NEW ELEMENT IN THE MARTIN CASE

Attempts to Bring New Evidence by Cross-Examination.

THE HOPE OF SECURING DAMAGES

Defense Instnuates That This Is the Jury Out of Court While Objections Were Being Made -- Two Weeks' Pay Advanced.

Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 11.-The defense injected a new element into the Martin case at the beginning of today's session, by trying to show in the crossexamination that the evidence was in some cases influenced by the hope of securing damages from the government in the event of a conviction.

Adam Lapinski, who was on the stand when court closed last night, was asked what country he came from.

'Russo Poland," he said. Counsel for the defense then asked: "Do you not expect, in the event of a conviction in this case, that your country will file a claim for damages against the United States?"

"I don't know," replied the witness "Did you not read in the newspapers that such would be the case?"

"I can't read," said Lapinski. The commonwealth objected to this line of cross-examination, claiming that it was not proper,

The defense contended that this mode of cross-examination was adopted for the purpose of showing that the testiof the witness might be influenced by pecuniary consideration. The objection was overruled.

The witness was then asked: "Did anybody tell you, or read to you, from the papers that you would get money from the government if the deputies were convicted?"

'No, sir; I don't know anything about it." said the witness.

Thomas Paris, the next witness, told the story of the march to Lattimer. He said the men were unarmed and orderly, and that they intended to make no trouble. He stated that he was standing near the sheriff when the line of marching strikers was halted. He heard the sheriff say they could not go on to Lattimer. At the first shot, Paris said, he ran, but was struck by a bullet when he was about fifty yards from the deputies. The ball struck him in the back of the arm and passed through, while some bullets pierced his coat. He was struck, he said, by one of the shots fired after the volley. Michael Srochak followed Paris or the stand. He told how about eight of the deputies had followed the fleeing strikers at Lattimer and shot at them as they ran. "I was standing near the deputies," said he, "when the firing began. A man fell dead by my side, and I dropped, too, instead of running. After the volley about eight of the deputies followed the strikers for about thirty yards, shooting all the

MAIER LOST A LEG.

Andrew Maier, who lost his leg in the shooting at Lattimer, came into the court room on crutches. His right leg is off a few inches below the hip. He said that he was not at West Hazleton, but joined the strikers further or and marched to Lattimer. He could not tell anything about what the sheriff said or did at Lattimer. He was standing in the middle of the line when to run, but got a bullet in the leg and dropped. He saw lots of others drop, Maier said the shooting continued for a couple of minutes after he was shot. He said he was out of his mind for a couple of weeks afterward

The last witness of the morning session was Martin Lachar. He said that when he was at West Hazleton one of the deputies had taken hold of him, pushed him around and cursed him He told how he had seen one of the deputies at Lattimer kick Andro Maier as the latter lay in the road with his leg shot almost off.

The defense objected to this evidence on the ground that the shooting was all over, when the kicking is alleged to have taken place, and the deputy who kicked Maier had not been identi-

The argument was to the admission of Lacher's testimony relative to a deputy kicking Maier, the wounded striker. The commonwealth's side was argued by District Attorney Martin and Attorneys McGahren and Scarlet. while Attorneys Lenahan and Palmer spoke for the defense. The contention of the commonwealth was that a conspiracy existed to shoot and kill and that according to law, all who were implicated in the conspiracy were equally guilty of any act performed by one of them, and that as the kicking of the wounded striker showed malice; it was competent testimony.

The defense contended that no conspiracy had been shown to exist, that the act of one man could only be considered as the guilt of that man, and as the witness had been unable to identify the man who kicked Maier, his testimony was totally irrelevant.

Judge Woodward, in sustaining th objection, said: "I put my ruling on ground which I consider legally im pregnable. The position in this offer is to show malice by both declaration and act by a person who is not shown one of the defendants and after the shooting occurred."

The jury was not admitted to court until after the decision was rendered might do some purchasing.

The cross-examination of Martin Lacher was commenced by Attorney Palmer, and the witness denied that the strikers had injured a man at Crystal Ridge so badly that he died a few days later. He also denied telling a deputy that the strikers were going to yards from the deputies when he heard a single shot and was hit in the shoulder. This was after the volley Incentive of Much Testimony -- The was fired. He showed the scars of his wound to the jury. On cross-examination he denied that the strikers had forced him to march with them and also denied that the strikers intended forcing out the Lattimer men if they did not go on strike willingly.

Mike Julas, who was shot through the body at Lattimer and who is still very weak and sick, said that when the strikers halted he heard some deputy give the order to fire. He at once ran, but had gone only a few steps when he was hit and fell. The ball struck him in the back, pierced his left lung and came out an inch above the heart. He showed the scars to the jury. On cross-examination he denied that he had shouted to the sheriff: 'We must kill you, you ---- sheriff." John Derock also testified that he heard a command to fire, but could not tell who gave it. Court adjourned after the cross-examination.

