretch of barren looking, stump studded fields, some of them fenced and others unconfined. Only a scarce half-dozen of cheap wooden structures appear in the area mentioned, and it might be supposed that part of the present great city was uninhabited but for the welltraveled pathway leading to the rall-

Scranton proper, Pine Brook and the South Side are shown as distinct and separate running hamlets, while "the hill' is a waste of fields, and tree clusters, the old Hitchcock homestead, now occupied by W. W. Watson, being the only dwelling in the present fashionable locality covering a good square mile or more

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot in the picture looks like an ordinary cheaply constructed wooden building, from which a single track crosses the bridge or trestle, and then divides, one track winding up the hill toward Providence, and another disappearing beneath the brow of the Hyde Park hill down the valley.

There is hardly a suggestion that the grading of the Delaware and Hudson or Jersey Central tracks, on each side of the river, would be a possibility, The course of the stream, different then than now, with its steep banks, and patches of foliage on the knolls and hills bordering its course are thoroughly deceptive when one tries to decide the present location of the Jersey Central depot, the freight houses, electric light power stations or any of the

PRES. SANDERSON'S RULING QUESTIONED

South Side Sewer Exponents Propose to Take Action.

NOT IN THE PRESIDENT'S PROVINCE

They Say He Had No Right to Rule on a Question of Finance Such as Was Involved in the Resolution to Award the Sewer Contract to Dune Bros .- Is Claimed That the City Controller Is the Proper Judge.

An effort will be made at next Thursday night's meeting of select council shatter President Sanderson's decision in reference to the resolution awarding to Dunn Brothers the contract for building the big main sewer in the Eleventh, Twelfth and Nine teenth wards on the South Side.

The resolution passed common council but when it was presented for conurrence in the upper branch last week President Sanderson ruled it out of order on the ground that not by the sewer ordinance or otherwise had any appropriation been made for the city's share of the expense, about $23,000. He held that it was a clear mandate of the state constitution, that no expense could be created by ordinance if no provision had been previously made therefor. On this ground he ruled the resolution out of order.

Since President Sanderson's ruling the supporters of the ordinance in and out of councils have been thinking They have reached these two conclusions: President Sanderson himself destroyed the soundness of his ruling by permitting the resolution to be referred to committee for consideration in confunction with the city solicitor, he having previously ruled the resolution out of order; it was further not his province to rule on a question of finance or any other question concerning other than the strictly parliamentary business of councils, but that the resolution should have been permitted to reach the city controller, who is the proper official to decline to act under if there had been no provision made to meet the expense the resolution in volved.

A meeting of several property owners of considerable prominence and who are directly interested in the resolution conferred yesterday with certain city officials concerning the action to be taken at next Thursday night's meeting. Good legal counsel, they say, has advised them that President Sanderson had no right to make his ruling-the question of finance being immaterial in the matter-and that the provisions of the ordinance amply cover the city's prospective expense.

When Dr. Hand was duly arraigned istrate he found confronting him, not the constable who made the charge, but a single witness, a store-wager driver who averred that he had seen the doctor drive upon the sidewalk or Prospect avenue. The doctor was anxlous to see Corstable Moran to ascertain thereby if possible who it was that had buncoed him into driving into a trespass suit, but that official was not at hand. The doctor explained the matter to the alderman and the latter said he would give a decision later. The decision came yesterday and it was, as indicated above, "no cause
