WATKIN WATKINS.

The First Child Born at Welsh Settlement Thought to Be Dyslexic.

Many friends and acquaintances in this city will be sorry to learn that Watkin Watkins of the Welsh Settlement, has been stricken with partial paralysis, and it is feared that his death is not far off. Mr. Watkins has the distinction of being the first child born in the settlement. He is six years of age. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watkins came to this place when it was a hamlet in 1832 and the father was one of the first men to delve for dusky diamonds where the Wurts brothers began the mines of anthracite coal. He continued at the work for a very short time, however, before locating with many others at the Welsh settlement.

Delicate children! What a source of anxiety they are! The parents wish them hearty and strong, but they keep thin and pale.

To all these delicate children Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites comes with the best of news.

It brings rich blood, strong bones, healthy nerves, and sound digestion. It is growth and prosperity to them.

No matter how delicate the child, it is readily taken.

INTENSE SUFFERING

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble.

INSTANTLY RELIEVED AND PERMANENTLY CURED.

A New Discovery, but Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable cure of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: The patient was a man who had suffered to my knowledge for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create acid and gases in the stomach; he had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured. There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he had gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

Without a question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach however slight or severe.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at fifty cents for full sized package.

PRICEBURG.

Thursday morning people were awakened from their sleep by the cries of a man running along the street crying "Fire! fire!" and the blowing of the gongs at Johnson's No. 1 and two other collieries. Upon investigation it was found to be the new Welsh shanty, which was just erected when the Johnson No. 1 and two breakers were erected. At first it was thought that the breaker would be idle, but it worked today the same as usual. The Eagle Hose company responded to the call, but as there were no water plugs in that part of the borough they could give no assistance. William Stevens was hurt by being shot in Stors' mine yesterday.

TO PREVENT A COLD.

A Simple but Effective Method—Set the Blood in Rapid Motion.

From the Philadelphia Ledger. A cold, as nearly every intelligent person knows, is the result of a stoppage somewhere of free circulation of the blood, to which one is first sensitive through a feeling of chill. So slight is the chill oftentimes that not until the preliminary sneeze comes is the victim aware he or she has been in the track of a draught, or that the temperature has changed. The usual notion is by going indoors, changing to heavier clothing, or retreating from the moist atmosphere the danger is averted.

These precautions are all well enough, but the first and most efficacious measure should be to restore the quick flow of warm blood through every vein and so by heat instantly counteract the little chill. One and perhaps the simplest method of doing this has been learned by men who stand on sentinel duty, who are obliged to suffer more or less exposure in winter or who scorn the comforts in cold weather of overshoes, overcoat and umbrella.

Their method is, when the temperature of the body or extremities is lowered or a sudden chill or quick change from warm to cold atmosphere is endured, to inhale three or four deep breaths, expand the lungs to their fullest extent, holding every time the inhaled air as long as possible, and then slowly letting it forth through the nostrils. In doing this the inflation of the lungs sets the heart into such quick motion that the blood is driven with unusual force along its channels, and runs out into the tiniest veins. This radiates a glow down to the toes and finger tips and sets up a quick reaction against the chill. In short, the whole effect is to stir the blood and set its motion as from rapid exercise.

Let any woman who goes to a dinner or ball in a winter dress, when the rooms are chilly and her wraps not accessible try this little cure, or, better still, this preventive against cold, and enjoy the merits.

Let her try it when taking a cold drive or when subjected by accident to sit in wet garments. Let the maxim of a victim to colds be always: Keep the blood in rapid action; use the deep held breaths where a first chill is felt, but if the system has been attacked and seems about to yield to a cold try other simple home remedies to exorcise the demon.

PLAYED A MEAN TRICK.

How McKinley's District Was Once Carried by the Democrats.

The Democrats a few years ago elected David R. Paige to congress from what is now the McKinley district in Ohio, though it has been changed somewhat by gerrymandering since then. The district at that time had a normal Republican majority of 1,000, and Paige pulled through by the narrow margin of nineteen votes. In so close an election, of course, it is by a quired only a slight change to affect the result. It has always been charged that Paige won by a trick.

His opponent was Captain A. S. McClure, of Wooster, an able young lawyer, who relied mainly upon the strong Republican majority behind him, and made an apathetic canvass. The district included Newburg, now the "iron ward" of Cleveland, where the rolling mills give employment to an army of workmen. Paige learned that McClure, who lived at the other end of the district, was unknown in Newburg. One night shortly before election two strangers visited Newburg. One of them wore a silk hat and a dark coat, and acted like a dandy. His companion introduced him as "Captain McClure."

They would enter a saloon, and af-

Gebbie's English Edition of BALZAC'S COMPLETE WORKS. Finely Printed, Beautifully Illustrated, Being Sold for a Limited Time Virtually at the Cost of Production.

Comments. Victor Hugo. "The name of Balzac will blend with the luminous trace which our epoch will leave in the future. M. de Balzac was one of the first among the great, one of the highest among the best. All his books form but one book, living, luminous, profound, in which one sees all our contemporary civilization come and go, move and advance, with something wild and terrible blended with the real."

Theophile Gautier. (Contrasting the Work with a Cathedral.) "The structure he builded towers upward as we recede from it and awes us by its hugeness; and surprised generations will ask each other, 'What manner of man is this giant who alone has heaped up these formidable blocks and reared so high this Babel where are heard the murmuring of all social orders?'"

Paul Bourget. "Balzac was not only the modern artist in the highest technical sense; he was also the modern man. He has proved himself to be a prophet simply because he includes in himself all the sentiments of his time, carried to their fullest fruition, by the amplitude and force of his personality. To discover a genius so strong and so genuine it is necessary to go to the great dramas of Shakespeare."

Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle. "Never in the literary world was genius more closely wedded to erudition, industry, personal purity, artistic finish, productiveness."

George Moore. "To me there is more wisdom and more divine imagination in Balzac than in any other writer; he looked further into the future than human eyes could see."
