Base Ball Gossip

In a letter to the Base Ball Editor of

ens. Ga., Hughie Jennings says: more team who did not accompany the club South, and concerning whose action so much has been written, think, and rightly so, that they are entitled to receive extra compensation for the extra games that have been added to this season's schedule. The men who are holding out are hard working and during past seasons have often sacrificed their own interests for those of their team, and knowing what they have done in the past, and that which they are capable of doing the coming season, and the strain that will come on account of the extra games, it would seem that there is room and reason for a protest.

"It is possible that Clarke and Bowerman may join the team shortly, as their differences are in a fair way to soon be settled; but it seems that the present outlook regarding Kelley and Keeler's joining the team in the South is not very bright, for I know their disposition. They are men who will not submit to the club's terms without a struggle. I have not signed yet, and am just as far from it as I was before leaving home. I came South with the team as far as Gainsville, Ga., at which place I changed cars, coming on to Athens, where I have since been busy coaching the candidates for the University of Georgia team. The talk in the papers is not worrying me, for I am being paid here. I could not draw any pay if I went South with the team to their training quarters. There is no clause in the contracts that can compet a ball player to report to his club before April 15th, but he must, however, report in good condition, and if our differences are not settled it may be we will not report until our contracts begin, but in good playing condition."

It is published that Ned Hanlon now blames Joe Kelley as having been the source of his troubles among the players. Hanlon thinks he is the chairman of the "hold-out squad" and intimates that he will get square with the embryo Baltimore politician. Kelley, Robinson. Clarke and Keeler are practicing at Baltimore and assert that they will not go South. The great scarcity of catchers has caused Elanlon to go after "Globe-Trotter" Earle, while he is trying to land Stanley, the California backstop. It may be a threat without being labelled "sincerity," yet Hanion says he is through worrying over the malcontents. He has decided to ignore them and build up his team as best he may, resolving that all expense incurred by taking on extra men will be deducted from the offers made the several players of the combine, And then, if they show a disposition to rejoin the Birds, every one of them must submit to a cut on last season's salary, and there will be no appeal from the terms he names. The outcome of this bit of sparring between Hanlon and his men will be watched everywhere with unusual interest.

Four players of the Indianapolis team of the Western league have raised a kick on the salary question and refused to sign their contracts. They are Phillips, Kahoe, Motz and Stewart. They say they will not play ball under the cut-salary restrictions now enforced by the Western league. The management of the Hoosiers agreed to the cut in salaries, and now can't give in to the players even if it wished to.

The Wilkes-Barre Leader says of the

"W. R. Wright, better known to the professional as Rasty Wright, has played professional ball for the past ten years and stands today one of the greatest batsmen in the profession. He is not the Wright that played here with During his career he has played in the following clubs: Syracuse, Hamilton, Ont., St. Paul, Grand Rapids, Omaha, Oakland, Cal., Newark, N. J., and last season according to the number of games played stood first in the Atlantic league in batting.

"Joseph Knight is too well known here to need any introduction. He has played ball fifteen years and, as all the cranks in Wilkes-Barre know, he is as good a batsman as any man in the Eastern league. During his time he has played in the following clubs: St. Paul, Philadelphia, Hamilton, Ont., Rochester, Syracuse, Cincinnati, Wilkes-Barre and for the last four years Providence, "I had been troubled for several year, with spells of liver complaint," writes H. N. Dransfield, Esq., of Centennial, Monroe Co., W. Vs., "and about two years ago my health gave way. I tried a doctor and got worse all the time. I had a weakness in my left side and limbs, palpitation of the heart, tramping pains in the siomach after eating; nerves weak and no energy. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and began to mend from the start. I soon felt like a gew person. I am now enjoying good health."

