Long Discussion Over Viaduct at Board of Trade Meeting.

SEVERAL PLANS WERE MENTIONED

It Was the Concensus of Opinion That the West Side Councilmen Should Stand Firmly Together for the Much Needed Improvement. Warren P. Wells Has His Own Share of Trouble -- Members of the R. of K. Tendered a Bauquet.

A regular meeting of the West Side poard of trade was held in their rooms over the West Side bank last evening. The meeting was called to order at $.30 o'clock by President A. B. Holmes, when the following members were present: John R. Farr, H. D. Jones, Daniel Elsinger, Hector Campbell, S. R. Jones, Jenkin Reese, E. M. Clarke, Joseph Oliver, A. B. Holmes.

In connection with the streets and bridges committee, Mr. Oliver reported that many improvements are under way, but the limit of the appropriations will prevent the carrying out of many plans by councils. On motion of E. M. Clarke, the sec retary was instructed to address a mmunication to the different West Side councilmen and request them to concentrate their efforts to have at tached to the bond ordinance an appropriation for the construction of viaduct on West Lackawanna avenue and to invite them to meet with the board at the next stated meeting. In response to a request for information. Mr. Oliver stated that the councilmen from the West Side with whom he has conferred are heartily in favor of the construction of a viaduct but believed that the people of the West Side should unite on some fixed plan, whereby the councilmen could act together. He said some favor the project of a viaduet from Nealis court, and others favor the building of a viaduct on the plan of the elevated raiload in New York.

Jenkin Reese, surveyor, spoke on the subject, and believed that the New York plan was a good one, and doubted whether any suits for damages would arise of a structure on the elevated plan was erected.

Hon. John R. Farr said the main ssue was to get the united co-operation of all the West Side councilmen on the viaduct, and then something lefinite could be done.

Mr. Clarke thought it would be a good idea to invite the councilmen of the West Side to the board meeting and get their views on the subject, and try and have them unite on some particular plan for the project.

In regard to the question of damages Mr. Oliver said that there are several parties in the vicinity of the West Lackawanna avenue crossing who will certainly sue for damages if a viaduct is erected.

S. R. Jones explained that there are several different plans in vogue in New York regarding the construction of the elevated roads, and while some of the plans are favorable, others are objectionable, because some are constructed on either side of the street and others are erected in the middle of the street The consensus of opinion was favor ble to the purchase of the property on the south side of the street, and utilize the available space underneath as a

Mr. Oliver reported that the finance of the board are in good condition. In speaking about the location of inlustries on the West Side, Mr. Farr said the trend of the manufacturing inerests was circling around us, and selieved that the land in the Keyser Valley section ought to be available for manufacturing purposes. The land is remarkable in many ways for the location of industries and it was reported that a prominent official of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company had expressed his willingness to meet the board and talk over the subject at

After some unimportant talk the board adjourned. The annual election and installation of officers will be held at the next regular meeting, and a full representation of the board is desired.

MORE TROUBLE FOR WELLS. Warren P. Wells, the man who was arrested last week on a charge of stealng a horse, swore out a warrant before Alderman Kelly last night charging Constable Timothy Jones with un-lawfully taking his horse away from Jones entered bail for his appearance at court before Alderman

Jones retaliated by having Wells arrested for non-payment of taxes, and when he settled he was again arrested by Jones for resisting arrest. He entered bail for a hearing this morning.

TRYING ORDEALS FOR WOMEN.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells How Women May Avoid Painful Examinations

To a modest, sensitive, highstrung young woman, especially an unmarried woman, there is no more trying or painful ordeal than the "examinations," which are now so common in hospitals and private practice.

I was tempted to try it after seeing the effects of it upon my mother, and now I feel like a new person. I am a stenographer and was troubled with falling of the womb and female weakness in general. I continued to work until I was so weak I could no longer walk, and the last day I was forced to stop and rest. "I was then so ill that I was compelled to stay in bed, and so nervous
