THE HOME CONCERT.

Diagram of Reserved Seats Will Open This Morning. The diagram of reserved seats for the Home concert opens at the box office of the Lyceum this morning. The advance sale of boxes, loges and tickets has been most gratifying and indicates that Scranton's representative citizens have taken an interest in making this concert a success as far as a crowded nouse can do.

Scranton has always recognized the nusical talent within its limits, and it is safe to say that never has it contained so many thoroughly educated musicians as it does today. The very best of this talent has most cheerfully olunteered its services in behalf of the Home, and the mere mention of the names of the participants is a guarantee of the high quality of the treat which will be offered on Friday evening. BINDING INSTRUCTIONS ASKED.

The attention of Judge McPherson and a jury was taken up all day yesterday listening to evidence in the case of Mrs. Susan Keator against the Scranton Traction company. Jacob Palmer, Dr. H. E. Lackey, Ella Davis, Emma Davis, Bertha Saunders, Mrs. Margaret Hummell and Mrs. D Myers testified that Mrs. Kentor was in good health before the accident and that now she is in poor health.

Dr. G. E. Dean swore that Mrs. Keator's eyes are in bad condition. It was his opinion that the accident was responsible for the bad state of her eyes. George Wickenhoffer gave some important testimony and the plaintiff

Ex-Judge Jessup opened the case for the defense. Conductor W. F. Foy was the first witness sworn. He is the employe of the Traction company who changed the trolley, the falling of a portion of which, injured Mrs. Keater. He said that as he pulled down the trolley to change it he saw that a portion of it was broken. He gave it a jerk so that it would not fall on anyone but it happened to strike Mrs.

Keator in its descent. Dr. G. D. Murray testified that the injury to Mrs. Keator's eye is not permanent. It can be corrected. Twining testified to having fitted Mrs. Keator's eyes with glasses. Dr. N. Y. Leet will be called this morning. Before court adjourned yesterday exant company. He contended that Mrs. Keator was not a passenger at the time of the accident and that the company was not liable for the accident.

PLANS FOR NEXT BACHELORS' BALL

by the Committee.

JOE M. BOIES ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Others of the Committee Are P. B. Belin, J. H. Brooks, F. C. Fuller and Worthington Scranton -- No Conclusion Has Been Reached as to Where or How the Next Ball Will Be Given But It Will Not Be in the Lyceum .- To Be More Exclusive.

At a recent meeting of the New Year's ball committee several matters of importance pertaining to the last ball were setted and the idea of giving a large ball next year was thoroughly discussed.

Owing to the great amount of both ime and money required to give a dance of such proportions as the one in the Lyceum last New Year's eve, the ommittee was not in favor of holding such a large dance. It was finally deided, however, that the new committee appointed should decide the question of how, when and where to give the annual ball that for ten years has been the representative society event of this city.

J. H. Brooks, F. C. Fuller and Worthington Scranton were appointed to take the places so ably filled by the retiring members, James Blair, jr., L. B. Fuller and T. S. Fuller. The first three, with P. B. Belin and J. M. Boies, will comose the next year's committee. This new committee met at the residence of Colonel H. M. Boics on Monday evening for the election of officers and to formulate plans for the dance during the holidays. J. M. Boies was elected hairman, F. C. Fuller, secretary, and J. H. Brooks, treasurer, P. B. Belin and Worthington Scranton, the other members of the committee, were pres-

As the popular sentiment has been much in favor of at least one large dance during the holidays, it was finally decided to give a dance on Monday evening, January 2, 1899, that would clipse, if possible, all others previously given and for this reason steps have een taken to procure options on the several places where it was thought such a ball could be given. Owing to the difficulties occasioned by holding the ball in the theater several of the young society people have been hoping that the new armory scheme might ake some definite shape, but it is hardy possible or probable that a building could be erected in time for a dance during the holidays. The Scranton Bicycle club house and the poard of trade rooms have been suggested but ach has its lacking features. It is probable that the next ball will e known by the old name "The Bachelors' Bali," although some other distinctive name may be decided upon.

Situation and the state of the Social Events. SUMMUMMUMMUM

The beautiful home of Judge and It Is Contended That Mrs. Kentor Mrs. E. N. Willard was the scene of an elegant society affair last night, when a departure was made from the usual details of an evening reception. Judge and Mrs. Willard received in the smaller drawing room, and later the guests were seated in the reception room and the library opposite where Mr. Harry C. Peckham, the well-known parlor entertainer, of New York, gave a delightful series of monologues. Mrs. Everett Warren assisted Judge and Mrs. Willard in receiving. The programme was made up of monologue, mimiery, song and story. The imitation of the phonograph was one of the best things given and was highly enjoyed. The rooms were lavishly decorated by Clark, the dining room being espedally effective in white and red intermingled with rich foliage of tropical plants. An avenue of palms graced the hallway and staircase. The lovely Oriental room on the third floor was used as a smoking room.

Among the guests were: Rev. J. B. P. Pendleton and the Misses Pendleon, of Schenectady, N. Y.; Mrs. Swaby, of Seneca Falls; Rev. and Mrs. Rogers Israel, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. McLeod. Rev. Dr. S. C. MISSION INSPECTED.

Ladies Who Are Interested in the Florence Crittenton Retreat Paid a Visit to It Vesterday.

