

WAR CLOUDS MISS OLIVE

SPAIN'S PEACEFUL FRONT

Prospects for War Seem More Remote.

Reports to the effect that Spain has purchased war ships are erroneous. The general Lee recalled explained by the Spanish minister. The government officials calm in the consciousness of the national strength.

CABINET IN SESSION.

The cabinet was in session today for an hour longer than usual. It is understood that the situation was discussed in all directions. The report that Spain has purchased two war vessels from Brazil is known to be incorrect and the statement was made that should the United States wish to buy these vessels there was reason to believe they would be given the opportunity. The government is doing everything that prudence and discretion would dictate to put the navy of the United States on a good footing should the necessities of the case require heroic treatment. The Lee recall incident and the incident of the war department are not to be sent to Cuba in war vessels are now fully disposed of, and the momentary anxiety which they caused have passed away. All things considered, the outlook is regarded, by the cabinet as decidedly improved.

BROOKLYN LEAVES LAGUAYRA.

The big armored cruiser Brooklyn started away from Lagayra today under the command of Admiral Sampson, directly for Hampton Roads. She had been making a flying cruise in the West Indies and around the eastern coast of Central America. The sending of the ship to Hampton Roads instead of returning her to Key West where she came to anchor, is an evidence of a change in policy on the part of the naval strategists who may have come to the conclusion that the gathering of the most and best vessels of the North Atlantic squadron at Key West is putting too many of our eggs in one basket, and unduly exposing the eastern coast. There has also been talk of organizing a flying squadron composed altogether of fleet cruisers, four in number, and having them ready to go to sea at a moment's notice in pursuit of an enemy's fleet, relying upon the big battleships for the home guard. This, however, has not been decided upon.

FOR RELIEF OF THE FERN.

Arrangements were perfected at the navy department today for the relief of the dispatch boat Fern at Havana by the cruiser Montgomery, of Admiral Sigsbee's squadron now at Key West. The Montgomery will reach the Fern tomorrow morning so that the latter vessel may arrive at Key West Wednesday evening in ample time to receive the food supplies from New York which are due there on that day. There will be no delay in the departure of the Fern on her return to Key West.

The Fern has been stationed at Havana since a day or so after the disaster to the Maine, and her principal functions for the last week or ten days has been as a practical floating dock for the use of the dispatch boat. This, Sir George Des Voeux added, would prevent war with Spain, and would make general American sympathy with Great Britain, which he asserted, was now only partial.

Mr. Cridler Denies That He is Commissioned to Buy Warships. Paris, March 8.—Thomas W. Cridler, the special commissioner of the United States at the Paris Exposition of 1889 and third assistant secretary of state, requests the Associated Press to deny the report that he is commissioned to purchase warships.

Says He Will Stick by the Ship of State Until the Clouds Roll. Havana, March 8.—Some persons, in order to increase the excitement, are urging General Fitzhugh Lee to resign, but the commander of the United States said to a correspondent today: "I will stick by the ship of state until the clouds roll by."

GALLERIES ENTHUSIASTIC.

All day long the galleries were jammed with enthusiastic spectators applauding to the echo the sterling patriotism of the words of eloquence which were uttered by the members on the floor. All the speeches were brief. Although four hours were allowed for debates, so great was the pressure for time that no one member was given more than five minutes and most of them had to content themselves with a few minutes of a minute. In all fifty-nine speeches were made. With one acclaim members from the north and south, the east and the west, the states and the territories, battle-scarred veterans of the Union and the Confederate armies, all joined in proclaiming the wisdom of the bill.

URGING ENGLISH INTERVENTION.

Sir George Des Voeux Wants Great Britain to Discourage Spain. London, March 8.—Sir George Des Voeux, formerly governor of the Bahama Islands, and more recently governor of Hong Kong, in an interview today on the far Eastern crisis, said Great Britain ought to immediately seize the opportunity of expressing cordial sympathy with the United States in her efforts to secure autonomy for Cuba, and to express the determination of Great Britain to aid the United States with her fleet against any attack upon her coast. This, Sir George Des Voeux added, would prevent war with Spain, and would make general American sympathy with Great Britain, which he asserted, was now only partial.

THE DEBATE OPENED.

Mr. Cannon opened the debate. He declared the purpose of the bill and said it was a peace, and not a war measure. Among the many speeches which followed, all ardent with patriotism, that by Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, aroused possibly the greatest enthusiasm. It was a glowing eulogy of the President's patriotism.

Mr. Hay (Dem., Va.) took advantage of the opportunity to refer in complimentary terms to the part that Consul General Lee is playing in the present contingency.

He said that General Lee was sustaining so well the good name of the state in performing his duty as to win the encomiums of the entire nation and that at such time it was a genuine satisfaction to have such a man as General Lee at such a post. The reference to General Lee called out loud applause both from the floor and the galleries.
