EARLY MORNING FIRE. A small house on Mary street, owned by Dominick Padden and occupied as a club by several young men, was burned to the ground yesterday morning. The distance to the nearest fire alarm box was so great that the Leggett's engine house was sought and a warning sent out from there. Afterwards an alarm was sent in from Box 84. The Liberty and Excelsior Hose companies responded, but their services were of no avail, as the building was already gone beyond saving. The fire is surmised to have originated from an overheated stove. The loss is slight.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Editor of The Tribune. Sir: There appeared in the Peckville notes of the Scranton Republican Thurs-day morning an item referring to the action of the Blakely board of health, relative to the vaccination of children before being admitted to the public schools. The item states no action was taken on the subject. Now the board has a set of by laws that governs that body and the board have been living up to them, until a short time ago, when a certain member took the responsibility of the whole board upon his shoulders and without the consent of the board and ordered the teachers to allow all children, whether vaccinated or not, to attend school. The chool board gave the board of health calling down and at a recent meetin this officious member was called to time for what he had done and at the next regular meeting final action will be taken in the matter. Either the by-laws will have to be altered to suit this one mem-ber or else the rest of the board will be governed as they have always been heretofore by their by-laws. The mem-
