GRAVE CRIMES

Olchefski, Accused Dynamiter, and the Bogart Burglars on Trial.

Trials Will Probably Last for Several Days.

Judge Archbald in the Main Court Room Is Trying the Arson Case, and Judge Gunster in No. 2 Presides Over the Burglary Trial. Case Up to Adjoarnment.

The trial of two unusually important cases, the Olchefski explosion and the Hogart burglary, were begun yesterday in criminal court, the former before Judge Archbald in the main court room and the latter before Judge Gunster in court room No. 2. It is likely three days and the Olchefski case will possibly continue even longer.

District Attorney Jones called the Olchefski ease first. An over and terminer jury was insisted upon, and it afternoon that twelve acceptable men were found. They are:

Joshua Doran, farmer, Covington John L. Swartz, five-yman, Dalton, Edward Shick, stonemason, South Abing

John V. Francis, miner, Taylor, N. B. Robinson, farmer, Scott. James M. Williams, clerk, Scranton, Frank A. Bone, upholsterer, Scranton, Harry Caskey, clerk, Scranton, Thomas P. Martin clerk, Moscow, Henry Grottan, fireman, Scranton, John E. Owens, miner, Taylor, Andrew H. Allen, civil engineer, Dan-

The technical crime with which Leon Olchefski is charged is arson. On the morning of June 29, 1897, at about 12.40, a terrific explosion startled the South Side and in fact made itself felt over the entire city. It occurred in a large the corner of Pittston avenue and Elm street, and owned by Mrs. Leon Olchefski. It was occupied on the ground floor with a saloon kept by Joseph Michalowski and a general store, of which Olchefski was proprietor, and on the upper floor was a targe hall used for dances and society meetings.

BUILDING DEMOLISHED. The force of the explosion completely demolished the building and did extensive damage to adjoining property. tossing people out of their beds in the houses immediately adjacent.

The ruins took fire and the flames ing the property of Michael O'Hara. which adjoined on Prospect avenue. rear on Elm street, in which Olchefski, Michalowski and Daniel Langowski lived with their respective fam-

After the first survey of the situation there was no question in the minds of the authorities but that a crime had been committed and before the end of an hour's examination the following the following day suspicion pointed so strongly to Olchefski that he was ar-

He denied all knowledge of how the thing occurred and could offer no explanation as to what could have caused

He stated to Chief Hickey, of the fire department, and Chief of Police Robling that he went to bed at 9 o'clock and was awakened from his sleep by the explosion. He pulled on his trousers and ran out of the house by the rear door. As he came out into the yard he was knocked down and pinhadly bruised and the flames scorched debris, but by a superhuman effort he succeeded in releasing himself and then went and rescued his family.

PLACED UNDER ARREST. The fact that Olchefski was in Michalowski's saloon at 10.30; that the furniture rescued from his burning dwelling was dripping with kerosene; that his stockings were likewise saturated; that he had told several parties he kept dynamite in the store and later denied having told this, together with various other minor suspicious circumstances forced the conclusion that he was guilty. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when a Tribune reporter discovered goods, such as perfumery and fancy articles, concealed in Olchefski's barn, the police forthwith caused the suspect's arrest.

He was given a hearing before Alderman Millar and held to bail to inswer at court. The case has been down for trial at several sessions, but through various causes was continued from time to time until yesterday, when the commonwealth had everything ready and elected to proceed to trial. District Attorney Jones is conducting the prosecution unaided. Fire Chief Hickey appears as prosecutor. Olchef-ski is represented by Attorneys C. E. Olver, John F. Scragg and John P.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Jones began his opening, speaking for nearly an hour. After outlining the circumstances of the crime, he stated that the common ARE ALLEGED wealth proposed to show that the Olthe $4,000 store building, for instance, being insured for $6,000; that Olchefski had become mixed up in a church quar-rel and in consequence his business was going to pieces; that he tried to purchase dynamite at two different places in the city, only a short time before the explosion; that he acknowledged having had sixty-five sticks of dynamite in the cellar, but afterwards denied it: that he was seen carrying away goods from the store and that some of these goods were afterwards STORY OF THE OFFENSES discovered in his barn; that his wife had taken a number of her dresses to a neighbor's house shortly before the day of the crime and soon afterwards called and got them back again; that in contradiction of Olchefski's statement that he went to bed at 9 o'clock, he was seen about the building as late as 19.30 and that people in Michalow-ski's saloon heard hammering going on in the Olchefski store much later than that.

EVIDENCES OF KEROSENE. These circumstances, together with the finding of kerosene in the bureau drawers, on the carpet, in the stuffed bottoms of mohair covered chairs, the Both Have Over and Terminer cut open with a knife, and the other covers of which appeared to have been Juries -- Progress Made in Each evidences of kerosene having been scattered about the dwelling house, was sufficient, the district attorney contended, to establish Olchefski's guilt beyond a doubt.

