

The Scranton Tribune

The Tribune's telegraphic news is from three to five hours fresher than that of any Philadelphia or New York paper circulated in its field.

TEN PAGES. SCRANTON, MARCH 11, 1898.

Mr. Wanamaker proposes to be his own manager in the coming season of amusement.

Mr. Wanamaker's letter accepting the call to lead another anti-Quay revolt is the war cry of a fighter.

At the same time it were useless to discuss the patent fact that with so resourceful and determined a man as John Wanamaker in the field as a trouble-maker the need of prudence is doubled.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

other time, timid persons are advised to lose no sleep on account of the brilliant star that twinkles in the eastern skies.

In the opinion of Hon. Johnny Garman the acquittal of Sheriff Martin "proves nothing except that hereafter in Luzerne county laboring men may be shot down like dogs without a hope of redress."

Gomez on the Maine's Fate. To a correspondent of the New York Sun who in the latter part of February informed him of the destruction of the Maine, General Maximo Gomez, after expressing his sympathy and asking that it be conveyed to the American people, said:

"I am not surprised at the general belief in Cuba that a new crime has been committed by Spain. We know too well what Spain is capable of doing to destroy a foe.

At the same time it were useless to discuss the patent fact that with so resourceful and determined a man as John Wanamaker in the field as a trouble-maker the need of prudence is doubled.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Opinions on the Lattimer Verdict.

The verdict of acquittal rendered by the jury that has been sitting in judgment on the case of Sheriff Martin and his deputies is a triumph of courage and fidelity. A divided jury would have been a misfortune and an adverse verdict an unspeakable calamity.

It must now be fairly understood even by those who do not seek to understand our language or its laws, that the humblest citizen or resident of the Commonwealth must be protected in his inalienable right to employ or to contract as he may choose for himself.

It is not surprising that the verdict in the Lattimer case is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

dence that can be produced. There is no foundation for the reckless and firebrand rumors to the effect that a general strike would result over the verdict and that troops are to be in readiness to march to Hazleton to suppress the disturbers.

The acquittal of Sheriff Martin and his deputies on the charge of murder, because of their armed resistance to the mob at Lattimer, is a victory for law and order. Every effort at intimidation of the judge and jury was made by incendiary journalism, but the trial proceeded fairly and evenly to its conclusion in the verdict rendered in strict accordance with the evidence.

It is not surprising that the verdict in the Lattimer case is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

FINLEY'S

We are sole agents in this city for the above make of celebrated Kid Gloves, and are now showing them in a full assortment of Spring Shades for Easter wear.

Two Specials at Domestic Counter (Main Floor.) 40 styles double width Madras Cloths at 15 cents per yard.

at 98c. These goods being taken from our regular stock and not bought for "Special Sale Purposes," are therefore thoroughly reliable.

FOOTE & SHEAR CO., 119 N. WASHINGTON AVE.

GOLDSMITH'S

OUR GREAT FRIDAY SALE is the most popular event of the week. Prices and qualities are the cold facts that bring people to our store.

Two Specials at Domestic Counter (Main Floor.) 40 styles double width Madras Cloths at 15 cents per yard.

at 98c. These goods being taken from our regular stock and not bought for "Special Sale Purposes," are therefore thoroughly reliable.

FOOTE & SHEAR CO., 119 N. WASHINGTON AVE.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

It remains to be seen how those who essay to marshal the Republican forces in this state will proceed to prepare for the emergency.

The yellow journals probably have more respect for the courts of Luzerne than they did a few weeks ago, whether they cherish a feeling of admiration or not.

The Verdict's Reception.

It is creditable to the good judgment of the American people that the verdict in the Martin trial is everywhere received by them sanely and with quick appreciation of its far-reaching importance.

And yet, while upholding, as every honest citizen must, the regularly constituted authorities who reward for the resolute performance of an unswerving duty was an indictment for murder, it is yet consistent with exact justice to re-express the sympathy of the nation for the Lattimer unfortunates, whose ignorance and bad teaching led them through sedition to awful but necessary sacrifice.

Let us get at the bottom of this grim tragedy. The acquittal of Martin, et al., teaches the wholesome lesson that law in Pennsylvania must reign supreme; that he who defies it does so at his peril.

A good many persons have been agitated recently by the appearance of a beautiful bright star in the eastern horizon during the past few days about 8 o'clock in the evening.

THE CLEMONS, FERBER, O'MALLEY CO. 427 Lackawanna Avenue.

REYNOLDS BROTHERS, STATIONERS, ENGRAVERS, HOTEL JERMYN BUILDING, 139 Wyoming Avenue.

WM. T. SMITH, COAL AT RETAIL. Coal of the best quality for domestic use and of all sizes, including Buckwheat and Birdseye, delivered in any part of the city at the lowest price.

The Above Prices Are for the Day Only.

THE CLEMONS, FERBER, O'MALLEY CO. 427 Lackawanna Avenue.

REYNOLDS BROTHERS, STATIONERS, ENGRAVERS, HOTEL JERMYN BUILDING, 139 Wyoming Avenue.

WM. T. SMITH, COAL AT RETAIL. Coal of the best quality for domestic use and of all sizes, including Buckwheat and Birdseye, delivered in any part of the city at the lowest price.

The Above Prices Are for the Day Only.

BOYLE & MUCKLOW, 416 LACKAWANNA AVENUE.