The managers of the Florence Mision held their first meeting in the spalous new home on Harrison avenue vesterday morning with a large attendince. Much routine business was discussed and it was finally decided to reserve next Tuesday and Wednesday, the 22d and 23d, from 2 to 10 p. m., as inspection days, when the friends of the mission will be gladly welcomed and shown over the building now occupied for its first week. At the conclusion of the session the ladies, many of whom had not seen the mission, visited all the apartments. The ouilding is most complete. It is brick aced, plain in both exterior and interior. The floors are all of hard wood, oak in the first story, maple above. The bright cherry woodwork is Georgia oine finished in its own natural hues. The twenty-eight rooms are nearly plain in every detail. It costs but thirty dollars to endow such a light, pretty coom as is found in the dormitory sec-

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE.

Barn Owned by Jacob Mack Was Entirely Destroyed. An alarm of fire sent in from Box 49, orner of Crown avenue and Birch street, about 11.40 last night was caused by the burning of a large barn belonging to Jacob Mock, 910 Crown avenue. The barn stood on the rear of the lot and contained nothing. Mr. Mock assigns no cause, and valued the structure at $700. It was a total loss. The William Connells, Neptunes and Centurys all responded and had a hard fight at first to prevent a spread of the flames to nearby buildings.

TWO FUNERALS.

The funerals of the late Mrs. Emma Hallock took place yesterday from her late home, 401 Penn avenue. Rev. Mr. Sanborn, of the Rescue Mission, con ducted the services. The remains were interred in the Forest Hill cemetery The pallbearers were: Charles Hetzel James Phillips, Jemino Driscoll and James J. O'Boyle.

The late Miss Maggie Gilmore was aid to rest yesterday in Forest Hill cemetery. Services were conducted at her late home, 624 Mill street, by Rev. Mr. Alrich, of the Grace Reformed church. The pallbearers were: William Bell, David Hill, John Elliot, James Rhodes, George Okell and Joseph Anderson.

GARBAGE SCHEME OF MR. DUNNING

May Be Tried in Central City as an Experiment. Miss Platt, Miss Anna K. Sanderson,

> Measure Has Been Drafted and Will Be Presented Soon to Councils. Provides for All the Collecting in the Central City to Be Done by One Individual or Company at No Cost to Individuals or the Municipality.

Street Commissioner A. B. Dunning has prepared for presentation to coun-cils an ordinance providing for the collection of wet and dry garbage by one person or company in the central city wards. The measure will be read at next week Thursday's meeting of common council or at the session of the select branch the first Thursday in March. While the ordinance has not been finished in detail a general draft has been prepared and its provisions revealed to a Tribune reporter. It has several objects: To relieve housekeepers from all expense for the removal of refuse, to compel collections three times a week, to insure better sanitary conditions, to prevent the present drippings and siftings on the pavements from improperly constructed carts. For several months a well known business man has been experimenting with garbage collections and become satisfied that a profit can be made from sortings from even a limited district This is so clearly established that the street commissioner has been led to draft an ordinance in reference to the matter. It will be presented to councils with a communication explaining its advantages. No lobbying will be attempted to secure its passage, Mr. Dunning says, as it is plain that the measure would bring great relief through the abandonment of the present crude and hap-hazzard system and councils will have to take the responsibility of refusing to bring about

THE PRESENT SYSTEM At present a large number if irreponsible persons, poorly equipped with leaky wagons and ambling horses, are paid by householders to remove garbage at irregular intervals. Frequently the refuse is not removed oftener than once a week and in many cases not at all, the wet garbage being burned in stoves and furnaces and ashes and other dry stuff piled in back yards to await the advent of spring. The irregular collections and the drippings from the wagons, it is claimed, is manifestly unclean and unhealthful,

According to the provisions of the ordinance the privilege of collections would be awarded to the person or company considered the most reliable and who would guarantee the best collection equipment and system. Iron carts would be insisted upon and it would be demanded that they be flushed nightly. Storekeepers, tenants and householders would be obliged to deliver their sweepings, refuse, swill, garbage, barrels, boxes, packing and all similar kinds of debris to the person or company designated by coun-

The system of sorting by the contractor would probably be that universally employed throughout the east by the householder and similarly collected. At the garbage plant the wet stuff would be divided into fats and swill, the former for commercial use and the latter for hog feed.

Sorting the dry garbage would be the most extensive yet simple part of the work. A long, wide beit running over a table of rollers would slowly carry the contents of the garbage bin through two lines of pickers. Each picker would be assigned to remove one, two or three certain kinds of stuff from the belt Thus manilla paper, white paper, rags, leather, carpet, rubber, glass, iron, lead, brass, copper, zinc, tin, hair, cloth, carpet, etc., would be separated. The dust and dirt from the garbage would be more than sufficient fuel to generate steam and run the electric light plant.

COSTS THOUSANDS A YEAR. At present the city is under condderable expense at its crematory which is managed by the board of health, and property owners pay thousands of dollars to ashmen and garbage men. Mr. Dunning claims for his scheme that it would reduce crematory expenses, do away with the present individual cost to householders. One objection offered is that the plan would destroy the income of the pres-than balanced by the benefits to accrue from the new system.

standard dramas. The opening bill for next Monday night will be "The Ticket of Leave Man," which will be produced during the first three days of the week. It will be followed by "The Celebrated Case." One of the members of Mr. Brooks' company will be an Australian dwarf, who recently came to this country. He is a clever little comedian, and Mr. Brooks is congratulating himself upon having secured him. Performance will be given at the house every afternoon and evening,
