POISONED THE BREAD.

Dose Prepared for Rats Entered Human Stomach.

Michael Mahosky, who runs the hotel just north of the Ontario and Western crossing on Belmont street, nearly terminated the life of his wife and two children in his effort to rid the house of rats and mice. Having decided to wage war against the vermin he purchased some rat polson. He mixed the stuff in flour and then set it aside intending to distribute it later.

The domestic came across the pan and supposing it to be nothing but flour added it to the dough she was mixing for this week's supply of bread. Mrs. Mahosky and the children ate some of the bread for dinner yesterday. During the afternoon the youngest child aged about 4 years, became ill. She complained of pains in her stomach, and the usual remedies for colic were administered. The child grew worse and vomiting soon became vio-

But the older child, aged 10, soon after displayed symptoms similar to those of her sister, and while Mr. Mahosky was attempting to alleviate her uffering, the mother was attacked. Niles was then called and at e discovered that it was a case of soning. At midnight he had the paents out of danger. The doctor's atements jogged Mr. Mahosky's mem-. He went to look for his dish of poison and the cause of the fam-'s Illness was then located.

MAIN STREET PAVEMENT.

One of the problems with which city ouncils will soon be obliged to grapple is the repairing or replacing of the Main street pavement. The frost has heaved it into terrible condition and yesterday it was necessary to chisel off high bricks in a number of places to allow street cars to pass. The guarantee of the contractors was for five years and the pavement is about eight

Treatment of All Such Diseases. It has long been thought not only by some physicians but by people in general, that the common, painful and exceedingly annoying trouble, piles, was practically incurable by any other means than a surgical operation and this belief has been the cause of years of needless suffering, because of the natural dread of surgical operations.

There are many salves, ointments and similar remedies on the market which afford some relief in cases of piles, but the Pyramid Pile Cure is the only preparation so far introduced that can be reliably depended upon to cure to stay cured, every form of itching, bleeding or protruding piles.

Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, of 601 Mississippi street, Indianapolis, was told by her physicians that nothing but a surgical operation costing between seven and eight hundred dollars, could cure her as she had suffered for fifteen years; yet even in such a case as hers the Pyramid Pile cure accomplished a complete cure. She says: "I knew an operation would be death to me and ried the Pyramid with very little hope and it is not to be wondered at that am so enthusiastic in its praise."

Mr. D. E. Reed, of South Lyons Mich., says: I would not take $500 and be placed back where I was before I used the Pyramid Pile Cure, I suffered for years and it is now eighteen months since I used it and not the slightest trace of the trouble has returned. Sunday with Miss Emma Roberts, of COUNTRY DOCTOR'S PRACTICE. The Many Hardships and Peculiar Experiences He flas.

Frim the Journal of Medicine and Science A continuous practice of twentyseven years, even in a small commun ity and by a physician who claims only ordinary skill or success, must necessarily afford many cases of medical interest. The clientele does not change so rapidly as in cities, and one gets better acquainted with family traits and peculiarities. These are sometimes very marked. I am acquainted with certain families in which the prognosis in any serious disease is bad from the start, while I know other families in which I should never think of giving a patient up-unless recovery was imessible—until actually moribund. I wish it were in my power to describe adequately some of the more important cases that have come under my notice.

The early years of my practice in this town were peculiarly hard. There were two other physicians in it, but they were both advanced in yearsconsiderably older than the writer himself is today. They were both of excellent repute in the community, and when the infirmities of age would allow them to attend they were sure to be called upon. As a consequence of this the greater part of my business was in the adjoining towns. Living on Al the seacoast where the land is much intersected by estuaries, a large part of my practice was reached by crossing the water or by traveling on foot. Many a time have I been routed from my bed at 12 and 1 o'clock at night in Al the dead of winter, and been rowed a mile or more across the water, and then had to walk up to my knees in snow for several miles. When I came here there were but five horses in the village, and very few in the surround-ing towns, so that walking was often necessity. I did not ride a bicycle because there were none; roads were too poor. I remember on two occasions after crossing the water I had to walk five miles in the deep snow. I went solely as a matter of duty. I undoubtedly saved the life of my patient, and he paid me with a promise to bring me some fish.

Much of my early practice was on somewhat distant islands, and though the trip was enjoyable enough in pleasant summer weather in a good yacht, it was decidedly the reverse in an open boat in a winter's gale. The trips in a summer fog though not dangerous were not exatly agreeable. On several occasions I have spent nearly the en-tire night on the water rowing aimlessly about and unable to find my destination The hardest time that I ever experienced was once in the spring when the ice was breaking up. I had a distance of but three miles to go-two by water and one by land. I reached the place after some delay, but on my return to the shore I found the stream so full of floating ice that it was impassable. I was so anxious to get back that I offered twenty-five dollars to any one who would undertake to get me across. The amount offered was five times that of my fee. I could find no one who would risk the attempt. I then got a man to take me in his sleigh to a point where the ice had not broken up, so placed on the barber shop now occupied by Charles Leuthold. that I might walk across, I started for a house that I saw, but lost my way on the ice and landed in thick woods. There had been a heavy storm a day or two before and I floundered around in the snow, one minute on a rock or boulder and the next up to my neck in a drift, until I became so exhausted that after I at length got sight of the house I could not get to it until had lain down on the snow and rested nearly half an hour. I left my home at 8 a, m. and did not get back until p. m. I lost twenty dollars by being away and have never fully recovered from the exposure and fatigue I underwent. Fortunately advancing years bring some alleviations-I leave all such trips now for my juniors.

THIRD SEMI-ANNUAL SHOE SALE

FEBRUARY, 1898

THE NEWARK SHOE STORE

The policy of "The Newark" is never to carry over their shoes from season to season, to become old, shop-worn and out of date, but at the end of each season's trading to dispose of them at prices that make them go quick, thus keeping their stock always new and clean and showing each season only the latest and most desirable goods the shoe markets produce.

OUR THIRD SALE IS NOW ON

And Continues the Entire Month.

We propose making this sale sensational as regards to prices. Every pair of shoes in the store will be subject to big cuts in price, but the odds and ends, broken lots and surplus lines will be tabled at prices much less than you'd think of offering for them. It isn't often you have such extraordinary money-saving opportunities for shoe buying. So take adv ntage of Our Great February Shoe Sale. Note prices carefully:
