

FOUR SHOPLIFTERS ADMIT THEIR GUILT

Will Be Sentenced by Judge Edwards Next Saturday.

MRS. WILLIAMS WILL MAKE A FIGHT

Her Case, However, Will Not Be Tried Until the Next Term of Court. The Other Two Cases, It Is Expected, Will Be Tried Today.

Pleas of guilty were yesterday entered by Mrs. George Westcott, Mrs. Ellen Randall, Mrs. Fannie Griffiths and Mrs. Evan Thomas, four of the seven women indicted for shoplifting.

The trial of Mrs. Susan Boston, charged with taking goods from Clements, Fisher & O'Malley, and of Mrs. Maggie Thomas, who, it is charged, was guilty of shoplifting in Golden's Bazaar, will probably take place today.

Mrs. H. M. Williams' trial has been postponed until the next term of court, owing to the absence of one of her material witnesses. She is charged with six different thefts.

TRAMP MARKSMEN. James Aik and Robert Morrison, two tramps, charged with wantonly shooting into a crowd of boys in Taylor, were found guilty of wantonly discharging firearms and sentenced to four months each in the county jail.

After an exciting scrimmage the tramps were arrested and locked up. In the evening, when they were arraigned before Burgess Griffiths, Aik and Morrison were identified as the pair that had done the shooting.

NOT GUILTY. Frank Etie, hotelkeeper, of Austin Heights, failed to make out a good case against Martin Cominsky, whom he charged with having thrown a stone through a window of his hotel, and the jury said "not guilty."

George Betovitch was arraigned to answer for stealing $40 from Michael Unzerzitch, but from Michael Good and an overcoat from Alex Narekka. He denied the first charge, admitted the second and regarding the third said that the overcoat in question was then owned by his back, but it had been bought by him by Narekka's wife.

CASE FROM THE RIDGE. Paul Gommary, his wife, Mary Gommary, and a neighbor, John Houck, of the Ridge, were on trial at adjournment for larceny and receiving.

Thayer is looking after the defense. Anthony Simon, of Park Place, prosecuted Charles Block for assault and battery, but the trial developed the fact that Block by right should have been the prosecutor, and a verdict according was rendered, "not guilty; defendant pay the costs."

DISPOSITION OF TILSTON CASE. Judge Albright gave binding instructions to the jury for defense. At yesterday's session of the special term of common pleas, which is engaged in disposing of Traction Company cases, another victory was scored by the defendant company. Judge Albright, in a lengthy opinion, granted the motion of Jessup & Jessup, the company's attorneys, for binding instructions in the Tilston case and a verdict in favor of the defendant was accordingly rendered.

When the case had been disposed of the case in which Patrick and Bridget Malla sue for $30,000 damages was taken up. Jessup & Jessup appeared for the company and O'Brien & Kelly for the plaintiff.
