NORTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA

FOREST CITY.

Sheriff Ward Denett will rell the household goods and personal property of Raphael Tradisko en Wednesday

On Friday evening a meeting was held at the ojec of James McKinney, esq., to discuss the question of moving to secure a county bridge across the Lackawawna river at Forest City. There was a good attendance of business men and other interested citizens. Organization was effected by electing James McKinney as chairman and John R. Budd as secretary. The history of the previous efforts toward petting a bridge at this point was gene over. It seems that at one time a petition was presented asking that viewers be appointed by the Susquehanna county court, but no action was ever taken on it, because there was no mutually satisfactory boundary line established between the counties of Susquehama and Wayne. The dividing line at this point is supposed to run some where near the center of the Lackawanna river, but differing claims are made by the different countles as to its exact location. Before anything would be done by either county in the matter of a bridge, therefore, it would be necessary to have each court apnoint one successor and the two chosen appoint a third man and have the line run and properly established. Then a bridge could be recommended here and viewers approinted. It was also stated at the meeting that the Oniario and Western callway people were enough interested in the matter to do whatever filling was necessary, which would be no small item of expense saved. A committee consisting of William H. Bates, Benjamin Maxey and E. F. Ames was appointed to center with the council and work with may body in an endeavor to have a bridge built here A resolution was also massed redting the becauch fathers to take immediate action in the matter and recommending that an attorney be employed to work with the council and committee and advise them as to the proper steps to meeting of the council be called, at ing then adjourned, after authorizing the chairman to call a meeting at any time after the committee which was appointed has conferred with the coun-

SICETY OF ETIQUETTE.

A true gentleman usually feels that it is essential to be courteous to the least as to the greatest, but eliquette does not lways recognize this. The famous Ta -

To a viscount: "Viscount, pray have l'ttle beef."

To a baron: "Baron, do you take beet?" To an untitled gentleman: "Monsieurs, some beet."

To his private secretary: "Beef?"

But there was yet an inferior personage present, and to him Talleyrand uttered no word. He simply looked at him and made an interrogative gesture with the carving knife. But if the meat were good, some of us would not trouble much how we were invited to it.

"A Short, Red-faced Irishman."

In a letter to the editor of the Army and Navy Journal, Major G. Fechet, Sixth Cavatry, says: "Some time ago I heard the following story of General P. H. Sheridan from a former officer of the Third Michigan Cavalry: It seems that when that regiment first went out it was without a colonel, and the officers had an idea that they would like an officer of the regular army to fill the vacancy. At this time the regiment was in St. Louis, and horring that a regular officer by the name of Sheridan was in the city, and that he wanted the command of a regiment, a committee was appointed to go to the city and see him, or, as the narrator expressed it, to take or, as the narrator expressed it, to take Sheridan's measure. On the return of the committee the officers assembled to hear its report, which was as follows: "Well, we went up and saw Mr. Sheridan. He is a short, red-faced Irishman and don't seem to amount to much. We do not think that he would do for colonel of our regiment." The gentleman who told me this story gave the names of other officers of the regiment, who, he said, could vouch for its truth."

Washington, Feb. 20 .- Unless the Cuan question or some phase of the private bills, will be devoted nominally at least to the sundry civil appropria-tion bill. This bill will be reported to the house tomorrow. It is a very voluminous measure, containing all the odds and ends of appropriations, as its me indicates, and is usually productive of more protracted contests than my of the other appropriation bills.

It is understood that the information regarding the situation in Cuba asked for last week by the house has been prepared by the state department, and is ready for transmittal. Some of the consular reports bearing on the situa-tion have been edited in some places, but it is said that the situation as precented probably will call for some action, and if the information goes to the Haw. tion, and if the information goes to the Haw. Sugar ...... 15% 32% house this week an effort may be made Met. Traction ...... 15% 156 to get it before the house in some man-ner. For this reason, and in view of the condition of public sentiment, pending the result of the official investigation into the case of the disaster to the Maine it is considered probable that the answer of the state depart-ment will be withheld for several days.

In the face of the catastrophe, which has occurred, the members of the house who have usually rushed to the fore on the occasion of any sensational development either in foreign or domestic affairs, were ominously silent last week. The extreme gravity of the situation and the far-reaching consequences of hasty or ill-considered action tended to disarm them, but at any time during the consideration of the appropriation bill where the wildest latitude in debate is allowed, a stirring debate involving the recent sensational events in connection with the explosion of the Maine, the recall of the Spanish minister and the latest developments in Cuba may be precipi-

But those in authority by keeping the appropriation bill in the right of way, can easily prevent actual action by the house if they so desire and the revailing opinion of the conservative leaders on both sides is that both action and agitation are out of place until all the facts upon which a calm judgment can be predicted are known.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Feb. 19.-There was a feel-New York, Feb. 18.—There was a feeling of uneasiness over the European political situation reflected from all foreign exchanges today before the opening of trading on the New York exchange. The collision of Eritish and French authorities in the Niger district of Africa and the excited condition of the public mind in France were the motives of the hearlness which in London resulted in a fall of 'h in British consets. American securities were affected by the general henviness as well as by the special considerations growing out of the Cuban sithenviness as well as by the special con-siderations growing out of the Cuban sit-uation. Declines in Americans reached a point in London in a number of cases before the opening here and as a conse-quence selling orders were placed for London account at the opening here. There was no local support for prices. On the contrary there was a resumption of liquidation and the bears were encour-aged to raid the market. The total sales of stocks today were 272,000 shares.
