THE

OSBORNE HABEAS CORPUS. GRAND JURY IS

Was Heard Before Judge Edwards Yesterday. A hearing on the Osborne writ of habeas corpus was had yesterday by Judge Edwards, in chambers. Mrz. Flora Osborne, the petitioner, seeks to recover possession of her two children from her husband, George Osborne, The parties are residents of Dalton. About three weeks ago they separated, the wife, with their two children, Ethel and Hazel, aged respectively, seven and four years, taking up her residence with her aunt, Mrs. Boardman also a resident of Dalton.

On the afternoon of March 8, the husband called at Mrs. Roardman's to see the children. His wife dressed them up and allowed them to go for a walk with the rather, upon his promise to be back with them before 7.30 o'clock in the evening. He did not return as agreed, but instead took the children to this city an il eft them in the care of friends. The next day she began habeas corpus proceedings to secure their return.

The husband offered as a defense at the hearing, yesterday, that he was not satisfied that his wife was a proper person to care for the children. There are stories affoat in Dalton, he alleged, concerning her conduct while he is at work in this city, and she has not proved them to be untrue. If she disproves them, he says, he is not only willing to give back the children, but to also take her back to his heart and home. Judge Edwards announced that he would give a decision in the case one week from next Monday. Vosburg & Dawson are Mrs. Osborne's attorneys. George W. Beale represents the bus-

MANY OFFICERS ARRIVE.

Session of the United States District Court Will Open Here This Moraing-Prominent Men bere.

Judge Buffington, of the United States District court; Clerk Lindsay, of Pittsburg, and a host of other officers, witnesses and jurors arrived in the city last evening. The court officers made their headquarters at the Jermyn, where Hon. D. B. Helner, of Kittaning, Armstrong county, United States district attorney, and one of his assistants, John Meyer, of Lock Haven, have been located since Saturday getting things in shape for the annual session of the district court in this city, which opens at 10 o'clock this morning. Judge Acheson, of the Circuit court, will not be here, and Judge Buffington will hear circuit cases after the district cases are disposed of.

Mr. Heiner's first assistant, D. M Miller, of Pittsburg, will not be here on account of the death of his wife, who was buried yesterday in Pittsburg. J. M. Langham, of Indiana, Indiana county, another of the assistants, and Miss Louise Schaffer, of Pittsburg, the stenographerand clerk of the district attorney's office, were among last night's arrivals. Miss Schaffer is an authority on business matters pertaining to the district attorney's office. She held the same position under District Attorneys

Lyon and Hall. In the session of the district court which begins this morning, thirtyeight cases await trial. Eleven of the defendants are charged with counterfelting and eighteen with violating the internal revenue laws. One of the important cases that will come up for trial is that against Charles T. Hull, eashier of the First National bank at Athens. Bradford county, who is charged with embezzlement. Among the distinguished individuals who have been summoned as jurors for this term are Judge J. H. Longnecker, of Bedford; Judge Harold Mc-Clure, of Lewisburg; ex-Marshal Walker, of Erie, and John A. Woodward, of Howard, Centre county, lecturer of the State Grange. There are also four associate justices among the jurors. Ex-Mayor Walter Scott, of Erie, is another prominent juror, who is in the city. He has many friends here and o has Attorney John Pettit, a Pittsburg lawyer, who arrived last night. Ex-Assistant United States District Attorney David Cameron, of Wellsboro, is here to attend the sessions of the court. The duties of First Assistant District Attorney Miller will be assumed by S. B. Griffith, of Mercer, who filled that office under District Attorney Hall, Joseph Irons, Marshal Leonard's chief deputy, arrived last night. He is a young man who made many friends here during previous sessions of the court. Secret Service Officers William McManus and M. A. Griffin and Postoffice Inspectors Owen and Gorman are here to act as witnesses in government cases.

Traver Illegal Liquor Selling Cases Are Under Consideration.

WARRING DENTISTS' ARE HEARD.

Judge Gunster Sitting in Equity Listens to Arguments in the Suit Over the Right to Use the Trade Name of the New York Dental Parlors .- Constables Make Keturas -- Only Two Discover Evidence of the Illegal Sale of Liquor.

Judge Gunster yesterday charged the grand jury, heard the returns of the county constabulary and opened a week's session of equity court.

Nothing out of the ordinary was conained in the charge. The jury retired and at once began deliberating on the cases that have accumulated since the last session. The C. W. Traver cases against twenty Scrantonians and eleven Carbondalians for selling liquor without a license were taken up during the afternoon.