VON DER AHE'S CASE.

Rase Ball Magnate Will Be Obliged to Pay Up and Look Pleasant.

Pittsburg, Feb. 11.-Attorneys R. B. Candrell and A. O. Fording were vindicated by the opinion of Judge Buffington, handed down in the Von der Ahe habeas corpus case today. His honor sustained the position of the attor-neys and Detective Nick Bendel and turned Von der Ahe over to Bendel, who immediately delivered him up to the sheriff of Allegheny county, Von der Ahe spent the night in the private office of Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry, this arrangement having been made by Attorney J. Scott Ferguson. Von der Ahe expects to be able to put up the money tomorrow on the judgment for which he is detained. Both he and Mr. Ferguson talked to Attorney John M. Glover at St. Louis by the long distance telephone, and Glover will send the money to Pittsburg to-

INJUNCTION REFUSED.

Attorney General's Action Against Capitol Commission Fruitless.

Harrisburg, Feb. 11.-The application of Attorney General McCormick for an injunction against the capitol building commission was refused today, in an opinion handed down by Judge Simonton. The court stated that it was unable to find any evidece that the commissioners have done or intend to do any act which would warrant the granting of a preliminary injunction and thus delay the commissioners with the work.

The application for an injunction was based upon the allegations that the commissioners purposed erecting the new building in violation of the act limiting the expenditure to $550,000. The case will be appealed to the supreme

WOMAN TO WOMEN.

Few Valuable Hints from Mr. Annie Jenness Miller.

"I am a woman, therefore I can un derstand women.' This expression was made by Sarah Bernhardt, the world famed actress, after creating a part in which the complex nature of woman was specially portrayed. Mme. Bernhardt, pictured the character true to life and her remark was in answer to a complimentary expression after her pronounced

The expression was true, Women do understand other women and their pleasures and troubles. They know what they need. Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller began this study early in life and has continued it ever since. She investigated the subject of appearance and the result was her 'Physical Beauty and How to Obtain She studied the subject of dressing and has done much to aid women in this important and delightful art, She studied the subject of Women's Physical Health and as a result dis-covered what she believes to be the proper means of constantly preserving In writing on this subject, she

"It gives me pleasure to express my faith in the virtues of a well-known discovery which is the only medicine I ever take or recommend. Six years ago I received the most pronounced benefit from its use at a time when suffering from mental overwork, and I have subsequently in my travels as a public lecturer recommended it to many people and personally know of several cases where it has succeeded when the doctors failed. This discovery is Warner's Safe Cure.

'Although I am now a perfectly well woman, I take several bottles of Safe Cure every spring, believing in the ounce of prevention rather than the necessity for a pound of cure, and in every instance Safe Cure has the effect to give new energy and vitality to all my powers."

Mrs. Miller's experience has been proven true in millions of other instances of women who were suffering and unhappy and who by means of this standard discovery are now in the pos session of perfect health and are kept so by a continued use of this grand preparation.

NORTH SCRANTON.

Scrantonians who seldom leave the entral city can have but a slight coneption of what a muddy street is until they take a trip over Providence road and North Main avenue from Wood screet to Market street. It is admittedly the most watery and the muddiest thoroughfare in the city limits but it has to be experienced to be appreciated. The recent spell of warm weather has made the road and avenue not only figuratively but almost literally unpassable or, rather, uncrossable to pedestrians at all points. It is a veritable lake of filth. In some places the muck extends over the trolley tracks and at no street intersection is it possible to enter or alight from a car without sinking in mud from one to four inches deep. Cars on the Providence line after making one trip yesterday were so plastered with mud that it would have been difficult to determine where was the dividing line between the wheels and the woodwork. During the early evening groups of boys stood at the street intersections south of Providence square for the express purpose of hooting passengers in their efforts to pass from the sidewalks to the cars. Many passengers weakened after viewing the unknown depths between them and solid earth and rode to the square where the feat was but little less difficult. At the square there were many loungers on the Bristel house corner and in front of Mulley's and Davis' stores obtaining lots of amusement in watching the frantic jumps, swoops and flops of pedestrians-particularly women-in then pitiful efforts to navigate without get-

A delightful party was given Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Colvin, daughter, Emma's twelfth birthday. About fifty of her young friends were present. It was a merry gathering. Music and games were indulged in after which refreshments were served Miss Emma received many tokens regards from those present. Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Brokenshire and Mrs. Morgan assisted Mrs. Colvin in entertaining the young guests. At an early hour the oung folks departed for their homes wishing Miss Emma many happy returns of the day. Tomorrow night a number of candidates will be baptized by Rev. R. R. Bulgin at the First Christian church, Lancaster, Feb. 11.—Lewis Kirk, colored, an aged man of 65 years, attempted by the county jail this afternoon.