Fire Chief P. J. Hickey was the first witness to take the stand. His testimony tended to establish the fact that there had been a severe explosion, damaging to property and dangerous to life, and that it was a criminal act. In describing the force of the explosion, he stated that the side walls of that petther case will last less than the building were strewn over the entire width of both streets, the bottom boards being farthest out from the shattered building. Some pieces of scantling were found two hundred feet away and in the brick directly across was not until nearly 2 o'clock in the Pittston avenue, both the front and rear windows were blown completely out of their sashes. He also described the finding of the kerosone-soaked furniture and said further in this connection that he ran his fingers through Olchefski's hair and found it soaked with kerosene.

On cross-examination, Mr. Scragg was contented to show that Olchefski's family lived in the building adjoining and only a few feet away from the wrecked store and that kerosene lamps were used for lighting the dwelling

Peter Robling, jr., stoker of the Neprell, of the William Connell Hose company, and William Fickus, of the Nep-tunes, also described the condition of the building after the explosion, the bris wascenes immediately following the fire tubes. two-story frame building, situated at and the discovery that the furniture and carpets were soaked with kero-

ew People Understand or Realize It. A Clear Explanation of Its Nature and How to Avoid it Clearly

What is this mysterious trouble that coming upon the people? Why is it that we see so many men who look weakened, nerveless and wholly out of condition?

Why are so many women, whom we see pale, with parched lips, dark lines under the eyes and a general lack of

These things seem to be greatly increasing of late, and without any apparent cause. We see more men who lack vigor than ever before. We meet more women who seem broken-down than in the past. Surely there must be a cause for all this-and there is. These troubles can arise from but one cause, namely, disordered kidneys or urinary organs. Indeed, it is now admitted that the region of the lower body is the prime source of most phygical ills. When the kidneys become diseased the blood becomes poisoned and all the troubles such as sleeplessness, lack of appetite, nervelessness, restlessness, tired and despondent feelines follow in its wake.

The truth is, the people are not well; but they should be, and they can be if they would only take the means of recovery that are near at hand. In writing upon this subject, Dr. R. A. Gunn, Dean and Professor of Surgery of the United States Medical College, New

It is undoubtedly true that Americans as a people, are in a more or less serjour condition, and that there are complaints which have become national diseases. But it is also true that modern science has provided an adequate remedy which is able to fully control it and supplant sickness and misery by health and happiness.

Clever Katie Rooney.

"A Girl from Ireland," an amusing farce served to introduce Katis Rooney and the members of her company to a fair sized audience at the Academy of Music last night. Miss Rooney gave im-Rooney and specialities of her own that several other very entertaining persons in the company and the performance as n whole is pleasing and satisfactory. It will be repeated this and tomorrow af ternoons and evenings.

Never Again Tonight.

The management of the Lyceum has received the following telegram from Mr. John L. Kerr, manager of the Lyceum in regard to the show, "Never Again," which is to be at the Lyccum tonight: Syracuse, Feb. 7.—"Never Again," which you have billed for Tuesday night is the funniest show and has the best company that has been here this season. My Friend from India. It isn't often a playwright finds himself in such a position that he can compel a manager to pay him weekly royalties on play before it has been produced, but that is just the happy predicament in which Mr. H. A. Souchet once found himself. He's the man who wrote "My Friend From India." After that piece made its phenomenal and unexpected hit, he wrote another comedy, "The Man From Mexico." Of course, Managers Smyth and Rice, who owned "My Friend From dindia." bought the play and con-tracted to produce it before March 1. The earlier comedy had proved such a success, however, that they really hadn't a chance to put on the new play until 1, and so rather than lose it, they paid Mr. Du Souchet a weekly royalty for two months, just the same as if it were playing to good business every night. "My Friend From Indh" will be seen at the Lyceum tomorrow night.

The Girl from Paris.

The much talked of presentation of Edward E. Rice's "The Girl From Paris," will be seen in this city at the Lyccum on Thursday evening. Feb. 10. It is the same merry, bright, musical comedy with its humorous story, happy incidents and catchy music, and the Gay Parisienne will add new laurels to her bright career. wherever she goes. Already the strains of "Sister Mary Jane's Top Note," "The Batterees Butterfit Shooters," "So Take Battereea Butterfit Shooters." "So Take You a Warning," "I'm All the Way from Gay Paree." and other musical numbers have become familiar. "The Girl From Paris" will be presented here by the New York company in the same complete man-ner as seen at the Herald Square theater with its chorus of sixty voices and a largely augumented orchestra, under the