The jury is composed of M. J. Lov-ern, Scranton, foreman; M. J. Burns, Scranton; William Campbell, Scranton; M. H. Carpenter, Scranton; Robern N. Carey, Scott; William Cusick, Scranton; Thomas R. Davis, Scranton; Evan C. Davis, Scranton; John Gaffney, Carbondale: Harry Gould, Moscow: Douglass H, Jay, Scranton; J. F. Kenyon, Greenfield; Hugh J. Keepan, Scranton; John Farn, Lehigh; William Moses, Scranton; William J. Neiger, Taylor; Charles Oakley, La Plume; James Surdival, Carbondale; Cephus Scott, Scranton; F. C. Thompson, Newton; A. B. Tillinghas, La Plume; John Waterfield, Carbondale; J. H. Wheeler, Jermyn.

ONLY TWO CONSTABLES.

Only two constables reported violaions of the liquor law. Seth Smith, of he First ward of Scranton, returned Michael Durkin, John P. Neary, Thos. Hoban and Elizabeth Harrington and Richard Barron, constable of Dickson borough, returned Edward J. Burke. None of the South Side constables had anything to report that would require the consideration of the district attorney. Three cases were set down for hearing in equity court: C. C. Sapp against, the New York Dental parlors; Elizaboth Maynard against Catherine Staples, Isane B. Felts against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railread company. The last named case ws continued until the next term. The Sapp case was argued by John M. Harris and John F. Scragg for the complainant; Charles L. Hawley, for the defendant. It is a suit to determine the right to the use of the trade name, "The New York Dental Parlors." Dr. C. C. Sapp, the plaintiff, alleges that he opened an office at 134 Wyom-ing avenue, March 4, 1897, styling the place the New York Dental Parlors. Through extensive advertising in the newspapers and the superior quality of the work performed there he built up an enviable reputation for the New York Dental Parlors.

HIS NAME WAS TAKEN.

Some months later, he alleges, Dr. Samuel E. Starr and several associates, lished a "New York Dental Parlors" at the corner of Lackawanna and Wyoming avenues. work done at the Dr. Sapp institution found their way to the other place, it is alleged, and as an inferior quality of work, it is alleged, was done at the Dr. Starr establishment, the plaintiffs aforesaid enviable reputation was damaged to a great extent. The defense was that Dr. Sapp was the transgressor. Mr. Hawley con-tended that the New York Dental Parlors, represented by Dr. Starr, was an incorporated institution, chartered under the laws of New York and authorized to do business in the state of Pennsylvania. While it was true that the company was not chartered until May 15, 1897, it was in existence and doing business under the name of the New York Dental Parlors, as early as 1892 in New York state and 1896 in Pennsylvania. It was alleged that Dr. Sapp knew of this and that when he established a "New York Dental Parlors" in this city he was banking on the reputation of the New York con-

CLAIM MADE BY MR. HAWLEY. Mr. Hawley also contended that Dr. Sapp had assigned whatever right he might have had in the trade name by cining with Dr. G E. Hill, Dr. Charles Hill, Mrs. Celia Hill and Mrs. Jennie Hill, in petitioning the governor for a charter for a corporation to be known as "The New York Dental Parlors," the application having been made just prior to the commencement of the present suit. Judge Gunster ruled this offer out as being immaterial. The arguments in the case were concluded at 4 o'clock. This morning the case of Maynard against Staples will be heard. It is a suit for the possession of a piece of land in the North End.

NINE NEW LIGHTS.

Ordinances Providing for Them Have Been Signed by the Mayor.

In view of the reduction made from 5 to 23 cents per night for electric lights, Mayor Bailey yesterday signed ordinances for nine additional lights. The lights are for the corner of Moran court and Broadway in the Eighteenth ward, Irving avenue and River street in the Nineteenth ward, Meadow avenue and Elm street in the Nineteenth ward, Oxford and Ninth streets in the Fifth ward, Price street and Fairview avenue in the Fourteenth ward, beween Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets in the Twenty-first ward, Brick avenue and Warren street in the Second ward, Von Storch avenue and Breaker street in the Second ward, Providence road between Court street and Church's corners in the Second ward. The last three lights, according to the ordinances providing for them, are to be paid for "out of the 1897 appropriations for lights." As the 1897 appropriations for lights is only sufficlent for the number now in use, it is probable that the three lights in question will have to be erected under new The nine lights will cost $755.55 per