"John Halligan started professional the Wilkes-Barre Record dated Ath- tall playing in '90, when he played with the strong Buffalo Brotherhood club. "The several members of the Baltl- which included that year some of the strongest players in the country. In '91 he played with Manager Shannon in Omaha, right field and change catcher, until July, when the chib disbanded. Omaha was then in the lead by six games. His wonderful batting was of great assistance in keeping the club in the lead. Cincinnati, of the Nation al league, hearing of his wonderful bat ting ability, decided to secure his serrice, and he finished the season with Cincinnati. In 1892 he joined Baltimore, through a trade with Cincinnati, and played with Baltimore until August, when he had some trouble with Strick er, the second baseman at Boston, and was suspended. He is a first class batsman and no doubt will help Wilkes-Parre to win a few games at Athletic park this season. If treated right he is one of the finest boys to handle in the profession. He will be a favorite

> "John Mulhall, catcher, is a new man to the league. He has been catching for independent clubs around his native city, New York, for the past fifeen years, and comes strongly recommended by our old catcher, Jack Warner, who was raised with him. Norton pitcher of last season's Toronto club whom he caught for three years, also speaks highly of Mulhall. He weighs 80, and it may be Manager Shannon's good luck in this case to have caught another Warner. The process is exactly the same as that by which we got the only Jack Warner, who is now holding down the wonderful pitching of Rusie. Meekin and Seymour, of the New York club.

"William Hayes, catcher, is also a new man. This will be his first proessional engagement. He is catching for State College, Atherton's old team, and the latter induced him to come to Wilkes-Barre. Atherton speaks in the strongest terms of Hayes, both as to fielding and throwing, and even goes so far as to say Hayes can bat better than himself. Manager Shannon is afraid that this is too good to be true. He will be satisfied if Hayes is anyway near as good as Atherton with the stick.

"Suter Sullivan, short stop, was born in Baltimore. He has played professionally only three years-two years with New Castle, Pa., where his team won the championship, and from where he was purchased by Buffalo. He was secured by Manager Shannon this winter in exchange for Catcher Diggins, He was much sought after, as only last week Manager Irwin, of Toronto, offered Buck Freeman, who is as good as the best of them, in exchange for Sullivan. But as the club has four out-fielders under contract and as it is hard to secure a good short stop Shannon decided not to accept a deal for the present.

"Dan Minnehan, third base, has play ed ball for the past ten years, and has always been noted for his strong hitting. He was in this league for four years and was looked upon as one of the league's best batsman. He is a nition, you are strong. How is this? steady reliable man, no bother to the Tear off those stars which you dismanagement and always in condition He has played in Min neapolis, Montgomery, Alabama, Albany, Syracuse, and last season with Reading, where he hit for a percentage of .324 He is looked upon as one of the team's reliable men.

"Richard Seeds, pitcher, hails from Tacony, Pa., and last season was his first in the professional line. He pitched in the Jersey league last summer, and made a splendid record. Such strong batsmen as Atherton and Bill nen who will comprise that city's team | Massey of the Scranton club, predict a wonderful future for him, and they should know a good pitcher when they see onc. Seeds is six feet tall, only 20 years of age, and is a left handed pitcher."

GOMEZ AND SCOVEL. Au Incident Which Reveals Characteristic Traits of Both.

From Grover Flint's Marching with Go-

Mr. Scovel, who made the invasion with Gomez and saw more of him than any other correspondent, played a part Gomez's character. It was in the days doubt, and Gomez, probably under great pressure, gave loose rein to his always fiery temper. Scovel had won the confidence of both the general and his staff. He heard the whisperings about the campfires Scovel wrote a letter to his paper. It recounted in glowing colors the successes of the march and the hopes of the insurrection. He closed somewhat as follows:

"The success of Cuban arms depends upon the unity and co-operation of the rebel forces. The temper of the commander-in-chief has lately become so You feel the will, the fearlessness and uncontrollable as to endanger good feeling among the officers and act as a disorganizing element; but surely the old commander, who has given the best years of his life to the Cuban cause will restrain himself in time."

Scovel handed this letter to the interpreter to translate aloud to the commander-in-chief, and sat down nearby nerving himself for a hurricane. At the closing passage the old general, whom the report of one interview that Gomez | no Cuban had ever dared criticise to his face, became aspen with rage. He well-armed Cubans. Mr. Flint was listened with every muscle taut, while the interpreter hesitated, mouthed and stammered over the closing lines.

There was a moment of silence. Then Gomez arose. He went over to where Scovel still sat, put one arm over his shoulder and patted him, while moisto the white mustache. Gomez ordered an assembly, and as publicly as he had reprimanded others he apologized to his officers in the presence of all the
