UNION LABEL

BEFORE BREAKFAST.

"Will we be expected to patronize Wanamaker's order to get an office if he is elected?" is the sole view which seemed to interest a Scranton woman in the gubernatorial campaign.

The association for the Home for the Friendless will hold a special meeting Tuesday morning at the Home on Adams avenue at 9:30.

The rival New York papers, the World and Journal, had a lively race yesterday through the city in efforts to reach Wilkes-Barre ahead of each other. The papers use the same special train over the Erie railroad to Scranton and arrive in this city at the Erie and Wyoming station on Washington avenue. In the journey to Wilkes-Barre, however, the Journal uses a special train over the Jersey Central, while the World utilizes the Delaware and Hudson. When the editions arrived yesterday morning, transfer wagons were waiting at the Erie and Wyoming depot, manned by representatives of the two papers. In a few moments after the train came in, the transfer teams were flying down Washington avenue, drawing loads of papers, at a breakneck speed. The Journal packages were taken to the Central station across the Lackawanna avenue bridge. The World train, however, was standing at the Sandy Banks crossing on Providence road, on this side of the river, and was already steaming towards Wilkes-Barre with its literary freight before the transfer wagons arrived on the other side of the river with the Journal. By this means the World was enabled to reach Wilkes-Barre about ten minutes before the Journal arrived and the circulation representatives are jubilant over the fact.

GEORGE MATTHEWS TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Probably Thought That He Had Killed Mary Jane Roberts.

BODY WAS FOUND IN A RESERVOIR

It is Likely That on the Day That Matthews Hit the Woman with the Hatchet He Threw Himself into the Reservoir, Thinking That He Had Killed Her—Coroner Longstreet Held an Inquest.

George Matthews, colored, who so brutally assaulted Mary Jane Roberts with whom he lived, about 5.30 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 5, 1898, and escaped, was found yesterday morning. Not alive, however, but an evident suicide. A greater horror than that of the law had dealt with him. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock a William Langstaff, Jr., was passing the Langstaff reservoir, situated about 300 feet north of the Diamond breaker, he glanced into the water and noticed a peculiar object protruding about three inches above the surface. His curiosity was excited, and what, at first glance, appeared to be a cabbage head, upon closer scrutiny proved to be the top of a human head. He was horrified by his discovery and quickly notified Fireman Daniel Logan, who tends the boilers of the breaker nearby. They procured a rope and a hoop and managed to fasten it about the ghastly object and drew the body to the edge of the reservoir. In doing this they pulled the head and shoulders out of the water. That was sufficient evidence for them, and sickened with the sight they left it anchored there. Mr. Langstaff, Jr., notified Patrolman James Saul, who is on duty at the West Side police station of the grim discovery, and also added the opinion that he believed it was the body of the escaped colored man, George Matthews.

BOYS' PERILOUS RIDE.

They Dashed Down a Steep Grade in a Car—It Left the Track and They Sustained Injury.

Several boys residing in Dickson City and Priceburg had a thrilling experience yesterday on the railway which runs to the Stors breaker of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company from No. 3 shaft. The train, composed of the breaker and the shaft is about one mile. The grade is rather steep for the entire distance. Frequently empty cars are allowed to remain at No. 3 shaft and the boys have been accustomed to amuse themselves by standing on the cars and riding down in it. Yesterday a large load of boys started a car and then got into it. On the grade it acquired a tremendous speed. At No. 3 shaft the car left the track, spilling the occupants in all directions. All escaped injury excepting John Gilligan. He was hurt internally and sustained one fractured leg and had the other badly bruised. A horse and buggy was procured and the boy conveyed to his home in Priceburg.

JUDGE AND BARTLEY TONIGHT.

Their 20-Round Glove Contest to Be Decided in Music Hall.

In Music Hall tonight will be decided the 20-round glove contest between Frank Bartley, of Binghamton, and Jim Judge. To see the bout many large delegations will arrive today from Binghamton, Elmira, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and towns in the vicinity of the former city. The Bartley party will reach here on the 10 o'clock Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train. Among them will be the promoter, and manager, Michael; Jack McDonough, St. Paul; Tim Hurley, of Susquehanna, and a number of others. On the 10 o'clock train will come Yank Sullivan, the Syracuse referee; Paddy Ryan, the champion heavyweight; Jack Hamilton, the featherweight; Ed. Dunkhorst, the trainer of the welterweight champion, Tommy Ryan—and possibly Ryan himself; Tommy Dixon, and Kid Golett, of Rochester, and a score of other famous boxers, trainers and handlers. By the time the late trains have arrived over 300 up-country sports will be in the city and all of them to a man will expect to see Bartley get the decision. Judge will reach here at noon from Carbondale with his trainer and sparring partner, Bobby Dobbs. They will stop at the Conway House. Bartley's headquarters will be at the Arlington. At 2 o'clock this afternoon they will weigh in. Sam Austin, of New York, who is to referee the contest, will reach here with Jack Skelly, the American club's manager, at 1.45 o'clock.

