TO BE READY FOR AN EMERGENCY.

Hig Consignment of Cartridges Sent Here Friday.

Ten thousand rounds of ammunition ere quietly smuggled into the arsenal of the Scranton city guard armory Friday night. It came from Harrisburg and no one knew of its coming or ar rival excepting Lientenant-Colonel C. C. Mattes, who is commanding the Thirteenth during Colonel Coursen's rbsence in Florida, and Commissary Sergeant Reese Watkins, who assisted n storing the boxes away.

If any orders came in connection with the shipment of the ammunition they are of course being carefully kept from the public. There is no doubt though that this move is in line with the pres ent activity of the government in preparing for the crisis that seems terribly imminent,

Now that's the way the "Yaller Journals" would have it.

Every statement contained in the above paragraph is literally true. Ten thousand rounds of ammunition were received from Harrisburg Friday and in the early evening it was quietly stored away in the armory arsenal. That the thing was quietly done is explained by the fact that it would have been remarkable had there been any bluster made about it. It is a regular

The regulations of the National Guard require that a certain amount of ammunition be kept on hand at each regimental headquarters. When the Hazleton trouble broke out the Thirteenth's stock was pretty well ex-hausted by reason of it being the height of the rifle practice season. Ten thousand rounds of cartridges were taken along to Hazleton and according to orders was distributed among the men. This gave each man about twenty-five cartridges. There was more or less rifle practice down there and what cartridges were left in the ammunition boxes carried by the men were hardly worth collecting, so they were allowed o keep them that they might not have the trouble of making out a requisition when they might want to practice on the local ranges. This left the stores at the armory 10,000 cartridges short and so along in December, some time, the colonel sent in an order to division headquarters for 10,000 cartridges to fill out the required stock.

SACRED CONCERT A SUCCESS. .

Was All That Could Be Desired from Every Point of View.

Such an audience was attracted to the sacred concert given last night under the direction of Professor W. P. It was Professor Schilling's intention not to permit encores on account of the length of the prolet him live up to his intention, demanding a repetition of every number. STANTON GETS A VERDICT Traction Company Mulcted, but City Is Released.

Saturday morning the jury in the case of Giles Stanton against the Scranton Traction company and city of Scranton returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $887.99 and found that the city was in no way liable for the injury upon which the suit was based verdict is conditional upon Judge McPherson's future finding as to whether or not the evidence warranted the submission of the case to the jury.

The plaintiff sustained a fractured leg by the upsetting of his hay wagon on a snow bank thrown up by a street car company's sweeper on Capouse avenue. It was alleged also that the city had contributed to the accident by shoveling snow from the sidewalks on to the bank in question, but the jury declined to sustain this contention. The defense was that Stanton had had an upset on this very same snow bank only four days previous to the accident and was consequently guilty of contributory negligence in attempting again to drive over it. This is the point on which Judge McPherson's decision

EIGHTEENTH WARD RETURNS RECEIVED

Their Correctness Practically Unchallenged Said Judge Gunster.

CENSURED THE ELECTION BOARD

An Election Officer Has No Right to Allow Himself to Be Overcome by Intoxicating Liquors, Said the Judge -- He Believes That Many Illegal Votes Were Cast--Official Footings of the Vote Cast in Scranton Last Tuesday.

With all its faults, it would appear the Eighteenth ward election count was at least correct enough on its face to receive the official sanction of the

When the ballot box was brought in by Commissioners T. P. Duffy and R. Murray, Saturday morning, court directed that it be opened and its contents removed for inspection. The condition of the contents bore out the statements as to the befuddled condition of the board. A rummage through the mass of folded and unfolded ballots brought forth the missing list of voters and the three additional tally sheets used to record the O'Boyle-Hoban vote, Clerk Burns identified two of these sheets as the ones he had used in connection with the one that came over with the sealed returns. Clerk Hosie recognized the third as the one on which he carried forward his "tallies," running them out to the margin and then finishing the score on the back. Hosie's two sheets. Burns' three and the slightly disfigured but still fairly presentable open return sheet were found to coincide exactly as to final results, so Judge Gunster accepted them and directed the computing board to certify them. In doing this, Judge Gunster was constrained to

JUDGE GUNSTER'S REMARKS.

There is no doubt but that the re jurns are irregular and that the officers crossly misbehaved themselves there on election day. An election officer has no right to allow himself to be overcome by intoxicating liquors. The evidence shows that some of the board were intoxicated and did not know what they were doing. The others were not and, of course, knew what they were about. Had they kept the tally correctly there would be no room for argument, but they did not I believe, as they all swore, that three sheets were used to keep the tally on and that the footing of the figures on the three sheets give the amount of the total vote. There is no doubt that there were many illegal votes cast, but that I can-not go into at this time; it is only prop-er for a contest. The correctness of the return is practically unchallenged. I direct the clerks to certify them.

That there were illegal votes cast is evident from the fact that while 345 votes are recorded as having been cast only 120 names were checked off on the registry list. Another evidence of ilgramme, but the audience would not legal voting was found in the fact that out of the 45 affidavits that accompanied the returns not one of them was found to be in compliance with There is every likelihood