CONVENT IN ST. PAUL'S PARISH.

Ground for a New Structure Will Be Broken Tomorrow.

A convent is soon to be erected in St. Paul's Catholic parish in Green Mary. It will be of brick, three stories in height and will occupy an area of 47 by 71 feet. The style of architecture is to be gothic. Building operations will begin tomorrow under the direction of Conrad Schroeder and in four months the structure will be ready for occupancy. A considerable amount of money to defray the expense of building was raised at the recent fair of St. Paul's church and in addition there were individual contributions ranging from a few cents up to $1,000.

FELL DOWN STAIRS.

Aged Mrs. Akers, of South Scranton, Severely Injured.

Mrs. Akers, about 60 years of age, fell down a flight of stairs last evening about 11.30 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Thompson, 416 Cedar avenue, with whom she resided, with rather serious results. It was first thought that she was suffering from a fractured skull and was taken to the Lackawanna hospital where an examination showed that such was not the case. She suffered a severe shock, several lacerations about the body and a wrenched arm.

CLOSE OF THE MISSION.

Has Been in Progress for Two Weeks at the Cathedral.

The mission conducted by the Dominican fathers, which has been in progress at St. Peter's cathedral for the last two months, closed last night. It was very successful. Yesterday afternoon the final service for women was held and last night there was a similar service for men. At each the cathedral was crowded. Last night's sermon was preached by Rev. Father Splinter, who spoke of the necessity of those who made the mission persevering in their good intentions.

SUDDEN DEATH OF BODIZ.

Taken Ill in the County Jail, He Was Removed to the Lackawanna Hospital for Treatment.

Andrew Bodiz, committed to the county jail from police court on Saturday for drunkenness, was removed to the Lackawanna hospital last evening and died within an hour. He was 38 years old and lived at 300 Jackson street. Bodiz was found lying dead drunk on the Delaware and Hudson depot steps at 5.30 o'clock Friday evening by Patrolman Gieritz. He was unable to rouse Bodiz and after dragging him off the steps telephoned for the patrol wagon. Desk Sergeant Ridgeway and Patrolman Parry responded with the wagon, helped Gieritz load the drunken man into it and returned to the central police station, where Bodiz was locked in a cell. Bodiz was not long in the cell before drowsiness left him and his intoxication assumed the nature of "crazy drunk" foretold by the coroner. At the hearing Mayor Bailey committed Bodiz to jail for ten days in default of a fine of $3. Bodiz was taken to jail in the patrol wagon, along with several other offenders. He did not complain of being ill until during the afternoon. His case was referred to Dr. Donne, the jail physician, who found Bodiz suffering from abdominal pains and prescribed accordingly. Yesterday morning when the jail physician made his rounds Bodiz appeared much worse. In the evening his condition was so serious that Dr. Donne recommended that he be sent to the Lackawanna hospital. An ambulance with Dr. Webb in charge reached the jail at 8.30 o'clock. At 10 o'clock, an hour after being carried on a cot into the medical ward of the hospital, Bodiz died.

OBITUARY.

At the home of his parents, 436 Erie street, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, he was ill for four weeks, and to his many friends the sudden demise of Mr. Malion was shocking. As his illness was not considered serious, but arising last week brain fever developed and his career was brought to a peaceful close. Of his education, position, a staunch friend of the deceased was known and esteemed most by those who grew to maturity with him. He was a member of the Young Men's Institute, St. Aloysius Total Abstinence and Benevolent society, and the South Scranton Club. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock. A solemn mass of requiem will be sung at St. John's church and the remains will be interred in the Miroslaw Catholic cemetery.

AMBITION OVERLEAPS ITSELF.

Like Caesar on the banks of the Rubicon he lets ambition overlap itself and fall on "tother side." Flushed with victory and dazzled by powers natural and supernatural which prompt him to deeds of violence how easy to accept the cue given in the rune of the witches, "So fair and foul a day I have not seen." Shakespeare has written no psychology, but where can you find a primary law of suggestion so deeply and indelibly written in human character? Treason, the worst crime against God or man, has suggested treason. It is an old saying, nations which conquer are themselves conquered in victory.
